[2] Includes concerns discontinuing following assignment, voluntary or involuntary petition in bankruptcy, attachment, execution, foreclosure, etc.; voluntary withdrawals from business with known loss to creditors; also enterprises involved in court action, such as receivership, and, since June 1934, reorganization or arrangement which may or may not lead to discontinuance; and businesses making voluntary compromise with creditors out of court.

[3] Liabilities exclude long-term publicly held obligations; offsetting assets are not taken into account.

[4] Monthly data represent annual rate at which business concerns would fail if number of concerns and failures listed in that month prevailed for entire year. Adjustments have been made for seasonal fluctuations.

Section 18

Communications

This section presents statistics on usage, finances, and operations of the various communications media: Postal service, telephone, telegraph, radio, television, newspapers, and books. Data on the postal service are included in the Annual Report of the Postmaster General. Statistics on revenues, volume of mail, and distribution of expenditures by classes of mail and services are presented in the Post Office Department's annual Cost Ascertainment Report. Principal sources of wire and radio data are the Federal Communications Commission's Annual Report, its annual Statistics of Communications Common Carriers, and its annual releases of financial data reported by radio and television stations and networks. Statistics on number and circulation of newspapers and periodicals and on sales of books and pamphlets are issued by the Bureau of the Census in reports of the Census of Manufactures. Annual data on number and circulation of daily and Sunday newspapers appear in Editor and Publisher's International Yearbook Number. Monthly data on new books and new editions of books are presented by R. R. Bowker Company in Publishers' Weekly.

Postal Service.—"Cost ascertainment" is the term used by the Post Office Department to describe its system for developing data on revenues, expenses, volume, and average hauls fairly attributable to each class of mail handled by the Postal Service (first, second, third, fourth, foreign, penalty, franked, free for the blind, and air mail) and similar data for each of its special services (special delivery, money order, insurance, collect-on-delivery, registry, certified, and postal savings).

Telephone and telegraph systems.—Statistical coverage of wire and radio communications has been concentrated in the Federal Communications Commission since its establishment in 1934. According to the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, the Commission has full jurisdiction only over carriers engaged in interstate or foreign communications service by means of their own facilities or those of another carrier under direct or indirect common control. The Commission requires all except the smallest of these carriers to file annual and monthly reports and requires the companies controlling any but the smallest to file annual reports. Full jurisdiction applies to practically all wire-telegraph, ocean-cable, and radiotelegraph carriers but not to a large number of telephone carriers which are engaged in interstate or foreign service only by connection with the facilities of another unaffiliated carrier. However, the gross operating revenues of the telephone carriers reporting annually to the Commission are estimated to cover over 90 percent of the revenues of all telephone carriers in the United States.

Broadcasting.—The number of broadcast stations refers to the number licensed or holding construction permits. Total broadcast revenues are defined as total time sales of all networks and stations, less commissions to agencies and plus incidental revenues, such as sale of talent, program material, etc. Reports filed with the Federal Communications Commission by broadcast stations and networks cover substantially all units operating in the United States and its outlying areas.

Alaska and Hawaii.—Statements specifying inclusion or exclusion of figures for Alaska and Hawaii appear in the headnotes to each table unless the inclusion or exclusion is self-evident.

Historical statistics.—Tabular headnotes provide cross-references, where applicable, to Historical Statistics of the United States, Colonial Times to 1957. See preface.

[1] After allowance for reimbursements, embossed envelope purchases, indemnity claims, and miscellaneous revenue and expenditure offsets. Revenues, expenditures, and deficits through 1950 on cash-disbursement basis, i.e., they include payments and receipts in a year applicable to prior years; beginning 1955, expenditures are shown in year in which obligation was incurred, and revenues in year which gave rise to the earnings, whether collected or accrued. During fiscal 1954, the Department began receiving reimbursement for penalty and franked mail, and discontinued payment of subsidies to airlines. Revenues include reimbursements from the Treasury General Fund for statutory public services as follows: 1960, $37.4 million; 1961, $49.0 million; 1962, $62.7 million. These and other changes affect comparability of figures from year to year.

[2] Includes capital expenditures for plant and equipment and cost of materials and supplies, but no provision for depreciation. Also includes costs of certain services rendered to other agencies without reimbursement but excludes costs of certain services rendered to the Post Office Department by other agencies. Beginning 1955, amounts shown represent obligations incurred. Beginning 1963, amount represents accrued expense including depreciation on fixed assets, reimbursable work for others, and expenses paid by certain other agencies without reimbursement by the Dept.

[3] Estimates. [4] Includes postal notes issued under act of Congress.

[5] Expenditures and deficit have been increased by $26 million for retroactive increases in rail rates for eastern roads granted by the Interstate Commerce Commission in 1958.

No. 702. Telephone Systems—Summary, Class A Carriers: 1930 to 1962

[Money figures in millions. Includes Hawaii and Puerto Rico; no class A carriers in Alaska. Excludes intercompany duplications. Covers class A telephone carriers filing annual reports with FCC. Class A carriers are those whose annual operating revenues exceeded $100,000 for years prior to 1952, and $250,000 thereafter; comparability of data relatively unaffected by change in coverage. Gross operating revenues of class A carriers (excluding intercompany duplications of Bell System) reporting in 1962 represented approximately 91 percent of revenues of all telephone carriers as estimated by U.S. Independent Telephone Association]

[1] Households with service are the sum of residence main, apartment house PBX and residence service main telephones, and other residence PBX systems. There tends to be a slight overstatement of the proportion of households with telephone service.

[2] Represents the number of completed local calls and completed and uncompleted toll calls originating from company and service telephones of the Bell companies.

No. 714. Percent of Households With Television Sets, by Area and Region: 1955, 1960, and 1962

[Beginning 1960, includes Alaska and Hawaii. For composition of regions, see figure I, p. XII; for explanation of urban and rural, see p. 2; and for definition of standard metropolitan statistical areas, see headnote, table 10 (data refer to 168 SMSA's as constituted in 1950). An urbanized area contains at least one city with 50,000 inhabitants or more in 1940 or subsequently, plus the surrounding closely settled incorporated places and unincorporated areas that comprise its urban fringe. See Historical Satistics, Colonial Times to 1957, series R 98, for number of families with TV sets]

[1] Not comparable with 1954 figures because no separate data were collected in 1958 for newspapers published triweekly, semiweekly, "other." Comparable totals for 1954 would be: Newspapers, 8,589, and circulation 133,096 thousand.

[2] Includes 1,400 publications not specified as to circulation and frequency of issue.

[3] Totals of average circulation per issue for individual publications from publishers reporting receipts on a combined frequency of issue basis as well as from publishers reporting receipts separately for each frequency of issue.

[4] Excludes any estimated circulation for the relatively small number of publications for which circulation was not reported, hence not strictly comparable with 1954.

[5] Daily only, neither morning nor evening.

[6] Semiweekly and triweekly figures combined to avoid disclosure of individual company figures.

[7] For 1954, includes $26 million for newspapers and $19 million for periodicals, not distributed by publishers between subscription and sales and advertising; for 1958, $35 million for newspapers and $40 million for periodicals.

[1] 1954 and 1958 may not be strictly comparable since 1954 includes 4,621,000 hardbound books and $2,805,000 receipts.

[2] For 1947 and 1954 "educational and other standardized tests" included with "pamphlets." For 1958, copies sold and receipts excluded from the "books" totals.

[3] Since these books are frequently sold direct to consumers, some publishers reported receipts on a retail basis; hence, aggregate receipts for this type of book are a combination of wholesale and retail values but do represent total receipts at publishing plant level. Also, since books in this category are typically sold on an installment plan basis, the values reported here (actual receipts during the year) may not agree with publishers' sales for same reporting period. 1958 receipts not strictly comparable with prior years since deductions were made in 1958 for known payments for salesmen's compensation and operating expenses for sales offices and sales branches maintained to assist in door-to-door distribution. Copies sold represent number of volumes rather than sets. Also, for 1958, some dictionaries and other single volume books sold direct to the consumer were included in "All other books, n.e.c."

[4] Excludes prayer books.

[5] "Other religious books, paperbound" included in "All other books, n.e.c."

[6] For 1947, "Book club books" included in "All other books, n.e.c."; for 1954, included in "Adult trade books, hardbound."

[7] "Wholesaled paperbound books" included in "Adult trade books, paperbound."

No. 719. New Books and New Editions Published, by Subject: 1950 to 1963

[Includes books published in U.S. and its outlying areas. Comprises new books (those published for the first time) and new editions (those published with substantial changes in text or format). Excludes State and Federal publications; subscription books, except encyclopedias; dissertations; second, third, or fourth printings or impressions; periodicals and quarterlies; and pamphlets of under 49 pages. Beginning 1962, data not strictly comparable with earlier years because of internal shifts in classifications. See also Historical Statistics, Colonial Times to 1957, series R 165–167]

Section 19

Power

This section presents statistics on the supply, production, and distribution of power and energy. The principal sources of these data are the Federal Power Commission and the American Gas Association.

The Federal Power Commission publishes various statistical reports containing information on the electric power and natural gas industries. At periodic intervals it issues publications containing information on the production of electricity, capacity of generating plants (industrial plants as well as utilities), fuels used in production, financial data, sales of electric energy, construction costs and production expenses of steam electric and hydroelectric plants, financial and operating statistics on both the electric and interstate gas pipeline utilities, hydroelectric power resources of the United States, sales by producers of natural gas to interstate gas pipeline companies, and depreciation practices of electric and interstate gas pipeline utilities.

The Commission also issues periodic reports on electric utility rates, including the national electric rate book, typical electric bills, and annual bills for all-electric homes. Maps showing principal natural gas pipelines and principal electric facilities in the United States are published from time to time. Other publications relate to the statutes and regulations administered by the Commission.

The American Gas Association, in its monthly and quarterly bulletins and its yearbook, Gas Facts, presents data on natural gas utilization and on production of gas from coal, oil, and similar products. Other important sources include the Bureau of Mines' Minerals Yearbook, containing data on coal, oil, and natural gas production and utilization; and the Edison Electric Institute's monthly and annual Statistical Bulletin, containing data on the distribution of electric energy by public utilities.

Alaska and Hawaii.—Statements specifying inclusion or exclusion of figures for Alaska and Hawaii appear in the headnotes to each table unless the inclusion or exclusion is self-evident.

Historical statistics.—Tabular headnotes provide cross-references, where applicable, to Historical Statistics of the United States, Colonial Times to 1957. See preface.

No. 723. Total Horsepower of All Prime Movers: 1940 to 1963

[In thousands. As of January, except as noted. Beginning 1960, includes Alaska and Hawaii, except as noted Prime movers are mechanical engines and turbines, and work animals, which originally convert fuels or force (as wind or falling water) into work and power. Electric motors, which are secondary movers and obtain their power from prime movers, are excluded to avoid duplication. See also Historical Statistics, Colonial Times to 1957, series S I–14]

No. 724. Mineral Fuels and Water Power—Production and Consumption, by Source: 1930 to 1963

[In trillions of British thermal units. Beginning 1959, includes Alaska, and 1960, Hawaii. Data for bituminous coal include Alaska for all years. Unit heat values employed are: Anthracite, 12,700 B.t.u. per pound; bituminous coal and lignite, 13,100 B.t.u. per pound; petroleum, 5,800,000 B.t.u. per barrel; natural gas, total production multiplied by 1,075 B.t.u. minus repressuring vent and waste gas multiplied by 1,035. Water power includes installations owned by manufacturing plants and mines, as well as Government and privately owned public utilities. Fuel equivalent of water power calculated from kilowatt-hours of power produced wherever available, as is true of all public utility plants since 1919. Otherwise, fuel equivalent calculated from reported horsepower of installed water wheels, assuming capacity factor of 20 percent for factories and mines. See also Historical Statistics, Colonial Times to 1957, series M 71-87]

n.a. Not available.

[1] Comprises production and capacity of industrial electric powerplants of 100 kilowatts and over, including amounts for stationary electric power plants of railroads and railways.

[2] Distributed to other publicly owned classes.

[3] Includes small percentage from wood and waste and also, in past few years, from nuclear fuel.

[4] Each prime mover type in combination plants counted separately. [5] Capacity in service at end of year.

[1] Net; i. e., excludes loans rescinded. For years prior to 1948, includes amounts not yet under loan contract.

[2] Organizations, mainly cooperatives, to which loans for extending central station electric service in rural areas are made.

[3] Includes data at time of repayment of loan for borrowers whose loans have been repaid in full. As of Dec. 31, 1963, there were 59 such borrowers, with 17,335 miles energized and 103,212 consumers served.

[4] Rural electric distribution, generation, and transmission systems operated by REA borrowers.

[5] Pole miles of electric distribution and transmission line in service.

[6] Through 1954, this item was headed "Consumers connected." The change was a result of a revised definition of a consumer as reported by REA borrowers, effective Jan. 1, 1955. It resulted in a downward adjustment in the national total of about 60,000 for 1955, chiefly through elimination of idle services.

[7] Excludes energy sales and revenues of power sold by one REA borrower to another.

[8] Includes rural-nonfarm and farm consumers.

Section 20

Science

This section presents statistics relating to various aspects of scientific and technical activity. Major topics are research and development, training and employment of scientists and engineers, atomic energy, space vehicles, and patents and trademarks. Principal sources of these data are the National Science Foundation, the Atomic Energy Commission, and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

The National Science Foundation gathers data chiefly through recurring statistical surveys and the National Register of Scientific and Technical Personnel (see below). Current Foundation publications containing data on funds for research and development and on scientific and engineering personnel include the bulletin series, Reviews of Data on Research & Development and Scientific Manpower Bulletins; the regular reports, Federal Funds for Research, Development, and Other Scientific Activities (formerly Federal Funds for Science), Scientists and Engineers in the Federal Government, Research and Development in Industry, Scientific and Technical Personnel in Industry, and American Science Manpower; occasional reports relating to colleges, universities, and other nonprofit institutions; special reports such as Scientific Manpower From Abroad; and policy reports relating to national allocation of manpower and funds to science and technology. Statistical surveys in these areas pose particularly difficult problems of concept and definition and the data should, therefore, be regarded as broad estimates rather than precise quantitative statements. Detailed discussions of the scope and limitations of the data appear in the source publications.

Neither the National Aeronautics and Space Administration nor the Atomic Energy Commission publish any statistical reports as such. NASA's Semiannual Report contains current data on finances and its biweekly Satellite Situation Report presents information on artificial satellites, including both objects in orbit and decayed objects; and its one-page Space Activities Summary, issued for each space vehicle it launches, gives data on the launching vehicle, its payload, and its performance. The Atomic Energy Commission's annual and semiannual reports contain data on atomic energy, equipment, finances, and licenses.

Other sources of statistics on scientific and technical activities include The Budget of the United States Government, which contains summary financial data on all Federal research and development programs; the report series Resources for Medical Research, issued for the first time in August 1962 by the Public Health Service of the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, and designed to present timely information on funds, manpower, facilities, and institutions devoted to medical and health-related research; and the Annual Report of the Commissioner of Patents, issued by the Department of Commerce's Patent Office and presenting data on patent applications and issuances and on trademark registrations and renewals.

Research and development.—The National Science Foundation defines research as a "systematic and intensive study directed toward a fuller knowledge of the subject studied" and development as "the systematic use of scientific knowledge directed toward the production of useful materials, devices, systems, methods, or processes." The data on funds are presented within the framework of a national economic structure composed of four sectors: (1) The government sector, made up primarily of Federal executive agencies; (2) the industry sector, consisting of manufacturing and nonmanufacturing firms and the Federal contract research centers they administer; (3) the colleges and universities sector, composed of colleges, universities, and their affiliated institutions, agricultural experiment stations and associated schools of agriculture, and Federal contract research centers administered by educational institutions; and (4) the other nonprofit institutions sector, consisting of such organizations as private philanthropic foundations, nonprofit research institutes, voluntary health agencies, and Federal contract research centers administered by nonprofit organizations. The R&D funds reported consist of current operating costs, including those for planning and administration, except as otherwise noted. They exclude funds for routine testing, mapping and surveying, collection of general-purpose data, dissemination of scientific information, and training of scientific manpower.

Scientists and engineers.—Scientists and engineers are defined as persons engaged in scientific and engineering work at a level requiring a knowledge of sciences equivalent at least to that acquired through completion of a 4-year college course. They are generally classified according to the fields of their employment and not according to the discipline in which they received their major training. Persons in Federal Government and in industry employment are counted on an individual basis; those in colleges and universities are counted in terms of full-time equivalent, which allows proportionate weight, statistically, for persons employed part-time. The National Register of Scientific and Technical Personnel is a comprehensive program, conducted by the National Science Foundation, for the voluntary registration of scientists. It does not include all scientists in the United States. Coverage is now being extended to engineers. The Register provides valuable statistical information on the demographic and other characteristics of scientists not available elsewhere.

Alaska and Hawaii.—Statements specifying inclusion or exclusion of figures for Alaska and Hawaii appear in the headnotes to each table unless the inclusion or exclusion is self-evident.

Historical statistics.—Tabular headnotes provide cross-references, where applicable, to Historical Statistics of the United States, Colonial Times to 1957. See preface.

No. 744. Federal Government Obligations and Expenditures for Research, Development, and R & D Plant, by Agency: 1956 to 1964

[In millions of dollars. For years ending June 30. Includes Alaska and Hawaii. Includes both intramural and extramural performance. Includes social science research. Obligations differ from expenditures in any given year because not all funds are expended during the year obligated. Moreover, the expenditure data in this table differ from the Federal expenditure data in tables 741 and 742 because of the difference between Federal fiscal year reports and predominantly calendar year reporting by other sectors. See also Historical Statistics, Colonial Times to 1957, series W 79–94 and W 95–106]

n.a. Not available.
[1] Beginning 1963, each reactor licensee was required to have available a "senior" reactor operator.
[2] Beginning 1962, State governments began to take over a part of materials licensing under agreements with the AEC. As of Nov. 30, 1963, 6 States had issued a total of 2,683 materials licenses not shown in the above figures.
[3] Beginning 1959, includes only parent organizations, which are issued single basic licenses. Subordinate organizations at various locations included for prior years.

[2] The Oak Ridge National Laboratory is the AEC's principal distributor of radioisotopes. Sales are made also by other AEC laboratories, and by commercial suppliers. Sales figures include AEC sales made to commercial suppliers but not by them, and also sales by ORNL to other AEC organizations. Shipments to foreign countries are comprised of shipments made by AEC laboratories and by commercial suppliers.

Section 21

Transportation—Land

This section presents stastitics relating to the mileage, control, and financing of public roads and to the transportation of persons and goods by land. The modes of transport included are passenger car, truck, railroad, bus and streetcar, and pipeline.

The principal compiler of data on public roads and motor-vehicle registrations is the Bureau of Public Roads of the Department of Commerce which, since 1945, has issued the annual Highway Statistics. Its Highway Statistics, Summary to 1955, presents public roads data carried back for 20 to 50 years. The principal sources of land transport data, other than for public roads and motor-vehicle registrations, are the Interstate Commerce Commission's Annual Report and its annual Transport Statistics in the United States, Part 1, which contains data on railroads. Other important publications of the Interstate Commerce Commission in the field of land transport include the quarterly and annual Statistics of Class I Motor Carriers (issued as Part 7 of Transport Statistics); the annual Statistics of Oil Pipe-Line Companies (issued as Part 6 of Transport Statistics); the annual Accident Bulletin, and, for historical data on railroads, Statistics of Railways in the United States, published annually from 1887 through 1953.

Additional governmental sources are the Agriculture Department's Bulletin 1279, Rural Highway Mileage, Income, and Expenditures, 1921–22, which contains data for the 1904, 1909, 1914, and 1921 road mileage surveys; and the Census of Manufactures and the Annual Survey of Manufactures of the Bureau of the Census, which contain statistics on the motor-vehicle and equipment industry. Data from these Bureau of the Census reports are also included in section 29, Manufactures, of this volume. Nongovernmental data can be found in Cars of Revenue Freight Loaded, published weekly and annually by the Association of American Railroads; and in the Transit Fact Book, containing street railway and motor bus statistics, published annually by the American Transit Association. Useful annual handbooks in the field of motor-vehicle transport are Automobile Facts and Figures and Motor Truck Facts, both issued by the Automobile Manufacturers Association of Detroit, Mich.; and Accident Facts, issued by the National Safety Council of Chicago, Ill.

Rural and urban roads.—The terms "rural," "urban," and "municipal" are used in different ways in different tables in this section. Because of special problems and purposes, it is not possible to apply identical definitions and groupings to all types of data. Definitions are given in table headnotes where pertinent.

Highway systems.—The Federal-Aid Highway Act of 1916 provides for the sharing of highway construction costs between the States and the Federal Government with the initiative retained by each State for choosing projects and carrying them out. The planning and development of Federal-aid systems began in 1921. Federal funds share with State funds in costs of engineering, construction, and right-of-way acquisition on the designated systems while other charges, such as maintenance and policing, are borne entirely by the States and local agencies.

The Federal-aid primary system connects all of the principal cities, county seats, ports, manufacturing areas, and other traffic generating areas. In general, these are the same as the main State trunkline roads. The Federal-aid secondary system consists of important feeder roads linking the farms, factories, distribution outlets, and smaller communities with the primary system.

Certain sections of the primary system are more important than others from the viewpoint of national interest. In 1956, Congress extended the National System of Interstate and Defense Highways from 40,000 to 41,000 miles and provided a long-range program to complete the system. Federal funds of $37 billion, providing 90 percent of the total estimated cost, are authorized for the fiscal years 1957 to 1971.

Motor carriers.—Prior to 1950, class I for-hire motor carriers were classified by the Interstate Commerce Commission as those with $100,000 or more of gross annual operating revenue. Beginning 1950, the class I minimum became $200,000. Beginning 1957, the class I minimum for motor carriers of property was increased to $1,000,000; however, the minimum for class I motor carriers of passengers remained at $200,000.

Railroads.—The total railroad mileage of the United States comprises companies reporting to the Interstate Commerce Commission, grouped as follows: (1) Regular interstate carriers (and their nonoperating subsidiaries); (2) switching and terminal railroads; and (3) private railroads (identified by the Commission as "circular" because they report on brief circulars, or as "unofficial" when their reports are received too late for tabulation). Except for certain mileage data, circular and unofficial companies are not included in the statistics. Switching and terminal roads, formerly included with operating railroads, are now separated, and data for them do not appear in most of the tables.

Nonoperating subsidiaries comprise proprietary companies, which are covered by the reports of operating carriers, and lessor companies, which have no traffic and whose reports appear only in statistics of capitalization, dividends, and investment.

Operating railroads are classified on the basis of operating revenues. Prior to 1956, the classification was as follows: Class I, those having more than $1,000,000 gross annual operating revenue; class II, from $100,000 to $1,000,000; and class III, less than $100,000. Since 1956, the following classification has been in effect: Class I, $3,000,000 or more; and class II, under $3,000,000. Class III has been eliminated.

Alaska and Hawaii.—Statements specifying inclusion or exclusion of figures for Alaska and Hawaii appear in the headnotes to each table unless the inclusion or exclusion is self-evident.

Historical statistics.—Tabular headnotes provide cross-references, where applicable, to Historical Statistics of the United States, Colonial Times to 1957. See preface.

[1] For 1940, low type was distinguished from high type by quality of surfacing material used; for 1950, also by rigidity of base; and beginning 1959, also by combined thickness of surface and base.

[2] Consists of streets that provide necessary municipal connecting links into or through a municipality, regardless of administrative control.

[3] Mileage of State park, forest, institutional, toll, and other roads under State control.

[4] Includes funds transferred to or from local units and proceeds of highway-user imposts allotted by the State treasurer for county and other local roads and streets, and nonhighway purposes. See also tables 772 and 773.

[5] Includes accumulated reserves.

n.a. Not available.
[1] 12 months ending June 30.
[2] Since Jan. 1, 1961, 2 electric railways have been reclassified as class II line-haul railways, 1 as a switching and terminal company, and 1 as a motor carrier; 1 was sold to another railway; and 3 have been abandoned. The result is an overstatement of the electric railway decrease.
[3] After deducting payments to others for express privileges.
[4] Includes line-haul and switching and terminal companies. Includes Alaskan and Hawaiian companies beginning 1960.
[5] Includes only revenues from domestic traffic of carriers subject to the jurisdiction of the Interstate Commerce Commission.
[6] Source: Federal Aviation Agency; FAA Statistical Handbook of Aviation. Includes Hawaii and, beginning 1955, Alaska.
[7] Excludes motor-carrier revenues of electric railways, included under electric railways.

[1] Line-haul operating.
[2] Excludes all duplications; also excludes some mileage in Canada.
[3] Includes some duplication under trackage rights and some mileage in Canada.
[4] Excludes circular and unofficial.
[5] 1930–1955 average for steam locomotives only; beginning 1959, all locomotives.
[6] Covers class I railroads, excluding switch and terminal companies. [7] Excludes caboose cars. [8] Includes lessors.
[9] Increase in investment over a period of years cannot be obtained accurately by subtraction of 1 year's investment from that of another owing to reorganization, sale or abandonment, reclassification, etc. Includes lessor companies and proprietary companies except those which are part of systems filing consolidated annual reports.
[10] For 1950 and later years, includes amortization of defense projects and proprietary companies.
[11] Comprises actually outstanding, nominally issued, and nominally outstanding securities, and equipment obligations. [12] Class I railroads.

Section 22

Transportation—Air and Water

This section presents statistics on civil air transportation, both passenger and cargo, and on water transportation, including inland waterways, oceanborne commerce, the merchant marine, cargo and vessel tonnages, and shipbuilding. The principal sources of these data are the annual FAA Statistical Handbook of Aviation, issued by the Federal Aviation Agency; the annual Waterborne Commerce of the United States and the Annual Report of the Chief of Engineers, Part 2, issued by the Corps of Engineers of the Department of the Army; the monthly and annual U.S. Waterborne Foreign Trade, issued by the Bureau of the Census; and the annual Merchant Marine Statistics, issued by the Bureau of Customs.

Data on air transportation are also presented in Air Transport Facts and Figures, published annually by the Air Transport Association of America. Additional sources of data on water transportation include A Statistical Analysis of the World's Merchant Fleets, issued periodically by the Maritime Administration of the Department of Commerce; The Bulletin, issued monthly by the American Bureau of Shipping; and the Annual Summary of Merchant Ships Launched in the World and the Register Book published by Lloyd's Register of Shipping, London, England. A basic source for historical data is Foreign Commerce and Navigation of the United States, issued annually through 1946 by the Bureau of the Census.

Data relating to merchandise exports and imports, their classification, dollar values, and countries of origin and destination are in section 31, Foreign Commerce and Aid.

Civil aviation.—Federal promotion and regulation of civil aviation are carried out by two bodies—the Federal Aviation Agency and the Civil Aeronautics Board. The Board issues certificates permitting persons to engage in air transportation as a business, fixes air mail rates which they may charge, and may establish maximum and minimum rates for transportation of passengers and goods. It also has the duty of investigating accidents in air transportation.

The principal activities of the Federal Aviation Agency are: Controlling the use of navigable airspace; prescribing regulations dealing with the competency of airmen, airworthiness of aircraft, and air traffic control; operation of air route traffic control centers, airport traffic control towers, and flight service stations; the design, construction, maintenance, and inspection of navigation, traffic control, and communications equipment for the airways; and promotion of air safety.

These agencies publish annual operational data on the use of airway facilities; data related to the location of airmen, aircraft, and airports; the activity volume in the field of non-aircarrier (general aviation) flying; and aircraft production and registration data by type of equipment.

Vessel shipments, entrances, and clearances.—Shipments by dry cargo vessels comprise shipments on all types of watercraft except tanker vessels; shipments by tanker vessels comprise all types of cargo, liquid and dry, carried by tanker vessels.

A vessel is reported as entered at the first port which it enters in the United States, regardless of whether any cargo is unladen at that port. A vessel is reported as cleared from the last port where outward cargo is completed or where the vessel cleared in ballast. Army and Navy vessels entering or clearing without commercial cargo and vessels touching at a United States port in distress, or for other temporary causes without discharging cargo, are not included in the figures.

Units of measurement.—Cargo tonnage and shipping weight both represent the gross weight of the cargo including the weight of containers, wrappings, crates, etc. Other tonnage figures generally refer to stowing capacity of vessels, 100 cubic feet being called 1 ton. Gross tonnage comprises the space within the frames and the ceiling of the hull, together with those closed-in spaces above deck available for cargo, stores, passengers, or crew, with certain minor exceptions. Net or registered tonnage is the gross tonnage less the spaces occupied by the propelling machinery, fuel, crew quarters, master's cabin, and navigation spaces. It represents substantially space available for cargo and passengers. The net tonnage capacity of a ship may bear little relation to weight of cargo. Dead-weight tonnage is the weight in long tons required to depress a vessel from light water line (that is, with only the machinery and equipment on board) to load line. It is therefore the weight of the cargo, fuel, etc., which a vessel is designed to carry with safety.

Alaska and Hawaii.—Statements specifying inclusion or exclusion of figures for Alaska and Hawaii appear in the headnotes to each table unless the inclusion or exclusion is self-evident.

Historical statistics.—Tabular headnotes provide cross-references, where applicable, to Historical Statistics of the United States, Colonial Times to 1957. See preface.

[1] Existing airports and airfields recorded with FAA. "Limited" includes seaplane bases and heliports.

[2] Includes military airports with joint civil and military use. Airport type definitions: General use—airports serving as regular, alternate, or provisional stops for scheduled and large irregular carriers; non-air-carrier airports offering a minimum of services such as fuel and regular attendant during normal working hours; and airports operating seasonally which qualify under above definition. Limited use—airports available to public but not equipped to offer minimum services. Restricted use—use by general public prohibited except in case of forced landing or by previous arrangement. Beginning 1962, data on airports not available as to use.

[3] United States and outlying areas. [4] Includes gliders.

[5] Prior to 1960, excludes Alaska and Hawaii. [6] Preliminary.

[7] Corporation and individual business transportation, not for hire.

[8] Passenger and cargo transportation for hire, aerial application (crop dusting, spraying, seeding, etc.), patrol, survey, and other miscellaneous work use.

No. 827. United States Receipts and Payments for International Transportation: 1947 to 1963

[In millions of dollars. Includes Alaska and Hawaii. Data are international transportation transactions recorded for balance of payments purposes (see table 1206). Receipts include freight on exports carried by U.S. operated carriers and foreign carrier expenditures in U.S. ports. Payments include freight on imports carried by foreign carriers and U.S. carrier port expenditures abroad. Freight on exports carried by foreign carriers is excluded since such payments are directly or indirectly for foreign account. Similarly, freight on U.S. imports carried by U.S. carriers is a domestic rather than an international transaction. Minus sign (−) denotes decrease. See Historical Statistics, Colonial Times to 1957, series U 170 and U 177, for totals]

No. 828. Waterborne Imports and Exports—Cargo Tonnage, by Flag of Carrier Vessel: 1935 to 1963

[In thousands of short tons. Prior to 1946, excludes cargoes (small in aggregate) carried by ships of less than 100 tons gross capacity. Beginning 1950, excludes U.S. Army and Navy cargo, and includes Alaska, Hawaii, and Puerto Rico. Beginning July 1950, excludes commodities classified for security reasons as "special category." For 1955 and beginning July 1956, exports exclude shipments under $500 in value regardless of shipping weight; for January through June 1956, exclude those under $1,000 regardless of shipping weight. For 1955 imports exclude shipments under 2,000 pounds shipping weight regardless of value, as well as shipments valued at less than $100 regardless of shipping weight. Beginning 1958, imports exclude only those shipments valued at less than $100 regardless of shipping weight. See also Historical Statistics, Colonial Times to 1957, series Q 210–215]

Section 23

Agriculture—Farms, Land, and Finances

This section presents statistics concerning the basic structure of our agricultural economy. Included are data on farm population; number, acreage, value, and ownership of farms; land utilization, irrigation, drainage, and soil conservation; and farm income, expenditures, debt, and prices. The principal sources of these data are reports issued by the Bureau of the Census, which conducts a Census of Agriculture every 5 years and Censuses of Irrigation and of Drainage every 10 years; the annual Crop Report and Related Data, Federal Reclamation Projects, issued by the Bureau of Reclamation, Department of the Interior; and current and annual publications of the Department of Agriculture, chief of which are Report of Administrator of Soil Conservation Service, Agricultural Statistics, The Farm Income Situation, and Farm Real Estate Market Developments.

Data on farm production, marketings, and imports and exports for crops, livestock, and poultry are in Section 24, Agriculture—Production, Marketing, and Trade.

A Census of Agriculture, entailing personal enumeration of individual farms, has been taken every 10 years since 1840 and every 5 years since 1920. The first Census, limited in scope, included such items as numbers of livestock, production of wool, value of poultry and dairy products, and production of principal crops. Data on number, acreage, and value of farms were first obtained in the 1850 Census; on farm tenure, in 1880; and on a detailed classification of farmland by use, in 1925. The 1959 Census of Agriculture is the most recent one for which data are available; preliminary results from the 1964 Census will be issued during the first half of 1965.

Farms and farmland.—In the course of its history, the Bureau of the Census has used varying definitions of a farm. In the 1959 Census, places of less than 10 acres were counted as farms if estimated sales of agricultural products for the year amounted to at least $250, and places of 10 or more acres if such sales amounted to at least $50. In the 1950 and 1954 Censuses, places of 3 or more acres were counted as farms if the annual value of agricultural products, whether for home use or for sale, but exclusive of home-garden products, amounted to $150 or more; places of less than 3 acres were counted as farms only if the annual sales amounted to $150 or more. In the Censuses from 1925 to 1945, farms included places of 3 or more acres having any agricultural production, other than from a home garden, and places of less than 3 acres having agricultural production valued at a minimum of $250. For definitions used in earlier Censuses, see U.S. Census of Agriculture: 1959, Vol. II, Introduction.

Currently included as farms are such agricultural enterprises as nurseries, greenhouses, hothouses, mushroom houses, and cranberry bogs; excluded are fish farms, fish hatcheries, oyster farms, frog farms, fur farms, apiaries, kennels, game preserves, parks, and the like. In the case of landowners who had one or more tenants, renters, croppers, or managers, the land operated by each was counted as a separate farm.

Farmland refers to all land under the control of a farm operator and considered as part of his farm, including land not actually under cultivation or used for pasture or grazing. Rent-free land was included as part of the farm only if the operator had sole use of it. Land used for pasture or grazing that was neither owned nor leased by the farm operator, such as national forests, Taylor grazing land, State or other public lands, and some railroad and other privately owned lands, are not included.

Irrigation.—Irrigated land as defined by the Bureau of the Census is the net acreage of farmland to which irrigation water was applied during the year covered by the enumeration. It excludes land not irrigated during the Census year and also irrigated nonfarm land.

In the 18 Western States (Alaska excluded) and Louisiana, the Bureau of the Census collects information at 10-year intervals on acres irrigated, irrigation works, capital investment, etc. from irrigation companies, districts, and other organizations, and from farms that operate their own irrigation works. Irrigation information for other States is generally limited to the regular farm Census. Following the 1954 and 1959 Censuses, a special survey of irrigation was conducted in humid areas.

The development of Federal irrigation projects rests primarily on the Bureau of Reclamation. By Congressional directive its activities are generally confined to the 19 Western States. The operation of irrigation works, upon complete development, is transferred to capable private water user organizations.

Drainage.—Most farmland drainage works serve to reclaim and improve the land. Other purposes are to protect the land against overflow, to rid the land of seepage from irrigation ditches, and to control alkali formation.

The Bureau of the Census in 1950 and 1960 enumerated, in general, only organized enterprises with 500 acres or more of drained farmland. In 1950, smaller irrigation enterprises which had their own drainage works were also included. In previous Censuses (1920 to 1940), all organized enterprises draining farmlands were included regardless of size. Privately drained lands of less than 500 acres have not been enumerated in any drainage Census. The change in procedure for 1950 and 1960 materially reduced the number of enterprises enumerated, but affected very little the amount of drained land enumerated.

Eight of the 48 conterminous States—the 6 New England States, Pennsylvania, and West Virginia—have had no drainage projects reported in any of the Censuses of Drainage. In 1960, Arizona also had no drainage projects that qualified for inclusion.

Soil conservation.—Soil conservation district legislation has been enacted in all 50 States, and in Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands. A soil conservation district is a political subdivision of a State, determined by petition and referendum of farmers in the area, and approved by the State Soil Conservation Committee. In most cases, districts have authority to solicit Federal, State, county, and private assistance for their soil and water conservation programs. On request of the local governing body of a district, the Department of Agriculture provides technical and other assistance.

Farm prices and income.—Information on prices received by farmers for products they sell and prices paid for articles they buy for production and family living are obtained by the Statistical Reporting Service of the Department of Agriculture from about 33,000 voluntary reporters, including farmers, local merchants, and handlers of agricultural products. Season average prices received by farmers are calculated by weighting midmonth prices by monthly sales during the crop marketing season, beginning with the first month in which a particular crop harvest begins.

Index numbers of prices received and of prices paid by farmers (see table 889) are based on current midmonth prices. Information on construction of the indexes is in Agricultural Handbook No. 118, Volume 1, Agricultural Prices and Parity, and on revisions in the January 1959 issue of Agricultural Prices, both published by the former Agricultural Marketing Service. The ratio of the index of prices received to the index of prices paid measures the monthly variation in the average per unit exchange value of farm products in terms of commodities and services bought by farmers.

Cash income is the cash receipts from farm marketings and represents quantities of agricultural products sold by farmers multiplied by prices received per unit of production at the local market. Gross farm income includes cash receipts and also Government payments, value of farm products consumed on the farm, and rental value of farm homes.

Alaska and Hawaii.—Statements specifying inclusion or exclusion of figures for Alaska and Hawaii appear in the headnotes to each table unless the inclusion or exclusion is self-evident.

Historical statistics.—Tabular headnotes provide cross-references, where applicable, to Historical Statistics of the United States, Colonial Times to 1957. See preface.

[1] Beginning 1940, includes inductions and enlistments into Armed Forces, and persons returning from Armed Forces. For all years, includes persons who did not move but who were in and out of the farm population because agricultural operations began or ceased, respectively, on the place where they were living.
[2] Total population includes Armed Forces abroad.

[In thousands. "Full irrigation service" applies to irrigable land receiving its sole irrigation supply through Bureau-constructed facilities and to previously irrigated land in non-Federal projects where a substantial part of the facilities was constructed, rehabilitated, or replaced by the Bureau; "supplemental and temporary irrigation service" applies to irrigable land receiving irrigation water through Bureau projects in addition to supply from nonproject sources and to land for which water is delivered under temporary arrangements. For 17 Western States included, see table 875]

[1] For specific procedure on organization of soil conservation districts, see respective State soil conservation district law. By provision of most State district laws, State soil conservation committee has responsibility for organization of districts. Local district governing bodies administer affairs of each individual district.
[2] Includes Imperial Irrigation District.
[3] Includes 4 grass conservation districts.
[4] Includes Elephant Butte Irrigation District.

Section 24

Agriculture—Production, Marketing, and Trade

This section presents statistics concerning farm output and marketings, trade in agricultural products, and data relative to specific crops, livestock, poultry, and livestock and poultry products.

The principal sources of these data are reports of the decennial and quinquennial Censuses of Agriculture conducted by the Bureau of the Census, and three annual reports, Crop Production, Crop Values, and Agricultural Statistics, issued by the Statistical Reporting Service, Department of Agriculture. Other important sources include Current Industrial Reports and Cotton Production and Distribution, issued by the Bureau of the Census; Cotton and Cottonseed Production and annual livestock summaries, issued by the Statistical Reporting Service; and various Situation reports, issued by the Economic Research Service, Department of Agriculture. Sources of current data on agricultural exports and imports include Foreign Agricultural Trade, also published by the Economic Research Service, and the foreign trade reports of the Bureau of the Census, particularly the series on imports (FT 125) and on exports (FT 410). Historical data are available in Foreign Commerce and Navigation of the United States, issued annually through 1946 by the Bureau of the Census. Statistics on other aspects of agriculture may be found in Section 23, Agriculture—Farms, Land, and Finances.

Crop reporting.—Annual agricultural statistics of a wide variety have been issued by the Department of Agriculture for over 100 years. The 43 field offices of the Statistical Reporting Service collect data from voluntary reporters. State estimates and other information are sent to the Crop Reporting Board of the Statistical Reporting Service where, after review, reports are issued containing State, regional, and United States data.

Statistics compiled by the Statistical Reporting Service on crops, livestock and livestock products, agricultural prices, farm employment, and other related subjects are based mainly on data obtained through mail questionnaires. The basic information is obtained from nearly three-fourths of a million reporters, mostly farmers, who report for their own and nearby farms on some 80 crops and scores of other items pertaining to agricultural production and farm family living. The most extensive of the current survey data are gathered by the Statistical Reporting Service from questionnaires handled in cooperation with the Post Office Department through its rural mail carriers. These surveys obtain livestock data in June and December and crop acreage data in October.

In the data prepared by the Statistical Reporting Service, estimates of crop acreage and production for the census years are set up currently from available information. Later, if necessary, these data are revised to a level based largely on the Census enumerations. The estimates for intercensal years are based on sample data obtained each year from individual reporters. This information is supplemented by other data, such as State assessors' enumerations of agricultural information, crop meter frontage measurements, reports of carlot shipments, warehouse receipts, local surveys, personal observations by field statisticians, and reports from other sources having a knowledge of farming, agricultural production, and processing. Cotton acreage and production are also based on sample data and, in large measure, on ginning information gathered by the Bureau of the Census.

Livestock.—Each Census of Agriculture from 1840 through 1900 was taken as of June 1. The six decennial censuses since then were taken as of April 15, 1910; January 1, 1920; April 1, 1930, 1940, and 1950; and the fall of 1959.

The 1925, 1935, and 1945 quinquennial Censuses of Agriculture were taken as of January 1; the 1954 Census was taken in the fall of the year (as will the 1964 Census). Comparison of inventory numbers of livestock from census to census is seriously affected by changes in the date of enumeration. From January to April, and from October and November to January, there are material changes in numbers on hand in most parts of the country, due to births, marketings, farm slaughter, etc. In an effort to obtain as much comparability as possible, the censuses taken in April either excluded recently born animals from the enumeration or provided for their enumeration in a separate age group. Volume II of U.S. Census of Agriculture: 1959 shows a complete history of the enumeration of livestock and presents a discussion of the comparability from census to census. For most kinds of domestic livestock, there are comparatively short cyclic fluctuations in numbers, even though the trend over a long period of time may be definitely in one direction.

Annual inventory numbers of livestock on farms, together with estimates of livestock, dairy, and poultry production prepared by the Department of Agriculture, are based on information furnished by individual farmers, supplemented by State assessors' data in a number of States, and by such records as brand inspections, rail and truck shipments, and slaughter. The level for these inventories is based in large part on interpretations of Census enumerations for years when such data are available.

Alaska and Hawaii.—Statements specifying inclusion or exclusion of figures for Alaska and Hawaii appear in the headnotes to each table unless the inclusion or exclusion is self-evident. "Conterminous area" refers to the United States excluding Alaska, Hawaii, and outlying areas.

[1] Measures annual volume of farm production available for eventual human use. Livestock and crops, as combined into total farm output, exclude value of feed other than pasture consumed, and hatching eggs, to avoid double counting of feed crops in both livestock and crop production and of hatching eggs as part of both poultry meat and egg production.

[2] Includes livestock products not shown separately, except horses and mules. Livestock production consists of 3 components: Constant-dollar value of pasture consumed, other feed consumed, and product-added in converting feed and pasture into livestock and products for human use. See footnote 1.

[3] Total constant dollar value of all crop production regardless of its final disposition. Includes production of hay seeds, pasture seeds, cover-crop seeds, and some miscellaneous crop production not shown.

[1] Sources of values for Government-financed programs are different from those for total exports; therefore not fully comparable in regard to valuation, shipping period, etc. Entries for "outside Government programs" are the residuals of the other 2 series.

[2] Exports outside specified Government-financed programs include, in addition to unassisted commercial transactions, shipments of some commodities with Governmental assistance in the form of (a) short-term credits extended by the Commodity Credit Corporation and the Export-Import Bank, (b) sales of Government-owned commodities below domestic market prices, and (c) export payments in cash or in kind.

[3] Values represent deliveries to contractors at export market value. Barter program is authorized under the charter act of the Commodity Credit Corporation, Title III, P.L. 480 (1954), and other legislation.

[4] Authorized under the Agricultural Act of 1949 and Title III, P.L. 480.

[5] Values shown are disbursements for exports and may differ from actual movement of goods during the year.

[1] Values are based on season average prices; see notes on "Price" column.
[2] Season average price received by farmers. State prices weighted by production to obtain U.S. price prior to 1958, but weighted by sales beginning 1958. For certain years, prices for wheat, rye, rice, corn for grain, grain sorghums, oats, barley, dry edible beans, soybeans, flaxseed, cotton, and cottonseed include an allowance for unredeemed loans and purchase agreement deliveries. See also notes on prices for each crop. [3] Based on reported price of grain sorghums. [4] Beginning 1939, prices are for hay sold baled; prior years, for hay sold loose.
[5] Cleaned basis.
[6] Includes following quantities of potatoes not marketed and excluded in computing value (1,000 cwt.): 1931, 40; 1932, 1,305; 1937, 43; 1939, 774; 1943, 264; 1950, 741; 1951, 656; 1953, 3,068; 1955, 1,147; 1957, 534; 1958, 934; 1959, 248; 1961, 48; 1963, 338.
[7] Equivalent solid acreage.
[8] State production figures, which conform with Census annual ginning enumeration with allowance for cross-State ginnings, rounded to thousands and added for United States totals. [9] Bales of 500 pounds, gross weight.
[10] Average price to Dec. 1.

[1] Season average price received by farmers. State prices weighted by sales to obtain U.S. prices.
[2] Sufficient sales data were available to estimate a season average price for a large share of the State's 1963 production, but 1962 season average prices were used for some types of tobacco in evaluating production and calculating an average price for all tobacco.
[3] Rounded to hundreds for inclusion in United States totals.

[1] Includes Virgin Islands.
[2] Sugar 96° basis as computed by Puerto Rican mills.
[3] Includes production of muscovado and panocha, low grades of sugar mostly for domestic consumption.
[4] Beginning July 1960, Cuba no longer a supplier. Sugar formerly supplied by Cuba is now being provided mainly by Mexico, Peru, Philippines, Brazil, Federation of the West Indies and British Guiana, Dominican Republic, India, and China (Taiwan).
[5] Includes green and liquid sugar.

[1] Growth of 9 months in Louisiana and 12 months in Florida. In Louisiana, sugar season usually ends by December or early January; in Florida, by March following season of growth.

[2] Season average price received by farmers. Prices exclude Government payments under the Sugar Act. For 1945, price support payments included.

[3] Excludes Hawaii. [4] Raw value equals 96° raw sugar as defined in Sugar Act of 1948.

[5] Calculated on basis of 100 pounds of raw sugar required to produce 93.46 pounds of refined sugar.

[6] Sirup production excluded. See table 944.

[7] Converted to 80° Brix beginning with 1935. Data for 1930 as reported.

No. 945. Commercial Vegetable Crops, Melons, Strawberries, and Mint—Acreage, Production, and Value, 1962 and 1963, and Leading States, 1963

[Production in equivalent short tons. Includes Alaska and Hawaii. Estimates relate to commercial production for fresh market and processing combined. Fresh market estimates include market garden areas but exclude minor producing acreage in minor producing States. Production for home use in farm and nonfarm gardens is not included. Value is for season or crop year and should not be confused with calendar-year income]

No. 954. Meats and Lard—Slaughtering, Production, Foreign Trade, and Consumption: 1945 to 1963

[All quantities, except per capita, represent carcass weight equivalent. Excludes Alaska, Hawaii, and Puerto Rico, except for exports and imports. Excludes edible by-products. Production of pork comprises weight of dressed hog carcass less head bones and less all carcass fat rendered into lard. Lard production represents rendered weight of lard, and lard exports represent rendered lard, including neutral lard. Excludes USDA exports and shipments for Lend-Lease, UNRRA and other claimants, and shipments for military civilian feeding and voluntary relief feeding. Civilian consumption is calculated from production and foreign trade, with an allowance for changes in stocks, and with deduction of military takings, and of deliveries to USDA. See also Historical Statistics, Colonial Times to 1957, series K 214–215, K 217–218, K 220–221, and K 223–224, for animals slaughtered and production, and G 552–555, for civilian per capita consumption]

[1] Includes hydrogenated fats and other fats and oils "in process;" includes crude oils used directly in products.

[2] Production of refined oils includes once-refined only (alkali or caustic washed); stocks include hydrogenated oils and other "in process" oils. Figures on production of crude peanut oil collected by Dept. of Agriculture.

[3] Includes stocks held by General Services Administration which were declared no longer required for strategic stockpile.

[4] Withheld to avoid disclosing figures for individual companies.

[5] Data are on a commercial stocks basis and exclude figures for stockpiles of strategic oils.

[6] Production is quantity rendered; consumption and stocks include both rendered and refined. Figures on production of lard collected by Dept. of Agriculture.

[7] Includes data for menhaden, sardine, and fish oils other than cod and cod liver; production figures collected by Fish and Wildlife Service, Dept. of the Interior.

[8] Includes data for synthetic glycerin.

Section 25

Forests and Forest Products

This section presents basic statistics on the area, ownership, and volume of timber of commercial forest land; forestry statistics covering the national forests and Forest Service cooperative programs; product statistics for lumber, pulpwood, woodpulp, paper and paperboard, turpentine, rosin, and veneer logs; and other similar data.

The principal sources of these data are Timber Resources for America's Future, issued in 1958 by the Forest Service of the Department of Agriculture, and The Demand and Price Situation for Forest Products, National Forest Areas, and Forest Fire Statistics, issued annually by the Forest Service; and reports of the quinquennial Census of Manufactures and the monthly and quarterly Current Industrial Reports, issued by the Bureau of the Census. Additional information in this field is published in the Annual Report of the National Forest Reservation Commission, the Annual Naval Stores Report of the Department of Agriculture's Statistical Reporting Service, the monthly Survey of Current Business of the Office of Business Economics, and the quarterly National Survey of Lumber Demand and Supply of the National Lumber Manufacturers Association.

The Bureau of the Census also collects statistics on foreign trade of forest products. The Bureau of Labor Statistics publishes monthly and annual statistics of wholesale lumber prices. Information on the domestic movement of forest products is collected by the Interstate Commerce Commission and the Association of American Railroads.

The completeness and reliability of statistics on forests and forest products vary considerably. The latest data available for area of total forest land, area and ownership of commercial forest land, and annual growth and cut are for the year 1953. The data for forest land area and stand are, of course, much more reliable for areas which have been surveyed than for those which have not been surveyed. Estimates of fire damage or causes of fires are not completely reliable, although forest fire statistics for Federal lands are considered much better than those for private lands.

In the field of forest products, much more data are available for lumber production and other manufactured products such as veneer and plywood, pulp and paper, naval stores, etc., than for the primary forest products such as poles and piling, fuelwood, and fence posts.

A historical series for production, imports, exports, and consumption of forest products is included in table 1004.

Alaska and Hawaii.—Statements specifying inclusion or exclusion of figures for Alaska and Hawaii appear in the headnotes to each table unless the inclusion or exclusion is self-evident.

Historical statistics.—Tabular headnotes provide cross-references, where applicable, to Historical Statistics of the United States, Colonial Times to 1957. See preface.

Section 26
Fisheries

This section presents statistics relating to quantity, value, species, and disposition of fish caught for commercial purposes, and to fishery products. The principal sources of such data are the annual report, Fishery Statistics of the United States, and the monthly and annual bulletins in the Current Fishery Statistics series published by the Fish and Wildlife Service of the Department of the Interior.

The Fish and Wildlife Service conducts annual surveys of the fishery industries. Results from the surveys include data on the quantity and value of the catch of individual species of fish, employment in fisheries, gear operated, fishing and transporting craft used, employment in wholesale and manufacturing establishments, and the volume and value of production of manufactured fishery products. In addition, the reports include data on imports, exports, freezings, and cold storage holdings of fishery products; and monthly landings in most coastal States, and in Ohio, Michigan, and Wisconsin. Information is also collected covering shad fisheries of the Hudson and Potomac Rivers; alewife fisheries of the Potomac; seed oyster fisheries; Pacific Coast halibut fisheries; New England offshore fisheries; South Atlantic and Gulf shrimp fisheries; the fur seal industry of the Pribilof Islands; and the Pacific Coast whaling industry.

The first comprehensive survey of fisheries and fishery industries of the United States was made for the year 1880, although it did not include the Mississippi River and its tributaries. A complete survey of the United States was conducted in 1908 and again in 1931. Various sections of the country have been surveyed from time to time. A complete survey of all sections, including manufacturing and wholesaling operations, was made for 1950. Beginning in 1954, complete data have been collected annually, except for a portion of the Mississippi River and its tributaries in 1961.

A preliminary report on the 1963 Census of Commercial Fisheries is scheduled for release by the Bureau of the Census in the fall of 1964, with the final report due in 1965. The report will present statistics on the number of fisheries, receipts from fishing activities, employment, vessels operated, value of catch, and other items.

Alaska and Hawaii.—Statements specifying inclusion or exclusion of figures for Alaska and Hawaii appear in the headnotes to each table unless the inclusion or exclusion is self-evident.

Historical statistics.—Tabular headnotes provide cross-references, where applicable, to Historical Statistics of the United States, Colonial Times to 1957. See preface.

Section 27

Mining and Mineral Products

This section presents statistics relating to the mineral industries and mineral products. The data are arranged in four broad groupings: General summary statistics, fuels, nonmetals other than fuels, and metals. Summary measures of production and employment are presented for mining and its products. More detailed data on value and quantity of production, prices, imports and exports, consumption, and distribution are shown for specific mineral industries and products.

The principal source of these data is the Minerals Yearbook, published by the Bureau of Mines of the Department of the Interior. Beginning with the 1963 edition, the Yearbook will add a fourth volume, International Review, scheduled for release in the fall of 1964. The other three volumes are: Metals and Minerals (Except Fuels), Fuels, and Area Reports. Other government sources are the Censuses of Mineral Industries conducted by the Bureau of the Census; Statistics of Oil Pipe Line Companies, issued annually by the Interstate Commerce Commission as Part 6 of Transport Statistics; and the Bureau of the Mint's Annual Report of the Director, which presents data on gold and silver. Nongovernment sources include the Engineering and Mining Journal, issued monthly by the McGraw-Hill Publishing Co., and The Iron Age, issued weekly by the Chilton Co.

Mineral statistics, with principal emphasis on commodity detail, have been collected by the United States Geological Survey or by the Bureau of Mines since 1880. Current data available from Bureau of Mines publications include quantities and values of minerals produced, sold or used by producers, or shipped; quantities of minerals stocked; crude materials treated and prepared minerals recovered; and consumption of mineral raw materials. The Bureau of Mines also collects and publishes data on man-hours, active days, length of shift, and accidents. The new International Review will present mineral statistics for major countries and areas.

Decennial censuses of mineral industries were conducted by the Bureau of the Census from 1840 to 1940. Censuses were taken again for the years 1954 and 1958; summary data from those censuses are included here. Commodity statistics on many of the manufactured mineral products are also collected by the Bureau at monthly, quarterly, or annual intervals and issued in its Current Industrial Reports series.

Data on mining and mineral products may also be found in other sections of this Abstract. For example, data on iron and steel, aluminum and magnesium, copper products, clay products, and other mineral products appear in section 29, Manufactures; and summary data for outlying areas of the U.S. appear in section 32.

In general, figures shown in the individual commodity tables include data for outlying areas, and may therefore not agree with summary table 1006. Except for crude petroleum, the export and import figures include foreign trade passing through the customs districts of Alaska, Hawaii, and Puerto Rico, but exclude shipments between conterminous U.S. and outlying areas.

Alaska and Hawaii.—Statements specifying inclusion or exclusion of figures for Alaska and Hawaii appear in the headnotes to each table unless the inclusion or exclusion is self-evident. "Conterminous area" refers to the United States excluding Alaska, Hawaii, and outlying areas.

Historical statistics.—Tabular headnotes provide cross-references, where applicable, to Historical Statistics of the United States, Colonial Times to 1957. See preface.

No. 1001. Value of Mineral Production: 1931 to 1963

[In millions of dollars. Beginning 1953, includes Alaska and Hawaii. Includes some products, as cement, lime, and natural gas liquids in all years, and, through 1946, heavy clay products; also, nonferrous metals are valued at the refined price. See also Historical Statistics, Colonial Times to 1957, series M 13-14, M 20, and M 30]

Metals, undistributed [10]		21,763		23,078		22,582		35,071

[1] Includes small quantity of anthracite mined in States other than Pennsylvania.

[2] Grindstones, pulpstones, millstones (weight not recorded), grinding pebbles, sharpening stones, and tube-mill liners.

[3] Figure withheld to avoid disclosing individual company data; value included with "Nonmetallic minerals, undistributed."

[4] Weight not recorded.

[5] Excludes abrasive stone, bituminous limestone and sandstone, and ground soapstone, all included elsewhere in table. Includes calcareous marl and slate.

[6] Comprises value of items that cannot be disclosed: Brucite (1959), calcium-magnesium chloride, diatomite, epsom salts from epsomite (1961–62), graphite, iodine, kyanite, lithium minerals, greensand marl, olivine, staurolite (1960–62), strontium minerals (1959), wollastonite, and values indicated by footnote reference 3.

[7] Figure withheld to avoid disclosing individual company data; value included with "Metals undistributed."

[8] Includes 805 tons of low-grade beryllium ore in 1961, and 760 tons in 1962.

[9] Excludes quantity and value consumed by American Chrome Company.

[10] Comprises value of items that cannot be disclosed: chromite, magnesium chloride for magnesium metal, manganiferous residuum, platinum-group metals (crude), zirconium concentrate, and values indicated by footnote reference 7.

[9] General imports. [10] For 1962, includes 83 percent of mine production (rather than shipments) and imports and 93 percent of alumina imports (88 and 92 percent for 1961), both converted to estimated aluminum equivalent.
[11] Mine production of bauxite. [12] Includes ingot equivalent (weight times 0.9) of imports of scrap, largely scrap pig.
[13] Excludes antimony from foreign silver and lead ores.
[14] Primary shipments are estimated as a percentage of total primary production of metal, while imports are represented by the sum of the remaining percentage of such production plus imports of metal. Secondary cannot be disclosed and are included with primary.
[15] Metal and flue dust only. [16] Recovery from both old and new scrap.
[17] For pyrites, includes sulfur content (48 percent) of production.

n.a. Not available.

[1] Represents value of shipments of primary and secondary products of the industry and amount received for services performed for other establishments on a contract, fee, or other basis.

[2] Excludes proprietors and firm members of unincorporated concerns.

[3] Gross earnings paid to all employees on payroll.

[4] Represents employees up through the working foreman level engaged in manual work.

[5] Excludes paid vacations, holidays, and sick leave; includes actual overtime hours (not straight-time equivalent).

[6] Computed by subtracting cost of supplies, minerals received for preparation, purchased fuel and electric energy, contract work, and purchased machinery from the value of shipments and capital expenditures.

SUMMARY: 1954 AND 1958

establishments for which both value of production and expenditures amounted to less than $500.

[7] Excludes figures for uranium-radium-vanadium ores industry (not available).
[8] For 1954, data were collected on the quantity but not on the cost of gas received for processing and on the value of residue gas shipped. Such costs have been estimated and included in group totals.
[9] Excludes the value of residue gas shipped.
[10] Excludes data for dimension stone quarries operated in conjunction with dressing plants.
[11] Excludes data for mining included in establishments classified in manufacturing industries.

n.a. Not available.

[1] Preliminary except for anthracite and bituminous coal, coke, petroleum and natural gas, peat, native asphalt, and slag.

[2] Average number of men at work each day mine was active. Because absenteeism and labor turnover are taken into consideration, this number is lower than number of men available for work as measured by a count of names on payroll.

[3] Includes Alaska. [4] Data on petroleum and natural gas not available prior to 1942.

[5] Not available prior to 1957. Slag (iron-blast furnace) not available prior to 1958.

[6] Native. [7] Separate data not available prior to 1960.

[8] Beginning 1955, includes clay mines, not available for prior years. Beginning 1959, includes Alaska and Hawaii.

[9] Includes manufacture of cement and lime: Beginning 1959, includes Alaska and Hawaii.

[10] Separate data not available for ore-dressing plants and nonferrous reduction plants and smelters prior to 1942.

[11] Data on nonmetal mills not available prior to 1955. Data on clay mills not available prior to 1956.

[1] Preliminary except for anthracite and bituminous coal, coke, petroleum and natural gas, peat, native asphalt and slag.
[2] Includes Alaska.
[3] Beginning 1955, number of fatalities and permanent total injuries at petroleum and natural gas operations are combined. Fatal-frequency rates 1955–1962 include an unknown number of permanent total injuries which cannot be separated from fatal injuries.
[4] Data on petroleum and natural gas not available prior to 1942.
[5] Not available prior to 1957. Slag (iron-blast furnace) not available prior to 1958.
[6] Native. [7] Separate data not available prior to 1960.
[8] Beginning 1955, includes clay mines; not available for prior years. Beginning 1959, includes Alaska and Hawaii.
[9] Includes manufacture of cement and lime. Beginning 1959, includes Alaska and Hawaii.
[10] Data on nonmetal mills not available prior to 1955. Data on clay mills not available prior to 1956.

n.a. Not available. [1] Data relate to mines having output of 1,000 tons a year or more, including lignite and small output of anthracite produced outside Pennsylvania. Includes Alaska.
[2] Beginning 1950, average number of men working daily.
[3] Capacity of active mines with existing labor force, derived on basis of average output per day.
[4] Beginning 1950, production data include some bootleg coal purchased by anthracite industry for preparation and shipment to market. Data on employment, however, exclude such purchased coal, as complete employment data on "bootleg" holes are not available. Data for 1940 and 1950 not strictly comparable with later years.
[5] Less than 500 tons.
[6] Estimated.

[1] Quantities of stone not sold by short tons are expressed in approximate equivalents in short tons.

[2] Includes calcareous marl (1,283,000 tons valued at $1,353,000 in 1960, and 1,182,000 tons valued at $1,011,000 in 1962) excluded in distribution by kind of stone.

[3] Beginning 1955, includes ground sandstone, quartz, and quartzite for abrasives and other uses.

[4] Beginning 1955, includes limestone, cement rock, and dolomite used in making cement, lime, and dead-burned dolomite.

[1] Includes old tailings smelted or re-treated. Not comparable with mine production figures, which include recoverable copper content of ores not classified as "copper."

[2] Data are for "general imports," i.e., include copper imported for immediate consumption plus material entering country under bond. Comprises copper in ingots, plates, and bars, ores and concentrates, regulus, blister, and scrap.

[3] Total exports of copper, exclusive of ore, concentrates, composition metal, and unrefined copper. Exclusive also of "Other copper manufactures," for which quantity figures are not recorded before 1953. Beginning 1960, data not strictly comparable with earlier years due to changes in classification.

[4] Exclusive of copper produced abroad and delivered in the United States.

No. 1050. Copper—Exports and Imports: 1931 to 1962

[Quantities in short tons; values in thousands of dollars. Includes trade of Alaska, Hawaii, and Puerto Rico with foreign countries. Exports are those classed as "domestic" in foreign trade statistics but include copper smelted or refined in United States from imported ore or unrefined metal. Prior to 1952, values include all forms of copper; quantities represent all copper except some "Other copper manufactures" for which quantity data were not reported. For 1952 and subsequent years, export data exclude certain copper manufactures not reported separately]

Section 28

Construction and Housing

This section presents various measures of construction activity and costs; housing units; housing values, facilities, and structural characteristics; and residential financing.

The principal sources of these data are the monthly Construction Reports series (see below), reports of the decennial Census of Housing, and the 1956 National Housing Inventory, published by the Bureau of the Census; and the monthly Construction Review, published by the Business and Defense Services Administration. Other sources, specializing in particular types of construction or housing statistics, include the monthly Dodge Construction Statistics Services of F. W. Dodge Company, a Division of McGraw-Hill, Inc., which presents State data on construction contracts; the Engineering News-Record, issued weekly by McGraw-Hill, Inc., which contains figures on construction costs; the Annual Report of the Housing and Home Finance Agency which presents public housing statistics from its Public Housing Administration, Federal Housing Administration, and other agencies; and the Annual Report of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, which presents home mortgage data. Monthly data on characteristics of vacant housing units are collected by the Bureau of the Census and presented quarterly in its Current Housing Reports.

Statistics prepared by the Bureau of the Census and published in the Construction Reports series are described below.

Construction.—Monthly estimates of the value of construction put in place appear in Construction Reports: Construction Activity. Construction estimates for buildings such as stores, warehouses, and factories are based on F. W. Dodge Company reports of construction contracts, supplemented by building permit data. Public utility construction estimates are derived from data compiled by the Interstate Commerce Commission and other Federal regulatory agencies, and by private associations and organizations such as the American Gas Association, the Edison Electric Institute, and the American Telephone and Telegraph Company.

Statistics for most types of State and local governmental construction are derived from data compiled by the F. W. Dodge Company, supplemented by reports issued by construction news services such as the Engineering News-Record and from official reports issued by State and local government agencies. Estimates of federally financed construction, federally aided construction programs, and State and local highway construction are derived by the Bureau of the Census from reports of the responsible Federal agencies. Estimates of private residential construction activity are based primarily upon the housing starts statistics compiled by the Bureau.

Monthly statistics on the number of housing units authorized by building permits, based on reports provided monthly by over 3,000 relatively active permit-issuing places and annually by the 12,000 known permit-issuing jurisdictions, appear in Construction Reports: Building Permits.

Annual statistics on expenditures for residential additions, alterations, repairs, maintenance, and replacements are published in Construction Reports: Residential Alterations and Repairs. (Survey suspended in 1964 pending review and modification.) Statistics are based on expenditures reported by owners and renters of a sample of single and multifamily properties, including nonfarm and farm, privately and publicly owned, and occupied and vacant housing units.

Monthly statistics on the start of construction of total, single-family, and multifamily housing units in housekeeping residential buildings are published in Construction Reports: Housing Starts. The statistics are derived from monthly sample surveys which measure the relationship between housing units authorized by permits and the number of units on which construction started. Housing starts in areas which do not issue permits are measured directly by a monthly survey in a sample of such areas.

Monthly statistics supplemented by additional quarterly data on the number of one-family homes sold and for sale, compiled by the Bureau of the Census under the sponsorship of the Housing and Home Finance Agency, are published in Construction Reports: Housing Sales. Statistics are based on samples of homes authorized by building permits and of homes started in areas without permit systems.

Housing.—From 1850 through 1930, the Bureau of the Census collected some housing data in conjunction with Censuses of Population and Agriculture. Beginning in 1940, full-fledged censuses of Housing have been taken at 10-year intervals. The most recent Census, taken as of April 1, 1960, provided data on occupancy and structural characteristics, condition, plumbing facilities, equipment, fuels, and financing. It also included data on components of inventory change (new construction, conversion, merger, demolition, and other gains and losses) for 1950–60 and 1957–60.

Housing data were collected by the Bureau of the Census in sample surveys in October 1944, November 1945, April 1947, and May 1948 as part of the Current Population Survey (see p. 1). In 1955, the Bureau began a monthly vacancy survey, results of which are issued on a quarterly basis. A National Housing Inventory, conducted in 1956, provided measurements of the housing supply for the nation as a whole and for selected metropolitan areas, and information on components of change during the 1950–56 period.

Housing units.—In general, a housing unit is a group of rooms or a single room occupied or intended for occupancy as separate living quarters, that is, the occupants do not live and eat with any other persons in the structure, and there is either (1) direct access from the outside or through a common hall, or (2) a kitchen or cooking equipment for the exclusive use of the occupants. Transient accommodations (tourist courts, hotels, etc.), barracks for workers (railroad, construction, etc.), and institutional-type quarters are not included in the housing-unit inventory.

In the 1950 Census, the unit of enumeration was the dwelling unit. Although the definition of housing unit in 1960 is essentially similar to that of dwelling unit in 1950, the housing unit definition was designed to encompass all separate living quarters, whereas the dwelling unit definition did not. The main difference was in the treatment of 1-room quarters. Nevertheless, the change in definition between 1950 and 1960 had relatively little effect on comparability of the data at national and State levels.

Residential financing.—As early as 1890, the Bureau of the Census (then Census Division of the Department of Interior) collected detailed statistics on residential mortgages. As part of the 1920 and 1940 Censuses, mortgage questions were asked of owners who occupied their own homes. In 1950, the census included a separate survey on residential financing, covering nonfarm residential mortgaged properties, both owner and renter. As part of the 1956 National Housing Inventory, data were collected on the financing of owner-occupied nonfarm properties. In 1960, the Residential Finance Survey program of the Census of Housing covered financing of both home owner and rental properties and characteristics of nonmortgaged as well as mortgaged properties.

Data on home mortgages and foreclosures, based largely on reports from major holders, are provided by the Federal Home Loan Bank Board. The Federal Housing Administration compiles, from its records, data on its real estate financial operations, such as volume of mortgages insured, type of lending institution, etc. The Veterans Administration also compiles, from its records, data on amounts and types of loans.

Urban, rural, and farm-nonfarm residence.—See section 1, "Population," for 1960 definitions of urban, rural, and farm-nonfarm residence.

Alaska and Hawaii.—Statements specifying inclusion or exclusion of figures for Alaska and Hawaii appear in the headnotes to each table unless the inclusion or exclusion is self-evident.

Historical statistics.—Tabular headnotes provide cross-references, where applicable, to Historical Statistics of the United States, Colonial Times to 1957. See preface.

No. 1058. Value of Private and Public Construction: 1950 to 1963

[In millions of dollars. Beginning 1959, includes Alaska and Hawaii. Represents value of construction put in place during year; differs from building permit and construction contract data in timing and coverage. Includes installed value of equipment which is integral part of structure but not that of machinery, shipbuilding, or land costs. For complete series beginning 1946, see Department of Commerce, Bureau of the Census, Construction Reports, Series C 30-60 (supplement). For 1915 to 1945, see Historical Statistics, Colonial Times to 1957, series N 1-28]

[1] Covers materials either (a) physically incorporated as integral part of a building or (b) normally installed during construction and not removable without seriously imparing building. Excludes consumer durables, such as kitchen ranges, refrigerators, etc. Source: Dept. of Labor, Bureau of Labor Statistics, unpublished data.

[2] Based on minimum wage rates agreed upon through collective bargaining; excludes overtime. As of July 1. Source: Dept. of Labor, Bureau of Labor Statistics, unpublished data.

[3] Covers both building and nonbuilding construction, excluding maintenance and repair. Represents a weighted average of various indexes, both private and government, used for different types of construction.

[4] Based on average contract unit bid prices for composite mile (involving specific average amounts of excavation, paving, reinforcing steel, structural steel, and structural concrete).

[5] Average for 30 cities of 4 types of buildings: Wood-frame, brick-wood frame, brick-steel frame, and reinforced concrete. Covers materials and labor costs in structural portion of buildings but excludes materials and labor prices for plumbing, heating, lighting, sprinklers, and elevators. Reflects employee-benefit costs, and allows for contractors' overhead and profit.

[6] Covers both building and nonbuilding construction. Wages and materials for 12 cities combined in 40–60 ratio. Wages are for hod carriers and common laborers only. Materials weighted: Sand, gravel, crushed stone, cement, common brick, and lumber, 1 each; hollow tile, ½; and structural and reinforcing steel (together) ½. Excludes taxes and employee-benefit costs.

[7] Average of 20 cities for types shown. Weights based on surveys of actual building costs and vary with different types of structures. Wage rates used for both common and skilled labor. Reflects payment of sales taxes and social security payroll taxes. Unweighted averages from Boeckh series prepared by Dept. of Commerce, Bureau of the Census.

[8] Building construction index computed on basis of hypothetical unit of construction requiring 6 bbls. of portland cement, 1.088 M bd. ft. of 2″ x 4″ lumber, 2,500 lbs. of structural steel, and 68.38 hours of skilled labor. General construction index based on same materials components combined with 200 hours of common labor. Not adjusted for changes in materials availability, competitive conditions, efficiency of plant and management, productivity, or related factors.

[9] Composite of 36 major cost elements in 3 commercial-type buildings including structural elements and elevators, wiring, plumbing, heating, and ventilating. Job costs include both skilled and unskilled labor, and series reflects employee-benefit costs.

[10] Eastern cities. Based on firm's cost experience with respect to labor rates, materials prices, competitive conditions, efficiency of plant and management, and productivity. Reflects payment of sales taxes and employee-benefit costs.

[11] Based on data covering public utility construction costs (building construction, gas plant construction, and electric light and power construction) for 95 items in 6 geographic regions of the U.S. Job costs include both skilled and common labor. Indexes do not reflect tax payments nor employee-benefit cost. Dept. of Commerce, Bureau of the Census, has converted these series to a 1957–59 base, and combined the various items into a single index.

[12] As derived by Dept. of Commerce, Bureau of the Census; covers steam production plants only; excludes hydraulic plants.

No. 1070. Construction Contracts—Indexes of Value: 1940 to 1964

[1947–49=100, 1940–55; 1957–59=100, beginning 1956. Indexes are derived from monthly figures of construction contracts reported by F. W. Dodge Company, a Division of McGraw-Hill, Inc. Reports covered 37 States and D.C. through 1955 (see table 1069) and 48 States and D.C. thereafter. Indexes through 1955 based on 3-month moving average, centered at middle month; indexes beginning 1956 based on monthly data. More detailed description of old index, including seasonal adjustments, obtainable from Division of Research and Statistics, Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System]

No. 1075. New Housing Units Started, by Type: 1945 to 1963

[In thousands of units. New series; beginning 1959, derived from continuing field measurement of housing starts, including Alaska and Hawaii. In general, new series is more nearly complete in coverage than old and is based on a broader definition of housing unit. Revision of nonfarm housing starts back to 1945 is consistent with Censuses of Housing, 1950 and 1960; 1956 National Housing Inventory, and 1959 Survey of Components of Change and Residential Financing. For detailed descriptions of sources and methods, see Construction Reports, Series C 20-11 (supplement) May 1960, and C 20-60, May 1964. For old series, see Historical Statistics, Colonial Times to 1957, series N 106-117]

No. 1077. Mobile Homes and Travel Trailers—Manufacturers Shipments: 1959 to 1964

[A mobile home, or housing-type trailer, is a vehicular portable structure built on a chassis and designed to be used without a permanent foundation as a year-round dwelling when connected to utilities. Mobile homes are defined as units 29 feet or longer and weighing over 4,500 pounds; travel trailers, as units less than 29 feet long, regardless of weight, or weighing less than 4,500 pounds, regardless of length. Excludes units designed for commercial uses, pickup cabs, folding campers, and amphibious units]

No. 1078. New Privately Owned Nonfarm One-Family Housing Units Started—Number and Average Construction Cost: 1959 to 1964

[Includes Alaska and Hawaii. Average cost of all such housing units started nationally. Data do not represent construction cost of a typical house. These averages are affected by changes in cost of materials and labor, variations in size and design of the houses, type of projects started, differences in construction methods, and other variables. Construction costs cover only labor, materials, and subcontracted work, and that part of the builders' overhead and profit chargeable directly to the construction projects. Cost data based primarily on builders' estimates of construction cost made at the start of construction. See also headnote, table 1075]

[1] Statistics on the number of occupied units are essentially comparable although identified by various terms—the term "family" applies to figures for 1930 and earlier; "occupied dwelling unit," 1940 and 1950; and "occupied housing unit," 1960. For 1890, 1910, and 1920, includes the small number of quasi-families; 1900 and 1930 represent private families only.

[2] Total population, which includes the population in group quarters and quasi-family groups, divided by the number of occupied units. This concept was used for consistency; population counts, exclusive of persons in group quarters and quasi-family groups, are not available for some of the census years.

[3] Includes Alaska and Hawaii.

[4] Not comparable with data for earlier censuses because of a basic change in definition of farm residence. See text, p. 2.

[5] For 1890 to 1920, "Farm" contains a small proportion of urban-farm families in addition to the rural-farm families.

No. 1085. Housing Units—Selected Characteristics: 1940, 1950, and 1960

For 1950, heating equipment includes Alaska and Hawaii, and, for 1960, all items include Alaska and Hawaii. Data for 1940 represent a complete census count; 1950 data for water supply, toilet facilities, and bathing facilities represent a complete census count; data for all other 1950 items and all 1960 items are based on a 5-, 20-, or 25-percent sample of housing units. For a measure of the sampling variability, see source]

No. 1092. Renter-Occupied Nonfarm Housing Units—Contract and Gross Monthly Rent: 1940 to 1960

[Number in thousands. Beginning 1960, includes Alaska and Hawaii. Contract monthly rent is the rent at the time of enumeration, as contracted for by the renter, regardless of whether it includes furniture, heating fuel, electricity, cooking fuel, water, or other services sometimes supplied. Gross monthly rent is contract monthly rent plus the reported average monthly cost of utilities (electricity, gas, water) and other fuels (such as coal, oil, kerosene, and wood) if these items were paid for by the renter, in addition to contract monthly rent. In 1940 and 1950, if furniture was included in the contract rent, the reported estimated rent of the housing unit without furniture was used for the computation rather than the contract rent]

No. 1095. Nonfarm Owner-Occupied Dwelling Units—Mortgage Status: 1890 to 1960

[1960 includes Alaska and Hawaii and relates to properties with 1- to 4-dwelling units. For 1940 and 1950, mortgage statistics are for owner-occupied dwelling units in 1- to 4-dwelling unit structures without business. An owner-occupied dwelling unit was reported as mortgaged if property on which it was located had an indebtedness in form of a mortgage or deed of trust, or if occupants had contract to purchase property. For 1920 and earlier, mortgage data are for owner-occupied units in all types of structures. Although types of units for which mortgage data were reported are not the same for all censuses, differences are not large enough to invalidate comparisons. See also Historical Statistics, Colonial Times to 1957, series N 190-194]

No. 1105. Urban Planning Assistance Program—Summary: 1954 to 1963

[Includes Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, Guam, and Virgin Islands. Represents urban planning assistance (a) for cities, other municipalities, and counties with a population under 50,000 and for groups of adjacent communities, incorporated or unincorporated, with a total population of less than 50,000; (b) for cities, other municipalities, and counties in redevelopment areas designated under Section 5(a) of the Area Redevelopment Act; (c) for metropolitan and regional areas; (d) for cities, other municipalities, and counties which have suffered a major disaster; (e) for areas which are or expected to become Federally impacted; and (f) for State and interstate comprehensive planning. Metropolitan, regional, disaster, and Federally impacted areas are assisted by planning grants to either State planning agencies or metropolitan, regional, or other qualified planning agencies; all other assistance takes the form of planning grants to State planning agencies]

Section 29

Manufactures

This section presents measures of the manufacturing segment of the economy and its component inputs and outputs. The input data include figures for establishments; employment and wages; raw materials, fuels, and electricity consumed; plant and equipment expenditures; and water use. The output data include figures for value and quantity of production and shipments; and value added by manufacture. Both types of data are shown for manufacturing as a whole, for major product groups, and for specific selected products.

The principal sources of these data are the reports of the Census of Manufactures conducted periodically by the Bureau of the Census; the same agency's Annual Survey of Manufactures; and its Current Industrial Reports series which presents monthly, quarterly, or annual data on production, shipments, and stocks for particular commodities. Indexes of industrial production are presented monthly in the Federal Reserve Board's Federal Reserve Bulletin. Reports on current activities of industries, or current movements of individual commodities, are also compiled by such government agencies as Bureau of Labor Statistics, Statistical Reporting Service of the Department of Agriculture, Business and Defense Services Administration, Fish and Wildlife Service, Tariff Commission, and Internal Revenue Service; and by private research or trade associations such as the American Iron and Steel Institute, the National Canners Association, and the National Association of Hosiery Manufacturers.

Data on financial operations and intercorporate relations of manufacturing corporations are collected from time to time by the Securities and Exchange Commission, the Tariff Commission, and the Federal Trade Commission. Financial statistics for certain manufacturing industries in the form of balance sheets, profit and loss statements, analyses of sales and expenses, lists of subsidiaries, and types and amounts of security issues are summarized and published for the leading corporations that are registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission. The Tariff Commission publishes commodity surveys which cover economic and competitive aspects of production, distribution, and international trade in selected important industries. Each survey deals with several products which are related because of the raw materials consumed, or because of their competitive uses. The Federal Trade Commission has made several comprehensive studies of individual industries.

Censuses and annual surveys.—The first Census of Manufactures covered the year 1809. Thereafter, a census was taken at 10-year intervals to 1899, with the exception of 1829. It was conducted at 5-year intervals from 1904 through 1919, and at 2-year intervals from 1921 through 1939. It was suspended during the war period until the 1947 Census. A census covering the year 1954 was the first taken under present legislation which provides for a quinquennial Census of Manufactures. The most recent census covers the year 1963.

The Annual Survey of Manufactures, conducted for the first time in 1949, carries forward, for the intercensal years, measures of manufacturing activity covered in detail by the quinquennial Census of Manufactures. It provides statistics on employment, payrolls, value added by manufacture, inventories, and new capital expenditures for industry groups, individual industries, geographic divisions, States, and large standard metropolitan statistical areas.

The most recent annual survey is based on a sample of about 60,000 of an approximate total of 300,000 manufacturing establishments. It comprises all large plants, which account for approximately two-thirds of total manufacturing employment in the United States, and a representative selection of the more numerous small plants. Government-owned and -operated establishments are excluded.

Establishments and classification.—The 1947, 1954, and 1958 Censuses of Manufactures covered operating manufacturing establishments as defined in the Standard Industrial Classification Manual issued by the Bureau of the Budget. Reports were required from all establishments employing one or more persons at any time during the census year. Each of the establishments tabulated was classified in one of the more than 400 manufacturing industries as defined by the Standard Industrial Classification system. This system defines an industry as a number of establishments producing a single product or a closely related group of products. An establishment is classified in a particular industry if its production of this product or product group exceeds in value its production of any other product group. In a few instances, the industry classification of an establishment is determined not only by its product group but also by the processes employed in making the products.

A revised edition of the Standard Industrial Classification Manual, which made extensive modifications in some of the industry groupings, was issued in 1957. Final reports of the 1958 Census of Manufactures present data tabulated on the basis of the new classifications and include 1954 Census data converted to the new SIC to effect comparability for the two years. Because of the revisions in the classification system, 1954 and 1958 Census data for some industries and industry groups are not comparable with figures for prior years.

While some establishments produce only the products of the industry in which they are classified, it rarely happens that all the establishments in an industry specialize to that extent. The statistics on employment, payrolls, value added, inventories, and expenditures, therefore, reflect not only the primary activities of the establishments in that industry but also activities of a secondary nature. For this reason the industry statistics usually cannot be directly related to statistics on the total shipments of products primary to the industry.

The 1947, 1954, and 1958 Censuses were conducted on an establishment basis. The term "establishment" signifies a single physical plant site or factory. It is not necessarily identical with the business unit or company, which may consist of one or more establishments. A company operating establishments at more than one location is required to submit a separate report for each location. An establishment engaged in distinctly different lines of activity and maintaining separate payroll and inventory records is also required to submit separate reports.

The basic statistical measures of manufacturing activity, such as employment, payrolls, value added, etc., are defined in essentially the same way for the annual surveys as for the Census of Manufactures. Consequently, these series may be considered comparable, except for the changes brought about by the 1957 revisions in the industry classification system noted above. However, beginning with 1949, average employment was calculated from the figures reported for the pay periods ending nearest the fifteenth of March, May, August, and November, whereas for 1947 such averages were based on 12 monthly employment figures. The 1954 figures are an average of reported employment totals for the four specified months, except for highly seasonal industries, where a 12-month average was obtained. For 1958, averages of production workers for the four specified months plus the March figure for "all other employees" were used for all industries. Further, 1947 figures exclude data for central administrative offices and auxiliary establishments of manufacturing concerns, which are included in the statistics for later years.

Alaska and Hawaii.—Statements specifying inclusion or exclusion of figures for Alaska and Hawaii appear in the headnotes to each table unless the inclusion or exclusion is self-evident. "Conterminous area" refers to the United States excluding Alaska, Hawaii, and outlying areas.

Historical statistics.—Tabular headnotes provide cross-references, where applicable, to Historical Statistics of the United States, Colonial Times to 1957. See preface.

Technical Note—Annual Survey of Manufactures

The annual survey estimates vary from the totals that would have been obtained from a complete canvass of all manufacturing establishments. The relative magnitude of this sampling variation is given in the table column captioned "Standard error." The standard error should be interpreted to mean that the sample estimates will differ from complete canvass totals by less than: (1) The percentage shown in approximately 2 cases out of 3; (2) twice the percentage shown in approximately 19 cases out of 20; and (3) three times the percentage shown in almost every case. It should be noted that standard errors are shown only for selected items. The standard errors of other measures are usually of the same general magnitude.

In making any study of the trend, it is important to take account of the effect of the sampling variation on the apparent increase or decrease shown between years. In addition to sampling errors, individual figures may be subject to biases arising from undetected response or procedural errors which are not reflected in the "standard errors." Figures are normally withheld from publication in the original source volumes if (1) the standard error of the estimate exceeds 15 percent, or (2) survey estimates are inconsistent with other Census series and related data. Any estimate which can be derived by subtraction of one published figure from another may have a standard error considerably in excess of 15 percent.

[1] Value of shipments less cost of materials, supplies, fuels, electric energy, and contract work, plus net change in finished goods and work-in-process inventory, and value added in merchandising activities of manufacturing establishments.

[2] "All employees" represent the average of "production workers" plus all other employees for the payroll period ended nearest the 15th of March.

[3] Includes expenditures for plants in operation and plants under construction but not yet in operation.

[4] Comparable data not available.

[5] Value of production. The formula for computing adjusted value added by manufacture was modified to exclude any change in finished products inventories between beginning and end of year.
[6] Withheld because estimate did not meet publication standards. [7] Less than $500,000.
[8] Includes privately owned and/or operated establishments classified in "Ordnance and accessories."
[9] Manufacturing concerns often reported separately for central offices or auxiliaries which serve the manufacturing establishments of a company, rather than the general public. Separate reports were obtained from such units if at a different location or if they serviced more than one establishment. [10] 1958 data.

[1] Sum of State totals may not add to U.S. total because figures were independently derived.
[2] See footnote 1, table 1109.
[3] Includes employment and payroll at administrative offices and auxiliary units.
[4] "Production workers" represents the average of the employment for the payroll periods ended nearest the 15th of March, May, August, and November. "All employees" represents the average of "production workers" plus all other employees for the payroll period ended nearest the 15th of March.

[1] Less than 500.
[2] Excludes administrative offices and auxiliary units.
[3] For 1958, represents adjusted value added and, for 1947 and 1954, unadjusted value added. Unadjusted value added is obtained by subtracting cost of materials, supplies, containers, fuel, purchased electric energy, and contract work from value of shipments for products manufactured plus receipts for services rendered. Adjusted value added also takes into account (a) value added by merchandising operations (that is, difference between the sales value and cost of merchandise sold without further manufacture, processing, or assembly), plus (b) net change in finished goods and work-in-process inventories between beginning and end of year.
[4] Excludes expenditures for plants under construction and not yet in operation. Data by employment size-class not available for 1947.

n.a. Not available. [1] Includes central administrative offices or auxiliary units which serve the manufacturing establishments of a company, rather than the general public. Separate reports were obtained from such units if they were at a different location or served more than 1 establishment.

[1] For 1950 and 1954, data represent average of all employees for payroll period ending nearest 15th of March, May, August, and November except that, for 1954, the average of all 12 months was used for several industries. For 1958, data represent average number of production workers for payroll period ending nearest 15th of March, May, August, and November plus all other employees for period ending March 15.

[2] See footnote 2, table 1114. [3] See footnote 3, table 1114. [4] See footnote 5, table 1114. [5] See footnote 8, table 1114. [6] See footnote 9, table 1114. [7] Figures for earlier years not available on comparable basis. See footnote 11, table 1114. [8] See footnote 16, table 1114. [9] Includes, in addition to commercial (jobbing) foundries, "captive" foundries at separate locations producing gray-iron castings for other plants of the same company. Accordingly, the percentages do not reflect the market shares in the commercial foundry industry as such.

No. 1114. Percent of Total Shipments Made by Large Manufacturing Companies, Selected Industries: 1947, 1954, and 1958

[Excludes Alaska and Hawaii. First 50 industries as determined by value of shipments in 1958. Industry codes and descriptions are based on standard industrial classification (SIC) system used through 1947 and differ from those appearing in the 1958 Census of Manufactures Reports, Series MC–20 through MC–39. For a description of the industries, see the appropriate 1954 Census of Manufactures Industry Report or the 1958 Census of Manufactures Preliminary Reports, Series MC(P)–20 through MC(P)–39. Determination of company affiliation of establishments is based on Census reports and publicly available records. Value of shipments totals for establishments have been summarized into company totals in each manufacturing industry. "Largest" companies are determined by each company's value of shipments in the specified industry. "N.e.c." means not elsewhere classified]

n.a. Not available.

[1] Comprises for all manufacturing establishments classified in an industry (a) value of products "primary" to the industry, (b) value of "secondary" products, which are primary to other industries, and (c) "miscellaneous receipts" such as those for contract and commission work on materials owned by others, scrap and salable refuse, repair, etc. Excludes sales of products bought and resold in same condition. 1954 figures for some industries reflect minor revisions of previously published data.

[2] Measures extent to which establishments classified in an industry "specialize" in making products regarded as primary to the industry. That is, value of shipments of primary products of establishments in the industry is expressed as a ratio of total shipments of all products made by these establishments (excluding "miscellaneous receipts," such as those for contract and commission work on materials owned by others, scrap and salable refuse, repair, etc.). 1954 ratios for some industries reflect minor revisions of previously published data.

[3] Measures extent to which all shipments of primary products of an industry are made by establishments classified in the industry, as distinguished from secondary producers elsewhere. That is, value of shipments of primary products made by establishments classified in the industry is expressed as a ratio of total shipments of primary products made by all producers, both in and out of the specified industry. 1954 ratios for some industries reflect minor revisions of previously published data.

[4] Value added by manufacture used as basis for computing percentages because value of shipments data (used for ranking) contain substantial and unmeasurable amount of duplication.

[5] Not shown because total value of primary products shipped includes large amount of duplication.

[6] Based on combined figures for Industry 3311, Blast Furnaces; Industry 3312, Steelworks and Rolling Mills; Industry 2931, Beehive Coke Ovens; and Industry 2932, Byproduct Coke Ovens.

[7] Based on combined figures for Industry 2011, Meat Packing Plants, and Industry 2013, Prepared Meats.

[8] Comparable data not available. In 1954 any establishment manufacturing at least 1 complete aircraft was classified in Industry 3721, Aircraft. In 1958 an establishment manufacturing complete aircraft was classified in Industry 3721 if its value of work done on aircraft exceeded its value of shipments of any other single industry's products.

[9] Approximately 50 small companies were misclassified into Industry 3721, Aircraft, because of incomplete reporting of product information. However, this misclassification had only an insignificant effect on value added, on employment, and on percentages accounted for by the 4, 8, and 20 largest companies.

[10] In 1954, this industry was composed of 2 industries, 2026, Fluid Milk (only), and 2027, Fluid Milk and Other Products. 1954 figures on value of shipments and on percentages accounted for by the 4 and 8 largest companies have been recalculated on a basis comparable to 1958. In 1947, establishments primarily distributing fluid milk were classified as nonmanufacturing.

[11] In the 1958 Census, integrated pulp and paper companies were given the option of reporting their pulp and paper (or board) operations on a combined basis when both were conducted at a single physical location. Most integrated companies exercised this option, but a few with departmental accounting chose to report separately for the pulp mill and paper (or board) mill, as they were required to do in 1954. The only other pulp mills separately reported in the 1958 Census were (1) those exclusively selling their pulp on the market (i.e., not associated or affiliated with a paper and board mill), and (2) those pulp mills affiliated or associated with paper or board mills but operated at a different physical location. The change had little effect on comparability of value of shipments for the industry. Comparable data for 1947 not available. In 1947, Industry 2612, Paper and Paperboard Mills, was combined with Industry 2613, Building Paper and Board Mills.

[12] Comparable data not available.

[13] Value of production shown rather than value of shipments. Includes value of primary and secondary products made and miscellaneous receipts such as receipts for contract and commission work on materials owned by others, scrap, and other salable refuse. [14] Includes Government-owned privately operated plants.

[15] Separate figures not available. In 1947, Industry 2811, Sulfuric Acid, was combined with Industry 2819, Inorganic Chemicals, not elsewhere classified.

[16] Comparable data not available. Establishments primarily engaged in producing factory rebuilt and retreaded tires were included in this industry in 1954 but included in the service trades in 1947 and 1958.

[17] A number of small establishments were misclassified into Industry 3411. This misclassification, however, has no appreciable effect on the total value of shipments or on the percentages accounted for by the largest companies. [18] Comparable data not available because of significant changes in the 1947 classification of plants or products. [19] Excluded from 1954 Census.

[20] Withheld to avoid disclosing figures for individual plants or products.

[21] Includes, in addition to commercial (jobbing) foundries, "captive" foundries at separate locations producing gray-iron castings for other plants of the same company. Accordingly, the ratios for this industry do not reflect the market shares in the commercial foundry industry as such.

[1] Through 1940, represents withdrawals of all products for denaturation, that is, domestic ethyl alcohol, spirits produced by registered distilleries (redesignated upon receipt at denaturing plants as alcohol), and rum. Beginning 1950, represents all products (except rum) used for denaturation, that is, domestic ethyl alcohol, imported ethyl alcohol, and spirits. Rum is included for 1940 because denatured rum is included with specially denatured alcohol, for that year. [2] Prior to 1950, includes denatured rum.
[3] Alcohol and spirits, 190 proof and over, produced at distilled spirits plants.

[1] Barrels of 31 wine gallons (see footnote 9).
[2] Prior to 1960, represents registered distilleries, fruit distilleries, and industrial alcohol plants. In some instances a plant was operated at different times in more than 1 of these categories and was counted in each.
[3] Prior to 1960, represents internal revenue bonded warehouses and industrial alcohol bonded warehouses.
[4] Prior to 1960, net production obtained by deducting total products used in redistillation from gross production of neutral product (spirits); thereafter, each kind of distilled spirits used in redistillation was deducted from gross production of same kind.
[5] Excludes alcohol produced for industrial use.
[6] A tax gallon for spirits of 100 proof or over is equivalent to the proof gallon; for spirits of less than 100 proof, to the wine gallon. (See footnotes 7 and 9).
[7] A proof gallon is the alcoholic equivalent of a U.S. gallon at 60° F, containing 50 percent of ethyl alcohol by volume.
[8] Includes ethyl alcohol. [9] A wine gallon is the U.S. gallon, equivalent to the volume of 231 cubic inches.
[10] Production represents total amount removed from fermenters, including distilling material. In 1963, 399,250,050 gallons of distilling materials were produced.
[11] Includes special natural wines. [12] Excludes distilling materials.
[13] Includes champagne, other effervescent wines, and artificially carbonated wines.

[1] Reported by Bureau of the Census. For American cotton, tare as reported by Crop Reporting Board deducted. For foreign cotton, 15 pounds deducted.

[2] Reported by Bureau of the Census. Beginning 1950, excludes consumption in cotton and other spinning systems and consumption in batting and felt manufacture.

[3] From Textile Organon. Represents domestic shipments plus imports for consumption. Beginning 1935, includes producers waste consumed at mills.

[4] From Textile Organon. Represents domestic production less exports plus imports for consumption. Beginning 1935, includes producers waste consumed at mills.

[5] Through 1950, represents imports for consumption reported by Bureau of the Census plus estimated production reported by (a) Bureau of Plant Industry through 1945 and (b) Portland, Oreg., Office of Agricultural Marketing Service for 1950; beginning 1955, imports for consumption reported by Bureau of the Census.

[6] Compiled from reports of Bureau of the Census. For 1930, general imports less reexports; beginning 1935, imports for consumption.

[1] Prior to 1950, represents all spindles in place used exclusively for spinning cotton; thereafter, represents all spindles in place regardless of fiber spun.

[2] Prior to 1950, represents sum of greatest number of cotton spindles reported by each mill as active at any time during year, regardless of length of time operated; thereafter, comprises cotton-system spindles active last day of year, regardless of type of fiber spun. On Aug. 3, 1963, there were 15,688,000 spindles active on cotton, 1,509,000 on synthetics, 1,437,000 on other fibers and blends, and 668,000 idle.

[3] Includes foreign and domestic cotton.

[4] Cotton stocks prior to 1940 and linters stocks for all years are stocks held by consuming establishments. Cotton stocks beginning in 1940 include stocks at public storage and compresses.

[1] Scoured basis.
[2] January 1.
[3] Price received by farmers. Weighted season average, 1946 to date. Season April–March for all years except 1963, which is April–December.
[4] Includes an allowance for wool under loan.
[5] Actual weight. Imports for consumption. Carpet wool includes all duty-free wool and apparel wool includes all dutiable wool.
[6] 1946 excludes duty-free wool imported and stored in this country largely for the British Government, and later reexported; not available to domestic mills.
[7] Includes a small amount of carpet wool. From January 1952, reported on "clean content" basis only.
[8] Production, minus exports, plus imports; stocks not taken into consideration.

[1] Includes Alaska and Hawaii.
[2] Excludes 88,937 tons of natural rubber delivered from Government stockpiles for 1960, 25,770 tons for 1961, 56,097 tons for 1962, and 84,191 tons for 1963.
[3] Includes Alaska, Hawaii, and Puerto Rico. [4] Less than 0.5 long tons.
[5] Differences between "New supply" and "Distribution" not precisely comparable with "Stocks" due to year-end and inventory adjustments. [6] Includes stocks shipped for export which had not yet cleared port.

n. a. Not available.

[1] Excludes quantities of acetylene produced and consumed by railroad shops, shipyards, and small establishments using portable generators.

[2] Excludes quantities produced and consumed by municipalities.

[3] Excludes byproduct coke-oven production.

[4] Includes data for decolorizing and water purification grades only.

[5] Excludes quantities produced and consumed in plants manufacturing soda ash or urea.

[6] Total production, including quantities liquefied for use, storage, or shipment.

[7] Beginning 1955, excludes quantities produced and consumed in manufacture of methanol and ammonia, produced by ammonia dissociation process, or disposed of as waste, e.g., vented, used as fuel, etc.

[8] Ammonia soda and caustic carbonation processes.

[9] Includes quantities used to manufacture caustic soda, sodium bicarbonate, and finished light and dense soda ash.

[10] Excludes quantities converted to finished dense soda ash.

[11] Prior to 1960, includes amounts produced and consumed in making meta-ortho and sesquisilicates; beginning 1960, excludes these amounts.

[12] Includes Glauber's salt converted to 100% Na_2SO_4.

[13] Includes sulfuric acid of oleum grades.

Section 30

Distribution and Services

This section presents statistics relating to retail, wholesale, and service trades. Data shown for the distribution trades, classified by kind of business, and for the various categories of services (personal, business, repair, amusement, hotel, etc.) cover sales or receipts, establishments, employees, payrolls, proprietors, and other items. Also included are several tables on advertising expenditures.

The principal sources of these data are the reports of the Census of Business and of annual and monthly surveys conducted by the Bureau of the Census. Other important government sources containing data on particular aspects of the distribution and service trades are the monthly Federal Reserve Bulletin (department stores), issued by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, and the monthly Survey of Current Business (retail sales, wholesale inventories and sales, consumer expenditures for services, etc.), issued by the Office of Business Economics. Financial data for tax-filing and securities-listed corporations engaged in retail, wholesale, or service trades appear in the annual Statistics of Income, published by the Internal Revenue Service, and are also available from the Securities and Exchange Commission. The Federal Trade Commission, in the course of its investigations, collects operating statistics on firms and chains in various kinds of business.

Censuses and current surveys.—Censuses of business have been taken at intervals since 1929. The 1954 census was the first taken under present legislation, which provides for a quinquennial Census of Business. The latest census covers the year 1958.

Current sample surveys conducted by the Bureau of the Census cover various aspects of the retail and wholesale trades. The Bureau compiles monthly reports of sales and end-of-month accounts receivable of all retail stores and of retail organizations operating 11 or more stores, United States, by kind of business. Monthly sales of retail stores are provided for census regions and geographic divisions in limited kind-of-business detail; total retail sales are provided for the 9 largest States and for 5 standard metropolitan statistical areas. These data appear in the Monthly Retail Trade Report. Annual figures on sales, inventories, and receivables, classified by kind of business, are presented in the Annual Retail Trade Report.

Statistics from the Bureau's wholesale trade survey, conducted monthly, include merchant wholesalers' sales and inventories and stock–sales ratios by kind of business, United States, as well as sales and inventory trends by kind of business and by geographic divisions. Monthly sales estimates are also shown by geographic divisions for the summary groups—durable goods trades, nondurable goods trades, and all trades combined. These data, based on reports submitted by a sample of firms representing merchant wholesalers in all kinds of business, appear in the Monthly Wholesale Trade Report. The monthly retail and wholesale data are adjusted by the Bureau of the Census for seasonal variations and, in the case of sales, also for trading day differences. These data are also published in the Survey of Current Business.

The Bureau of the Census also compiles and issues current information on inventories of green coffee held and green coffee roasted by roasters, importers, and dealers and, in its Canned Food Report, on distributor stocks of various canned foods.

Estimates obtained from the annual and monthly surveys are based on sample data and are not expected to agree with the results that would be obtained from a complete census of all establishments. Measures of the sampling variability, shown in the source reports, exclude biases which might arise from differences of response or from nonreporting.

Establishments and coverage.—The business establishments covered in the Census of Business are classified into 3 groups as follows: (1) Retail trade, places of business primarily engaged in selling merchandise for personal, household, or farm consumption; (2) Wholesale trade, establishments primarily engaged in selling goods to dealers and distributors for resale or to purchasers who buy for business uses; and (3) Selected services, establishments engaged primarily in the sale of services as contrasted with the sale of merchandise.

The Census of Business does not include the business activities of doctors, lawyers, dentists, and others performing a professional or scientific service; educational institutions; religious or charitable institutions; hospitals and infirmaries; public utilities; and government-operated enterprises.

Data from the 1954 and 1958 censuses exclude retail and service establishments with no paid employment which had receipts of less than $2,500 and $1,000, respectively. Wholesale trade establishments with no paid employment are excluded.

Advertising.—The statistics on advertising expenditures are compiled by private organizations. McCann-Erickson, Inc., which compiles certain of the data shown, defines national advertising as the advertising done for companies whose products are distributed nationally, and for which national media rates are paid; and local advertising as the advertising done for companies which market their products locally and which may pay special "local" media rates. Monthly figures are published regularly in Printers' Ink and in the Survey of Current Business.

Alaska and Hawaii.—Statements specifying inclusion or exclusion of figures for Alaska and Hawaii appear in the headnotes to each table unless the inclusion or exclusion is self-evident.

Historical statistics.—Tabular headnotes provide cross-references, where applicable, to Historical Statistics of the United States, Colonial Times to 1957. See preface.

Section 31

Foreign Commerce and Aid

This section presents measures of the flow of goods, precious metals, services, and funds between the United States and other countries. These measures appear in summary in the balance of payments and in detail as dollar values of imports and exports of merchandise or commodities classified by countries of their origin or destination. Related aspects also shown are international investments, foreign assistance programs, and import duties.

The Office of Business Economics compiles and publishes current figures on the U.S. balance of payments and international investment position in its monthly Survey of Current Business, and on total foreign aid by the Federal Government in its periodic Foreign Grants and Credits by the United States Government. Figures for earlier periods are presented in Balance of Payments—Statistical Supplement, 1963 revised edition. Statistics for the foreign aid programs are compiled by the Agency for International Development, and appear in its quarterly Operations Report.

The principal sources of import and export data are publications of the Bureau of the Census. Current data are presented monthly in Report FT 125, United States Imports of Merchandise for Consumption, and in Report FT 410, United States Exports of Domestic and Foreign Merchandise. For a complete list of this Bureau's monthly, quarterly, and annual reports in this field, consult its Catalog of United States Foreign Trade Statistical Publications. In addition, the Treasury Department's Annual Report of the Secretary contains information on import duties.

International accounts and foreign aid.—The balance of payments table shows for given time periods the transfer of goods, services, grants, and financial assets and liabilities between the United States and the rest of the world or between the United States and a specific country or area.

The international investment position table presents for specific dates the value of U.S. investments abroad and of foreign investments in the United States. The movement of foreign and U.S. capital as presented in the balance of payments is not the only factor affecting the total value of foreign investments. Among the other factors are: Changes in the valuation of assets or liabilities, including securities; defaults; expropriations; write-offs; and reinvested earnings of subsidiaries operating abroad and of foreign subsidiaries operating in the United States.

Foreign assistance is divided into three major categories—grants (military supplies and services, and other grants), credits, and other assistance (through net accumulation of foreign currency claims from the sale of agricultural commodities). The U.S. Government's capital investments in the international financial institutions constitute an additional measure taken by the Government to promote foreign economic recovery, development, and financial stability.

Grants are transfers for which no payment is expected (other than a limited percentage of the foreign currency "counterpart" funds generated by the grant), or which at most involve an obligation on the part of the receiver to extend aid to the United States or other countries to achieve a common objective. Credits are loan disbursements or transfers under other agreements which give rise to specific obligations to repay, over a period of years, usually with interest. In some instances assistance has been given with the understanding that a decision as to repayment will be made at a later date; such assistance is included in grants. At such time as an agreement is reached for repayment over a period of years, a credit is established. Such credits cannot, as a rule, be deducted from specific grants recorded in previous periods; an adjustment for grants converted into credits is made at the time of agreement. All known returns to the U.S. Government stemming from grants and credits (reverse grants, returns of grants, and payments of principal) are taken into account in net grants and net credits, but no allowance is made for interest or commissions. Other assistance represents the transfer of U.S. farm products in exchange for foreign currencies, (plus, since enactment of Public Law 87–128, currency claims from principal and interest collected on credits extended under the farm products program), less the Government's disbursements of the currencies as grants, credits, or for purchases. The net acquisition of currencies represents net transfers of resources to foreign countries under the agricultural programs, in addition to those classified as grants or credits.

Figures as published in Foreign Grants and Credits by the United States Government are not identical with figures shown for Government unilateral transfers and capital in the balance of payments, mainly because of differences in treatment of particular items by the two sets of accounts. Such items include: Contributions to the multilateral construction program of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization; Government investments in certain productive enterprises abroad; Government receipts on funded claims; and net changes in foreign currency holdings resulting from transactions other than those under the farm products disposal program, such as by collection of principal and interest and by purchase for dollars.

The basic instrument for extending military aid to friendly nations has been the Mutual Defense Assistance Program authorized by the Congress in 1949. Prior to 1952, economic and technical aid was authorized by the Congress in the Foreign Assistance Act of 1948, the 1950 Act for International Development, and other legislation which set up programs for specific countries (e.g., Korea, Nationalist Government of China, etc.). In 1952, these economic, technical, and military aid programs were combined under the Mutual Security Act, which in turn was followed by the Foreign Assistance Act passed in 1961. Figures on activity under the Foreign Assistance Act as reported in Foreign Grants and Credits differ from similar data published by the Agency for International Development or its immediate predecessors, the International Cooperation Administration and the Development Loan Fund (now combined in the AID), due largely to differences in method of reporting, timing, and treatment of particular items.

Foreign trade.—Export data are compiled by the Bureau of the Census from Shippers' Export Declarations which exporters are required to file with Collectors of Customs for each shipment leaving the United States. Export data include shipments made after World War II under the Department of the Army Civilian Supply Program only for 1948 and subsequent years. In addition, export data include United States exports under the Lend-Lease, United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration, International Cooperation Administration, Mutual Defense Assistance, and other mutual security programs. Shipments to United States Armed Forces for their own use are not included in export statistics for any period.

Export values are based on the selling price (or on the cost, if not sold) of the commodity shipped and include inland freight, insurance, and other charges to place of export. Transportation and other costs beyond the United States port of exportation are excluded. The country of destination is defined as the country of ultimate destination or country where the merchandise is to be consumed, further processed, or manufactured. In the event the exporter does not have definite information as to the country of ultimate destination for a shipment, it is credited (for statistical purposes) to the country to which it is consigned.

Certain export commodity classifications were grouped for security reasons into special categories beginning with May 1949, with periodic amendments to include additional commodities. With the adoption of new security regulations, effective July 1950, the publication of the country of destination and Customs District detail for the special category commodities and groups was discontinued. Data for special category commodities are included, however, in all total export statistics.

Shipments individually valued at less than $100 are not classified by commodity, but are reported in a single separate category. From July 1953 through December 1959, a 10-percent sample was the basis for data on export shipments individually valued from $100 to $499 (about 4 to 6 percent of total exports) except that, for January through June 1956, the 10 percent applied to shipments valued up to $999. Beginning January 1960, the sample ratio was increased to 50 percent for all countries except Canada. Effective January 1963, the 10-percent sample for Canada was applied to shipments individually valued from $100 to $1,999. Unless otherwise noted, the margin of error in individual export totals due to sampling is probably less than 5 percent.

Import data are compiled by the Bureau of the Census from import entries (various Customs forms) which importers are required to file with Collectors of Customs for each shipment arriving. Import values are, in general, based on market or selling price excluding import duties and are f.o.b. the exporting country. The country of origin is defined as the country in which the merchandise was grown, mined, or manufactured. If the importer cannot obtain information as to the country of origin, the merchandise is credited (for statistical purposes) to the country of shipment.

Imports are classified either as general imports or imports for consumption. General imports represent total arrivals of imported goods (except for in-transit shipments), that is, merchandise released from Customs custody immediately upon arrival plus merchandise entered into a bonded storage warehouse, bonded manufacturing warehouse, and bonded refining warehouse immediately upon arrival. Imports for consumption comprise merchandise entered into U.S. consumption channels, that is, merchandise released from Customs custody immediately upon arrival, merchandise entered into a bonded manufacturing warehouse (other than smelting or refining warehouse), merchandise withdrawn from a bonded storage warehouse for release into domestic consumption channels, and imported ores and crude metals which have been processed in a bonded smelting warehouse, withdrawn for consumption or for reexport.

Beginning 1954, estimates of imports valued at $250 or less (about 1 percent of total import value) are based on a 5-percent sample; and beginning 1958, estimates of imports valued under $100 reported on formal consumption entries and imports reported on informal entries (limited to $250) are based on a 1-percent sample. These estimated import values are included in the overall totals and are distributed in the proper country totals but are excluded from detailed commodity statistics. For 1954–1957, the estimated values are also distributed in the appropriate commodity group, economic class, and district totals; beginning 1958, the estimates are summarized and arbitrarily included in the totals for the "miscellaneous" commodity group and the "finished manufactures" economic class. As a result of the change in the sampling procedure in 1958, the import values for 1958 and subsequent years for customs districts, commodity groups (except miscellaneous), and economic classes (except finished manufactures) are probably understated by no more than 5 percent; figures for "miscellaneous" commodity group are probably overstated by no more than from 10 to 15 percent, and for "finished manufactures" by no more than about 1 percent.

A description of the procedures used for compiling the foreign trade statistics appears in Report FT 125, United States Imports of Merchandise for Consumption, and Report FT 410, United States Exports of Domestic and Foreign Merchandise.

Except as noted, the values stated are in United States dollars without reference to changes in the gold content of the dollar.

Area coverage.—The geographic area covered by these statistics, except as noted, is the United States customs area, which includes Alaska, Hawaii, and Puerto Rico, and for 1935 through 1939, the Virgin Islands. "Conterminous area" refers to the United States excluding Alaska, Hawaii, and outlying areas.

No. 1214. Major U.S. Government Foreign Assistance, by Program: 1945 to 1963

[In millions of dollars. "P.L." means Public Law. Grants and credits are generally goods delivered or shipped by, services rendered by, or funds disbursed by U.S. Government to or for account of a foreign government or other foreign entity. "Reverse grants and returns" and "principal collections" are comprised of goods, services; and funds received by U.S. Government. "Assistance through net accumulation of foreign currency claims" primarily represents transfer of U.S. farm products in exchange for foreign currencies, (plus, since enactment of P. L. 87-128, principal and interest collections in foreign currencies for credits extended under the farm sales program), less the Government's disbursements of the currencies as grants, credits, or for purchases. "Funds" includes foreign currency which, with goods and services, is measured in dollar equivalents]

[1] July 1, 1945, through Dec. 31, 1963. All lend-lease and conversions of prior grants to credits are from V-J Day (Sept. 2, 1945). For additional details on immediate postwar period, see prior editions of the Statistical Abstract.

[2] For detail, see table 1216.

[3] Net new grants have not been adjusted for settlements for postwar relief and other grants under agreements, and net new credits exclude prior grants converted into credits. Prior grants converted into credits were as follows: July 1945–Dec. 1956, $2,257 million; 1962, $490 million. Repayments on these settlements included in net new credits. Technically, prior grants recorded into credits amounting to $273 million are so recorded for convenience, as settlements are still to be reached with governments in question.

[4] Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 (P.L. 87-195), as amended. Also includes predecessor and related programs.

[5] These "loans" are essentially transfers on an indeterminate basis, generally requiring only the return of the identical item, if available. In essence, this was the requirement pertaining to wartime lend-lease transfers of watercraft, which were included as grant transfers in these data.

[6] Agricultural Trade Development and Assistance Act.

[7] Includes donations through United Nations Children's Fund and United Nations Relief and Works Agency for Palestine Refugees. [8] Less than $500,000.

[9] Outstanding credits on Dec. 31, 1963, totaled $15,796 million representing net credits extended since organization of Export-Import Bank, Feb. 12, 1934, less chargeoffs, and net adjustments due to exchange rates ($187,983,000), and excluding World War I debts. The amount repayable in dollars at U.S. Government option was $11,810 million; the remainder was repayable in foreign currencies, commodities, or services, at the option of the borrowers.

[10] Equivalent value of currencies still available to be used, including $1 million advanced from foreign governments and after loss by exchange rate fluctuations ($620 million), was $2,785 million on Dec. 31, 1963.

[11] Commodity Credit Corporation Charter Act.

[12] Includes foreign currencies acquired from triangular trade operations and principal and interest collections on credits, originally extended under Public Law 83-480, which—since enactment of Public Law 87-128—are available for the same purposes as Public Law 83-480 currencies.

[1] Military assistance programs chargeable to appropriations; totals exclude grants from stocks which are excess to requirements of U.S. military departments and are not charged to appropriations. Annual data for military assistance and excess stocks are net deliveries; cumulative totals represent total amounts programmed for 1950–1963. The difference between the sum of the data by years and the cumulative total is the value of goods programmed but not yet delivered.

[1] Effective Jan. 1950, exports of certain commodities were grouped into Special Categories for security reasons. Data for 1957 and subsequent years reflect changes made in list of Special Category commodities during 1957. Also, data for all periods reflect the declassification during 1960 of certain aviation fuels previously classified as Special Category commodities.

[1] Percents based on quantity are considerably lower than those based on value (see source).

[2] Exports exclude rice flour, meal and polishing, and rice mill feeds; include private shipments for relief and charity amounting to $21.5 million for 1960 and $.1 million for 1962.

[3] The volume of imports exceeds that of exports for this commodity group.

[4] Exports include ink or color blacks.

[5] Percents are based on data for refined copper and alloys.

[6] For 1960, includes parts and attachments for wheel tractors.

[7] Exports exclude miscellaneous type machines, such as coin handling and voting booths.

[8] For 1960, exports include some used and rebuilt sewing machines and machines and parts which are not included in output.

[9] Percents based on output representing values of work done for complete aircraft and shipments of aircraft engines. Output also includes substantial amounts of duplication.

[10] Exports exclude hospital furniture and small items, such as chart racks, bed rests, etc.

n.a. Not available. [1] Substantial volume also exported.
[2] Includes manganiferous iron ore (less than 10 percent manganese). [3] Not obtainable; 1958 percent, 50.
[4] Not obtainable; 1958 percent, 38. [5] Excludes refined anhydrous sulfate and salt cake (crude) technical.
[6] Not obtainable; 1958 percent, 81. [7] Based on output which contains substantial duplication.
[8] Excludes distillers' dried grain and dried solubles.
[9] Mainly coconut, tung, oiticica, and castor oil. [10] Excludes excelsior and cooperage heading.
[11] Excludes paper-machine coated paper. [12] Probably includes significant amounts of plastic footwear.
[13] Output data represent all leather gloves; imports represent chief value of leather.
[14] Not calculated because of duplication involved in combined output figures; minimum percent, 20.
[15] Does not reflect significant amounts of toll production. [16] Represents mainly platinum metals and tin.

[1] "Manufactured foodstuffs" includes beverages and, from 1941 through 1957, all exports of foodstuffs for relief or charity. Beginning 1958, exports of crude foodstuffs for relief or charity included with "Crude foodstuffs" and manufactured with "Manufactured foodstuffs."

[2] For security reasons, a small amount of semimanufactures included with finished manufactures beginning 1950.

[3] "General imports" through 1932, "imports for consumption" thereafter.

[1] Effective January 1950, exports of Special Category commodities are not reported by country of destination, for security reasons. Therefore, data in this table do not represent total exports to the respective countries and areas, but total exports less Special Category commodities. See July 1955, June, August, and December 1957, and April 1958 issues of Foreign Trade Statistics Notes and January 1961 Report No. FT 410 for further explanation and lists of Special Category commodities.

[2] Sampling error is not greater than $11,000 to $15,000.

[3] Sampling error is not greater than 2 to 5 percent.

[4] Sampling error is not greater than 5 to 10 percent.

[5] Sampling error is not greater than $27,240 to $31,320.

[6] Less than $500.

[7] The Saar included with France prior to July 1958; with West Germany thereafter.

[8] Country designations established January 1952; data for 1950 represent combined trade with East and West Germany.

No. 1230. Exports of U.S. Merchandise and Imports—Indexes of Quantity, Unit Price, and Value: 1946 to 1963

[1957–59 average=100. For area coverage, see text, p. 851. Quantity and unit price indexes were constructed on a preceding year base and chained into the series shown below. The calculations were made in accordance with Fisher's "ideal formula," using both the weights of the given year and those of the preceding (or base) year. Indexes were based on selected commodities which were assigned weights within each of the economic classes. Commodities for which quantities and unit prices did not directly enter the compulations were taken into account in the weighting on the assumption that proportionate changes in their prices were similar to that of the selected commodities directly covered in the same economic class or subdivision. See Historical Statistics, Colonial Times to 1957, series U 21–44, for indexes on a 1913- and 1923–25 base]

No. 1231. Exports of Manufactures—Estimated Value, by Selected Product Groups, by States: 1960

[In millions of dollars, f.o.b., factory prices. State distribution estimated by the Office of Business Economics and the Bureau of International Commerce, Department of Commerce, based largely on results of a 1960 Census establishment report on exports. The establishment reports provided a geographic distribution for approximately two-thirds of the $15.4 billion total. Product groups represent SIC two-digit groups. For further details, including relation to official United States export figures, see source]

No. 1232. Total Employment and Employment Attributable to Exports, by Industry: 1960

[In thousands, except percent. Includes Alaska and Hawaii. Value of exports converted to employment in the private economy by (1) assigning commodity exports to the producing industry, (2) deriving indirect output required for these exports from each of the export supporting industries, and (3) converting direct and indirect output requirements into employment by using output per employee ratios. Export statistics used in deriving direct employment estimates were adjusted to a domestic U.S. basis by including exports to Puerto Rico and excluding exports from Puerto Rico to foreign countries. Employment estimates provide general indicators rather than precise figures. For description of methods and sources used in making estimates, see source]

[1] Farm employment estimates for 1960 from Farm Labor, Dept. of Agriculture, and Census of Agriculture, Dept. of Commerce, Bureau of the Census; manufacturing employment estimates from 1959 Survey of Manufactures, Dept. of Commerce, Bureau of the Census; employment for remaining industry groups based on 1960 employment estimates by the Dept. of Labor, Bureau of Labor Statistics, contained in Employment and Earnings, November 1961.

[2] Covers employment in producing, transporting, and marketing goods in form in which exported. Employment required for transportation of goods is included in transportation industry; for marketing, in trade industry.

[3] Covers employment in supporting industries which produce, transport, and market materials, parts, components, etc., used to make the products which are exported.

[4] Covers all nonfarm wage and salary employment (excluding government) and total employment on farms, including farm operators, family workers, and employees. May exceed actual number of persons employed because of dual job-holding.

[5] Includes exports of major military end items such as military vehicles, aircraft, ships, and ordnance, including small arms and ammunition. Of the total military direct employment of 65.9 thousand workers, about 39.6 are in transportation equipment industry group and 26.3 in ordnance and miscellaneous manufacturing.

[6] Indirect employment required to produce major military exports was estimated as an overall figure and could not be distributed to the individual industry groups. For this reason, the indirect employment shown refers to indirect employment in the industries supplying materials, parts, components, etc., to the military goods industries; and estimates of indirect employment in each of the supporting industries and the share of industry employment attributable to exports are understated.

[7] Covers utilities, communications, all business services, forestry, fisheries, agricultural services, and contract construction.

[8] Employment required to replace plant and equipment used up in the course of producing, transporting, and marketing the goods exported from the United States was estimated as an overall total and could not be distributed to individual industry groups. Because employment could not be distributed to machinery and construction industries, and supporting industries, estimates of indirect employment in each of these industries are understated.

No. 1236. Imports of Merchandise, Free and Dutiable, and Percent Free, by Economic Classes: 1921 to 1963

[In millions of dollars, except percent. For basis of dollar values and for area coverage, see text, p. 851. Data are "general imports" through 1933; "imports for consumption" thereafter. Percent free in general imports is normally slightly lower than in imports for consumption because more dutiable general imports than free general imports are reported as reexported. Moreover, in the period 1922–1933, there is an understatement of free goods in general imports because for 1922 to 1933, carpet wool used for making carpets, and for 1922 to 1928, wheat imported for milling in bond for exports were reported as dutiable when entered, although no duty was ultimately paid on these products]

Section 32

Outlying Areas Under the Jurisdiction of the United States

This section presents summary statistics on the industrial, social, and agricultural organization of the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, the principal possessions of the United States (Virgin Islands, Guam, and American Samoa), and the Canal Zone. Population estimates of the Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands are also presented.

Primary sources of these data are the decennial censuses of population, housing, and agriculture, and the quinquennial censuses of business and manufactures conducted by the Bureau of the Census; the annual Vital Statistics of the United States issued by the Public Health Service; the biennial Statistics of State School Systems published by the Office of Education; the Minerals Yearbook of the Bureau of Mines; and the annual Agricultural Statistics of the Department of Agriculture.

Jurisdiction.—The circumstances under which the United States gained jurisdiction over these areas are as follows:

The islands of Puerto Rico and Guam, surrendered by Spain to the United States in October 1898, were ceded to the United States by the Treaty of Paris, signed December 10, 1898, and ratified in 1899. Puerto Rico acquired the status of a commonwealth on July 25, 1952.

The Virgin Islands, formerly known as the Danish West Indies, were purchased by the United States from Denmark in 1917.

American Samoa was acquired by the United States in accordance with a convention among the United States, Great Britain, and Germany, signed December 2, 1899, and ratified February 16, 1900.

The use, occupation, and control of the Canal Zone were granted to the United States under the terms of a treaty with the Republic of Panama, signed November 18, 1903, and ratified in 1904.

The Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands is comprised of 2,141 atolls and islands, 96 of which are inhabited. This territory, formerly under Japanese mandate, was placed under the United Nations trusteeship system by an agreement approved by the Security Council on April 27, 1947, and by the United States on July 18, 1947.

For a brief summary of the territorial development of the United States, see tables 4 and 226 in sections 1 and 6, respectively.

Censuses.—Because of differences in the population and housing characteristics and the varieties of agricultural products among the outlying areas, the presentation of census data is not uniform for all areas. However, the tables in this section give, as nearly as possible, comparable data for the areas. The 1960 Census of Population covered all of the places listed above except the Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands (the census of which was conducted in April 1958 by the Office of the High Commissioner), whereas the 1960 Census of Housing covered only Puerto Rico, Guam, and the Virgin Islands. The 1959 Census of Agriculture covered Puerto Rico, American Samoa, Guam, and the Virgin Islands; the 1964 Census will cover the same areas except American Samoa. Censuses of Business and Manufactures were conducted in Puerto Rico for 1954, 1958, and 1963, and in Guam and the Virgin Islands for 1958 and 1963. A Census of Mineral Industries was conducted in Puerto Rico for 1963, and in Guam and the Virgin Islands for both 1958 and 1963. Results from the 1963 Censuses are not yet available but will be presented in the next edition of the Abstract.

For definition and explanation of terms used, see section 1, Population; section 23, Agriculture—Farms, Land, and Finances; section 24, Agriculture—Production, Marketing, and Trade; section 28, Construction and Housing; section 29, Manufactures; and section 30, Distribution and Services.

Information in other sections.—In addition to the specialized statistics presented in this section, other data are included as integral parts of many tables showing distribution by States in various sections of the Abstract.

Section 33

Comparative International Statistics

This section presents summary statistics on the industrial, social, and agricultural organization of the various nations and on finances of international agencies.

The principal source for the data presented in this section is the United Nations Statistical Yearbook. Statistics of the individual nations may be found primarily in official publications or compendia, generally in the form of yearbooks, issued by most of the nations at various intervals in their own national languages, expressed in their own or customary units of measure. For handier reference, especially for international comparisons, the Statistical Office of the United Nations compiles and issues a number of international summary publications, generally in English and French. Among these are the Statistical Yearbook, the Demographic Yearbook, the Yearbook of International Trade Statistics, the Yearbook of National Accounts Statistics, Population and Vital Statistics Reports (quarterly), the Monthly Bulletin of Statistics, and in 1963, The Growth of World Industry: National Tables, 1938–1960. For foreign agricultural and labor statistics, the outstanding sources are the Yearbook of Food and Agricultural Statistics, issued by the Food and Agriculture Organization, and the Yearbook of Labour Statistics, issued by the International Labour Office; both are specialized agencies of the United Nations. These publications usually present data covering an extensive period of time, frequently up to 20 years. The International Population Statistics Reports, Series P–90 and P–91, issued by the Bureau of the Census, also present population figures for many foreign countries.

Statistical coverage.—Problems of space and availability of data limit the number of countries and the extent of statistical coverage shown here. The list of countries included is based on, but not limited to, the membership rosters of the United Nations and of the larger specialized agencies of the United Nations (see table 1279). In a few instances, member countries were omitted because of an almost complete lack of data.

The items selected for presentation here are believed to be among those most significant. However, certain important items, such as those on national income, are omitted because of the inability to convert the available statistics, stated in terms of the national currencies, to meaningful consistency in United States measures.

OECD, EEC, and EFTA.—The Organisation for European Economic Cooperation (OEEC), a regional grouping of Western European countries established in 1948 for the purpose of harmonizing national economic policies and conditions, was succeeded on September 30, 1961, by the Organisation for Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD). The OECD consists of the member nations of the former OEEC—Austria, Belgium, Denmark, France, Germany (Federal Republic), Greece, Iceland, Ireland, Italy, Luxembourg, the Netherlands, Norway, Portugal, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, Turkey, and the United Kingdom—and also Canada and the United States.

The European Economic Community (EEC), or "Common Market," consisting of Belgium, France, Germany (Federal Republic), Italy, Luxembourg, and the Netherlands, was formed in 1958 for the purpose of promoting European economic integration. It is based on agreement among the member nations to stimulate their economic growth, primarily through the gradual elimination of trade barriers among themselves, the establishment of a common external tariff, the coordination of monetary, fiscal, and agricultural policies, and the removal of restrictions on movement of services, labor, capital, and business enterprises within the community.

The European Free Trade Association (EFTA), established in late 1959, consists of Austria, Denmark, Norway, Portugal, Sweden, Switzerland, and the United Kingdom. It represents an agreement among the member nations to promote free trade and economic cooperation in Europe through gradual elimination of tariffs and quotas among themselves but without establishment of a common external tariff.

Quality and comparability of the data.—The quality and the comparability of the data presented here are affected by a number of factors:

(1) The year for which data are presented may not be the same for all subjects for a particular country, or for a given subject for different countries, though the data shown are the most recent available. All such variations have been noted as explained in table headnotes. The data shown are for calendar years except as otherwise stated in headnotes or footnotes. Space limitations made it impracticable to present the data for a series of years except for population, indexes of per capita product, agriculture, and gold and foreign exchange holdings.

(2) The bases, methods of estimating, methods of data collection, extent of coverage, precision of definition, scope of territory, and margins of error may vary for different items within a particular country, and for like items for different countries. Footnotes and headnotes to the tables give some of the qualifications attached to the figures. Limits of space made necessary some condensation and editing of the more detailed notes appearing in the source. Careful analysis is required, therefore, since many of the measures shown are, at best, merely rough indicators of magnitude.

(3) Figures shown in this section for the United States may not always agree with figures shown in the preceding sections. Disagreements may be attributable to the use of differing original sources, a difference in the definition of geographic limits (conterminous United States only, or including Alaska and Hawaii or certain outlying areas and possessions), or to possible adjustments made in the United States figures by the United Nations in order to improve their comparability with figures from other countries.

Conversion factors.—To facilitate comparison in terms of familiar units, items shown in metric units in the source have been converted to U.S. equivalents by means of the conversion factors given in the Statistical Yearbook and shown below. Additional conversion factors appear in Appendix I, Weights and Measures, pages 944 and 945.

CONVERSION FACTORS

No. 1258. Area and Population

[For many countries, figures are provisional. Basis and level of reliability of population estimates range from use of a continuous population register (Scandinavian countries) and census enumerations for a recent date (most countries) to noncensal counts or partial censuses (Indonesia, Lebanon, Syria, Viet-Nam), and conjectural estimates derived by other means than counting (Ethiopia, Liberia, and Saudi Arabia). Data, in general, refer to present-in-area population of the present territory. Area generally includes inland waters. See text, p. 904, for general comments concerning quality of the data]

[1] Italics denote population census figure or sample survey relating to date of enumeration.
[2] Based on 1962 or latest year available. [3] Includes Alaska and Hawaii.
[4] Excludes Armed Forces abroad, estimated at 609,720, and civilian citizens absent from country for extended period of time, estimated at 764,701. [5] Excludes personnel in military establishments.
[6] Actually enumerated; excludes adjustment for underenumeration.
[7] Excludes full-blooded aborigines, and armed forces stationed outside country. [8] Appears to be overestimated in relation to results of latest census.
[9] Not computed because of lack of comparability between estimates. [10] Excludes Indian jungle population.
[11] Excludes area of frontier rivers. [12] Appears to be underestimated in relation to results of latest census (or sample survey).
[13] Estimate for indigenous population based on results of a sample survey.
[14] Indigenous population only. [15] Excludes foreign diplomatic personnel and their dependents.
[16] Based on provisional results of a sample survey covering 3,460 villages, and supplemented by administrative reports. [17] Excludes nonresident military and shipping personnel. [18] Nonindigenous population only.
[19] Population registered plus estimate of 8,397,447 for persons living in outlying areas. No adjustment for underenumeration. [20] For Dec. 31, 1957. [21] Comprises islands of Taiwan and Pescadores.
[22] Includes Quemoy and Matsu Islands. [23] Excludes armed forces and foreigners.
[24] Includes adjustment for underenumeration. [25] Includes adjustment for certain areas not covered by survey.
[26] Excludes persons living in sovereign bases and other areas retained by the United Kingdom after independence, and tourists. [27] Estimated. Based on results of a sample survey.
[28] Excludes Faeroe Islands and overseas County of Greenland.
[29] Metropolitan France only. Includes military personnel stationed outside Metropolitan France.
[30] Excludes 38,000 military personnel outside country with no personal residence in France. Estimated total, including these, but with certain other modifications, is 46,528,000. [31] Based on a 5-percent sample of census returns.
[32] Includes armed forces stationed outside country, but excludes alien armed forces stationed in area.
[33] Excludes armed forces stationed outside country, but includes alien armed forces stationed in area.
[34] Based on a 2-percent sample of census returns.
[35] Based on results of a sample survey covering approximately 300,000 persons of both sexes.
[36] Includes Andaman, Nicobar, Laccadive, Minicoy, and Aminidivi Islands; excludes Sikkim; also excludes Kashmir-Jammu, the final status of which has not yet been determined (area 86,023 square miles, population of the part of this area enumerated at 1961 census of India was 3,560,976, and estimated at 3,481,000 at midyear 1958 and 3,601,000 at midyear 1962); includes Goa, Daman, and Diu, known as Portuguese India prior to being nationally united with India in December 1961 (area 1,426 square miles, population estimated at 626,667 at time of 1961 census of India). [37] Excludes West Irian. [38] Population figures include nationals abroad.
[39] Population figures exclude diplomatic personnel outside country and allied military and civilian personnel and their dependents stationed in area. [40] Excludes foreign military and diplomatic personnel and their families in the country. [41] Excludes military personnel and their dependents living on military installations, and foreigners except registered Palestinian refugees. [42] Population figures exclude alien armed forces, civilian aliens employed by armed forces, and foreign diplomatic personnel and their dependents.
[43] Population figures for Lebanese nationals only; excludes registered Palestinian refugees.
[44] Population figures exclude alien armed forces stationed in area. [45] 1958–61.
[46] Population excludes transients afloat. [47] Excludes rural population of the province of Tarfaya.
[48] Population figures exclude diplomatic personnel and armed forces stationed outside country and alien armed forces within the country. [49] Based on results of 1959–60 demographic sample survey and excludes population of agglomeration of Niamey (numbering 122,672 at census of April 1959).
[50] Excludes Kashmir-Jammu, Gilgit, Baltistan, Junagardh, and Manavadar.
[51] Estimates exclude foreigners; and census data probably also exclude a number of nomads. [52] Excludes Canal Zone.
[53] Population figures exclude civilian aliens in country and include civilian nationals temporarily outside country.
[54] Includes Azores and Madeira Islands. [55] Based on results of a sample survey.
[56] For former Italian Somaliland. [57] Excludes Walvis Bay. [58] Includes Balearic and Canary Islands.
[59] Based on results of sample census of population covering 1,883,380 persons, comprising 10 percent of rural and nomadic population and 100 percent of that in 68 towns.
[60] Excludes Palestine refugees numbering 115,321 in 1958, and 133,951 in 1962.
[61] Population figures exclude non-African armed forces.
[62] Excludes Algerian refugees temporarily in the country. [63] Excludes population of small agglomerations in the frontier districts. [64] Excludes Channel Islands and Isle of Man.
[65] Estimates based on results of sample survey of 226 villages (covering 183,963 persons) and 12 urban centers surveyed on a 10-percent basis; figures exclude an estimate of 100,000 persons for towns of Ouagadougou (numbering 59,000 at census in 1961) and Bobo-Dioulasso (estimated at 51,500 in 1959) not covered by survey.
[66] North Viet-Nam only.

No. 1259. Vital Statistics and Net Food Supply

[Crude birth rates, infant mortality rates, and death rates derived from data having complete or virtually complete coverage for many countries and incomplete coverage for others. For many countries, data are known to be by year of registration rather than by year of occurrence. Crude birth rate: Number of live births per 1,000 persons. Crude death rate: Number of deaths, exclusive of stillbirths, per 1,000 persons. Infant mortality rate: Deaths of infants under 1 year of age per 1,000 live births. Data exclude stillbirths. Net food supply: net supply of foodstuffs, other than alcoholic beverages, available within the country for human consumption. Cereals in terms of flour and milled rice; potatoes include sweet potatoes, cassava, etc. and potato, manioc, and other root flour in terms of potatoes, cassava, etc.; meat (including offal, poultry, and game) in terms of carcass weight, excluding slaughter fats. See text, p. 904, for general comments concerning quality of the data. Years for which data are shown may vary from column to column and from country to country. Figures which are not for the year shown in the "year" column are prefixed by a letter to indicate the year represented as follows: c, 1952; i, 1958; l, 1961; m, 1962]

[1] Refers to crop year beginning in year indicated except as noted. All commodities index comprises food, fibers, tobacco, industrial oil seeds, rubber, tea, and coffee. Food index relates to production of crops and livestock products for human consumption. Based on 1952–56 price relationship to the country production figures. Deduction made for feed and seed in production process.

[2] Refers, in general, to salaried employees and wage earners in manufacturing (excluding public utilities, building, and other construction). [3] In many instances, represents index only for principal city (or cities) of particular country. [4] General wholesale price index numbers usually weighted by gross value of sales on wholesale markets. [5] As of 1st quarter of 1963, except as noted. Indexes based primarily on common shares traded on leading exchange or exchanges of each country, and intended to cover representative sample of companies in manufacturing, mining, and construction fields. In some cases, where an index of industrial shares is not available, a general index, including shares of companies in transportation, distribution, and finance fields, is reported.

[6] Excludes Albania, Bulgaria, China (mainland), Czechoslovakia, Eastern Germany, Hungary, Mongolia, North Korea, North Viet-Nam, Poland, Romania, and the U.S.S.R. [7] Excludes Alaska and Hawaii, except as noted.

[1] Census data, including unemployed, except as noted. [2] Comprises utilities (publicly and privately owned) generating primarily for public use, plus industrial establishments generating primarily for own use. Relates to production at generating centers; includes station use and transmission losses.

[3] Based on apparent consumption of coal, lignite, petroleum products, natural gas, and hydro-electricity.

[4] Relates to production (incl. repair work) in factories; excludes mining, building and construction, and public utilities (gas, electricity, and water supply).

[5] Single plants or factories. [6] Comprises average number of paid employees, working proprietors, unpaid family workers, and homeworkers, except as noted. [7] Covers merchandise including silver (exc. current silver coin), excluding gold and issued paper currency. Imports generally valued c.i.f.; exports, f.o.b. Generally, postal and governmental trade included, war reparations and restitutions excluded. See source for "general trade" or "special trade" category distinctions. Roughly half the countries fall into each category, thus affecting comparability.

[8] Excludes trade of China (mainland), Mongolia, North Korea, and North Viet-Nam with one another.

[9] Excludes Alaska and Hawaii, except as noted.

[10] 14 years old and over. [11] Actually enumerated; excludes adjustment for underenumeration, and Armed Forces overseas.

[12] Net production (excludes station use). [13] Establishments with 1 or more employees, except those engaged in manufacturing or repairing for retail trade. Includes logging. Beginning 1958, includes Alaska and Hawaii. [14] Paid employees.

[15] F.o.b. [16] Includes Alaska, Hawaii, and Puerto Rico. Exports also include foreign aid. [17] Estimated. U.S. includes Armed Forces abroad.

[18] Includes Hawaii. [19] Excludes homeworkers and/or unpaid family workers. [20] For 1 period.

[21] Excludes full-blooded aborigines and armed forces outside country. [22] Establishments with 4 or more engaged or with installed power equipment.

[23] Includes stone quarrying, photography, film copying, and photostating. Excludes establishments in publishing or those administered by the Soviet Occupation Authority. [24] Luxembourg included with Belgium. [25] Enterprises with 1 or more employees.

[26] 10 years old and over. [27] Actually enumerated; excludes adjustment for underenumeration and for tribal Indians.

[28] Public utility plants. New Zealand includes small net purchases from private plants. [29] Excludes Indian jungle population. [30] Excludes unemployed.

[31] Establishments with 5 or more employees. [32] Excludes Yukon and Northwest territories, armed services, and Indians living on reserves. [33] Excludes nonresident military and shipping personnel, and unpaid family workers.

[34] Establishments with 5 or more engaged.

[35] 12 years old and over. [36] Excludes unpaid family workers and unemployed. [37] Excludes government cooperatives and itinerant and part-time household activities.

[38] Includes foreign aid. [39] Includes unemployed at time of census and unpaid family workers who devoted over one-third of year to assist head of family.

[40] Excludes armed forces and unpaid family workers.

[41] Based on sample.

[42] Excludes Faeroe Islands and Greenland. [43] 7 years old and over. [44] Establishments with 5 or more engaged, gross value of production of 100,000 sucres or more, or value of fixed assets of 200,000 sucres.

[45] Includes French officials and their families in Germany and Austria, and those on compulsory military service overseas. [46] All privately owned establishments except coking and briquetting plants.

[47] Includes the Saar. [48] Establishments with 10 or more engaged. Excludes coking, coal briquetting, stone quarrying, laundries, and dry cleaning.

[49] Results of pilot census; excludes garrisoned armed forces. [50] Establishments with 10 or more employees. [51] Establishments with 3 or more employees.

[52] Excludes 84 diplomatic personnel outside country.

[53] 8 years old and over. Actually enumerated; excludes adjustment for underenumeration. [54] All publicly owned enterprises. Includes stone quarrying and water works; excludes coal briquetting. [55] Establishments subject to Accident Compensation Act.

[56] Work years=50 work weeks.

[57] Includes Sikkim; excludes Kashmir-Jammu, tribal areas of Assam, and settlements of Karikal, Mahé, Pondichéry, and Yanoan. Excludes census schedules destroyed by fire and 1.1 percent adjustment for underenumeration.

[58] Establishments with 50 or more workers if using power and 100 or more if not using power. [59] Establishments with 50 or more engaged or capacity of 5 or more h.p. of installed power equipment. [60] For year beginning March 21. [61] Consumption.

[62] Excludes petroleum refining. [63] For year beginning April 1. [64] Includes peat.

[65] Excludes Bedouins in the Negev, and persons in compulsory military service. [66] Establishments with 1 or more employees. Excludes abattoirs and ordnance manufacturing.

[1] Excludes lignite and brown coal, except as noted.
[2] Source presents data in metric tons. Conversion of data to barrels allows for differences in specific gravity of petroleum. Figures refer to crude petroleum including shale oil, but excluding natural gasoline.
[3] Covers, as far as possible, all hydraulic cements used for construction (portland, metallurgic, aluminous, natural, etc.).
[4] Data generally refer to iron content of marketable ores mined, including manganiferous iron ores but excluding pyrites. Data are sometimes only rough estimates obtained by applying a fixed percentage to figures for production of crude ores.
[5] Data expressed in terms of pure (monohydrate) sulfuric acid and include sulfuric acid equivalent of oleum or "fuming" acid.
[6] Total production of crude steel, both ingots and steel for castings. Excludes wrought (puddled) iron.
[7] Data represent apparent consumption (i.e., production plus imports minus exports) and do not take into account changes in stocks.
[8] Excludes China (mainland) and North Korea. Production of crude iron ore (iron content 50-60%) in China (mainland) was approximately 38,581,000 short tons in 1962. Production of crude iron ore (iron content not available) in North Korea was approximately 3,808,000 short tons in 1961.
[9] Excludes Alaska and Hawaii.
[10] Excludes manganiferous iron ores containing 5 percent more of manganese.
[11] Includes government-owned but privately operated plants.
[12] Ingots only.
[13] For year ending June 30.
[14] Excludes natural cement.
[15] Luxembourg included with Belgium.
[16] Excludes alloy steels.
[17] Shipments from mines.
[18] Strength of acid not reported.
[19] Includes lignite.
[20] Includes Manchuria.
[21] Excludes sulfuric acid for superphosphate production.
[22] Low-grade coal has been included at its hard-coal equivalent.
[23] Includes the Saar.
[24] For year beginning April 1.
[25] Includes iron content of iron sand.
[26] Svalbard; Norwegian-operated mines only.
[27] Entirely shale oil.
[28] Great Britian only; excludes coal produced at quarries but includes open-cast coal.
[29] North Viet-Nam.

[1] Figures relate to merchant fleets on June 30. They are given in gross registered tons (see text, p. 584). Only vessels of 100 gross tons and over are included. Excludes vessels without mechanical means of propulsion, but includes sailing vessels with auxiliary power. Excludes ships trading on Caspian Sea, not entered in Lloyd's Register.

[2] In general, represents sum of net registered tonnages (see text, p. 584) of seagoing foreign and domestic merchant vessels (power and sailing) entered with cargo from a foreign port and refers to only one entrance for each foreign voyage. Excludes, if possible, "in ballast," i.e. entering without unloading goods.

[3] Represents weight of all goods (including their packing) in external trade loaded to and unloaded from seagoing vessels of all flags at ports of country in question. Excludes bunkers, ships, stores, ballast, and transshipment (goods transshipped from an importing vessel to an exporting vessel). Includes goods unloaded into or loaded from bonded warehouse.

[4] Relates to domestic and international traffic on all railway lines within each country shown except railways entirely within an urban unit and plantation, industrial mining, funicular and cable railways. Passenger miles include all passengers except military, government, and railway personnel when carried without revenue; ton miles relate to freight net ton miles and include all goods whether carried by fast or ordinary trains except service traffic, mail, baggage and nonrevenue government stores.

[5] Covers both domestic and international scheduled services operated by companies registered in each country. Includes supplementary services occasioned by overflow traffic on regularly scheduled trips and preparatory flights for new scheduled services.

[6] For years in which a census of registration took place, census of registration figure is shown; for other years officially estimated number of vehicles in use is shown. Includes passenger cars and commercial vehicles. Excludes 2- or 3-wheeled cycles and motorcycles, trams, trolley buses, ambulances, hearses, military vehicles, police and special purpose or government security vehicles, trailers, and farm tractors.

[7] Includes Great Lakes. [8] After time adjustment will be approximately the same as unloaded.

[9] Excludes China (mainland), U.S.S.R., and other countries which were not members of International Civil Aviation Organization as of Dec. 31, 1962.

[10] Excludes Albania, Bulgaria, China (mainland), Czechoslovakia, Eastern Germany, Hungary, North Korea, North Viet-Nam, Romania, and U.S.S.R.

[11] Excludes Alaska and Hawaii except as otherwise noted. [12] U.S. customs area. Includes Great Lakes international traffic; includes Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico. [13] Includes transshipments. [14] Excludes import shipments on Army and Navy transports.

[15] Includes police and government security organization vehicles. [16] Includes Alaskan airlines.

[17] Includes Alaska and Hawaii. [18] Includes vessels in ballast. [19] Excludes transit traffic and packing.

[20] Excludes reexports. [21] Includes mail and passengers' baggage. Venezuela also includes bullion.

[22] Government railways. For year ending June 30.

[23] Includes ambulances and hearses. Australia includes special purpose vehicles. Canada includes trolley buses, military, and special purpose vehicles.

[24] Federal railways.

[25] National railways. [26] Excludes vehicles exempt from taxation. [27] Includes non-scheduled and/or nonrevenue operations. [28] All entrances counted.

[29] Excludes transit traffic, packing, and certain government goods. [30] Includes goods imported and exported other than by sea. [31] Includes service traffic. Ethiopia also includes baggage. [32] Includes vessels trading on Great Lakes (1,271,000 gross tons). [33] Includes Great Lakes and St. Lawrence international traffic. [34] Includes Newfoundland. [35] Principal railways. [36] Ferrocarril del Norte only. [37] Excludes international ferry traffic.

[38] Includes apportionment of international operations of Scandinavian Airways System.

[39] Includes coastwise shipping. [40] Ports of Massawa and Assab. [41] Includes French Somaliland portion of Djibouti-Addis Ababa line. [42] Excludes diplomatic vehicles.

[43] Includes the Saar. [44] Includes trolley buses.

[45] Includes government traffic. Greece includes military.

[46] Excludes packing. [47] Includes special purpose vehicles.

[48] Includes bunkers and/or ships' stores.

[49] Includes military vehicles, hearses, and ambulances.

[50] Includes Caspian Sea traffic. For year beginning March 21. [51] Excludes tankers and petroleum loaded (8.7 million tons) in 1962.

[52] Excludes livestock. [53] Excludes minor railways.

[54] Excludes petroleum. [55] Excludes military and charity goods and transit traffic. Includes imports and exports by air parcel post, and trade in ships delivered as goods without being loaded on other ships.

[56] Port of Beirut only. [57] Includes Iraqi and Saudi Arabian petroleum loaded at Sidon and Tripoli (32.5 million tons) in 1962.

[58] Excludes express parcels. [59] State railways.

[60] Includes bunkers.

[61] Excludes government vehicles and Azores and Madeira Islands. [62] Includes data for South West Africa. [63] Includes Ramat Ihabama-Mahalapye line. For year beginning April 1. [64] Includes traffic with colonies and dependencies.

[65] Excludes suburban railways. [66] Includes weight of mail and mail cars. [67] Includes Balearic Islands, Ceuta, and Melilla. [68] Includes traffic with Egypt.

[69] Includes Iraqi petroleum loaded at Banias (26.3 million tons) in 1962.

[70] Bangkok. [71] Excludes timber. [72] Includes traffic with Syria. [73] Excludes tonnage registered in British Commonwealth Countries and territories (731 gross tons) in 1963. [74] Includes nonsea exports and imports between Ireland (Rep.) and Northern Ireland.

[75] British Railways. [76] Includes data for airlines based in territories and dependencies. [77] Includes watering and cleansing vehicles and tower wagons; excludes government vehicles.

[78] Commercial vehicles only. [79] Saigon only.

[1] Comprises public and private telephones (including extension instruments) connected to a central exchange. Total number of telephones in use in the world in 1962 estimated to be 159,200,000.
[2] Comprises generally all types of telegrams including cablegrams and radiograms, but excludes messages in transit.
[3] Letters mailed for distribution within national territories. Comprises letters (airmail, ordinary mail and registered), postcards, printed matter, business papers, small merchandise samples, small packets, phonopost packets, and mail carried without charge, but excludes ordinary packages, and letters and packages with a declared value.
[4] Publications containing general news and appearing at least 4 times a week; may range in size from a single sheet to 50 or more pages. [5] Comprises copies sold both inside and outside the country.
[6] No adjustment made for copies sold outside the country.
[7] Comprises for most countries number of licenses issued for receiving sets; figures which are estimates of number of sets in use are footnoted. In general, figures should be used with considerable caution as number of licenses fails, in varying degree from country to country, to represent full number in use. Data apply to all types of receivers for radio broadcasts to the public, including loud speakers connected to a "radio redistribution system" but excluding television sets. Total number of sets in use in the world in 1962 estimated to be 415,000,000.
[8] Figures which are estimates of number of sets in use are footnoted; all others relate to number of licenses issued for receiving sets. Total number of sets in use in the world in 1962 estimated to be 129,000,000.
[9] Excludes Alaska and Hawaii, except as noted. [10] Includes messages to Canada, Mexico, St. Pierre, and Miquelon. [11] Domestic and foreign, including ordinary packages, and letters and packages with a declared value.
[12] Estimated number of receivers in use. [13] Of these about 25 million are in motor cars.
[14] Includes Alaska, Hawaii, and U.S. possessions. [15] English dailies only. [16] Includes Alaska and Hawaii.
[17] Includes Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, and, Virgin Islands. [18] All telegrams sent by land are counted as domestic. [19] For year beginning April 1. [20] Includes foreign received and sent.
[21] English and French dailies only. [22] Refers to 44 dailies. [23] Includes Faeroe Islands. Telegrams sent also includes Greenland. [24] Eritrea only. [25] Refers to 6 dailies only.
[26] Includes French Guiana, Guadeloupe, Martinique, and Réunion. [27] Includes combined sound-television licenses. [28] Includes West Berlin and the Saar. [29] Includes Greater Berlin and the Saar.
[30] Includes West Berlin. [31] Excludes 700 regional editions. [32] Includes circulation of regional editions.
[33] All telegrams dispatched. [34] As of March 31, 1963. [35] Refers to 354 dailies only. [36] As of June 30.
[37] Letters only. [38] Includes 55 dailies having both morning and evening editions.
[39] Includes Cameroons [Br.]. [40] Refers to 20 dailies only. [41] For year ending June 30.
[42] Revenue telegrams. [43] All letters sent. [44] Refers to 18 dailies only. [45] Refers to 25 dailies only.

[1] Computed on basis of occupied dwellings, if available; otherwise, on total dwellings.
[2] Either inside or outside dwelling, except as noted.
[3] Believed to refer, in most cases, to cooking gas laid on from main or tank.
[4] Either exclusive or shared use of a bathroom.
[5] Includes Alaska and Hawaii. Dwellings include mobile trailers.
[6] Based on results of sample survey of housing.
[7] When the aggregate number of rooms was not reported, an approximation was made by multiplying each room category from 1 to 6 by its corresponding dwelling frequency, multiplying the frequency in the residual category by the lowest number of rooms, and summing the products. The resultant estimate is no doubt low, inasmuch as the minimum class limit was used to evaluate the residual category.
[8] When the total number of occupants was not reported, an approximation was made by multiplying each person category from 1 to 9 by its corresponding dwelling frequency, multiplying the frequency in the residual category by the lowest number of persons involved, and summing the products. The resultant estimate is no doubt low, inasmuch as the minimum class was used to evaluate the residual category.
[9] Refers to European-type dwellings only, which represent 21.5 percent of all dwellings.
[10] Urban area only. [11] Refers to private housing units rather than to dwellings.
[12] Provisional. [13] Refers only to dwellings with piped water inside.
[14] Refers to private households rather than to dwellings. [15] For 1952.
[16] Kitchens counted as rooms only if 12 square meters (approximately 14 square yards) or more.
[17] For 1955. Excludes single room dwellings having no kitchen or cooking installation.
[18] For 1950. [19] Refers to housing units used as principal residences by private households. [20] For 1954.
[21] Refers to dwelling in residential and occupied non-residential buildings, which have a kitchen or kitchenette of their own except dwellings in basements and attics. The minimum area of a room is 6 square meters (about 7 square yards) and all kitchens are included irrespective of their size. Includes the Saar except data for electricity.
[22] Results of the building census of June 6, 1961. [23] Results of the 1 percent survey of 1957.
[24] Private households living in dwellings. [25] Includes collective housing units.
[26] Port-au-Prince only. [27] Includes kerosene. [28] Excludes dwellings having no kitchens.
[29] Excludes dwellings with only shower installations. [30] For 1953.
[31] Beirut only; refers to households and based on a sample survey; Excludes suburbs but includes households living in temporary buildings.
[32] Refers to dwellings with gas and electricity for cooking and other uses. [33] For 1956.
[34] Kitchens are not counted as rooms. For Yugoslavia the minimum area of a room is 6 square meters (about 7 square yards). [35] Excludes tribal Indian housing.
[36] Refers to all private housing units and housing units not intended for habitation but used for that purpose, rather than to dwellings. [37] Refers to source of water supply.
[38] For commune of Dakar only; refers to European type dwellings.
[39] Housing units for white population only.
[40] For 1960, total number of dwellings was 1,580 thousand.
[41] All dwellings in urban areas were presumed to have electric light.
[42] For 14 cities only; represents 41.5 percent of the total city population.
[43] Refers to residential buildings. [44] For England, Scotland, and Wales.

No. 1278. Education and Health

[Education: Figures usually refer to both official (public) and independent (private) schools, to school year beginning in year stated, and generally exclude adult education, apprenticeship courses and correspondence schools; intercountry comparisons are subject to caution owing to variations in definitions and in scope of data; usually excludes (unless otherwise stated) nursery schools, kindergarten, and other preschool education. Health: Data do not allow of a close comparison between countries which present a similar standard, whether high or low, in respect of strength and character of their medical facilities. However, they may be used to judge approximate difference in standard between advanced and less developed countries. See text, p. 904, for general comments concerning quality of the data. Years for which data are shown may vary from column to column and from country to country. Figures which are not for the year shown in the "year" column are prefixed by a letter to indicate the year represented, as follows: b represents 1951; c, 1952; e, 1954; g, 1956; h, 1957; i, 1958; j, 1959; k, 1960; l, 1961]

Capacities of Volumes

U.S. equivalents
1 barrel (liquid) [1]	31 to 42 gallons
1 barrel (dry) [2]	7,056 cubic inches	105 dry quarts	3,281 bushels (struck measure).[3]

[1] There are various "barrels" established by law or usage. Federal law recognizes a 31- and a 40-gallon barrel, depending on the type of liquor. In addition, the number of gallons recognized as making up a barrel differs among various States.
[2] Standard for fruits and vegetables and other dry commodities, except cranberries, recognized by the Dept. of Agriculture.
[3] Standard bushel as measured by U.S. Government.

Approximate Weight of Petroleum and Products

[In the United States petroleum and its products are measured by bulk, not weight. Quantities are customarily reduced to the equivalent of barrels of 42 U.S. gallons (158.984 liters). In many foreign countries these commodities are measured by weight. The specific gravity of the different grades of crude petroleum and of the finished products varies materially. On the basis of approximate averages, the Department of Commerce uses the following factors for converting foreign weight statistics to gallons or to barrels of 42 gallons]

Item	U.S. gallon		Barrel of 42 gallons
	U.S. equivalent	Metric equivalent	U.S. equivalent	Metric equivalent
Crude petroleum	7.3 pounds	3.311 kilograms	306.6 pounds	139.07 kilograms.

APPENDIX II

Historical Appendix—Index to Tables in Which Historical Statistics Series Appear

[Listed below are those statistical time series (identified by number) appearing in Historical Statistics of the United States, Colonial Times to 1957, for which tables in the Statistical Abstract present comparable figures. Historical series are listed only where comparable data are available for a year or years later than 1957. In a few instances, it may be necessary to combine figures shown in the Abstract to obtain totals comparable to the series shown in Historical Statistics]

APPENDIX III

Guide to Sources of Statistics

Alphabetically arranged by subject, this guide contains references to the important primary sources of statistical information for the United States. Secondary sources have been included if the information contained therein is presented in a particularly convenient form or if primary sources are not readily available. Nonrecurrent publications presenting compilations or estimates for several years or new types of data not available in regular series are also included.

Much valuable information may also be found in State reports (see pp. 991–993) and in reports for particular commodities, industries, or similar segments of our economic and social structure. Because of the large number of such references, they are not included here.

Section references on the right-hand side of each page indicate where data from the report cited appear in the Statistical Abstract. Where both current reports and a summary volume are cited, the section reference often appears opposite the summary volume only. Reference to the sections indicated will enable the user to ascertain the type of information presented in the original source. It should not be assumed that all of the subjects from the original source are summarized in the Abstract.

Publications listed under each subject are divided into two main groups: "United States Government" and "Other." The location of the publisher of each report is given except for Federal governmental agencies located in Washington.

Major reports, such as the Census of Population, which consist of many volumes, are listed by their general, all-inclusive titles. Specific volume numbers and subtitles of the major census publications are listed on pp. 987–990.

Note.—In April 1961, the economic research and statistical reporting functions of the Department of Agriculture were reorganized, affecting the Agricultural Marketing Service, the Agricultural Research Service, and the Foreign Agricultural Service. Some of the work formerly conducted in parts of these three services has been brought together in two agencies, the Economic Research Service and the Statistical Reporting Service. Many of the current reports shown below as issued by AMS, ARS, and FAS are now issued by the two new agencies.

Publications of Major Censuses

Listed below are major reports of the most recent censuses. In most cases separate reports are available for each State, subject, industry, etc. Preliminary reports which have been issued are not included in the list.

Complete information on publications of all the censuses appears in the Bureau of the Census Catalog, which is published quarterly and cumulated to the annual issue. An inventory of machine-readable data from the major censuses available on magnetic tape and punchcards is also included, beginning with the 1964 issues. A sample copy of the Catalog is available from the Bureau of the Census on request. The annual subscription price is $1.25 for 4 quarterly issues and 12 monthly supplements.

1962 CENSUS OF GOVERNMENTS

Vol. I. Governmental Organization. Number of governmental units and dependent school systems, by States. Includes local governments by county.

Vol. II. Taxable Property Values in the United States. Data on valuations set for general property taxation, including statistics by State, county, and cities of 300,000 or more inhabitants; and results of a sample survey of real estate sales.

Vol. III. Compendium of Public Employment.
Includes data on State and local government employees, payrolls, rates of pay, and retirement.

Vol. IV. Governmental Finances.
No. 1. Finances of School Districts.
No. 2. Finances of County Governments.
No. 3. Finances of Municipalities and Township Governments (scheduled to be issued August 1964).
No. 4. Compendium of Government Finances (scheduled to be issued September 1964). A comprehensive summary of the census findings on governmental finances, including the Federal Government, States, and local governments.

Vol. V. Local Government in Metropolitan Areas (scheduled to be issued September 1964). Data on local governments, employment, and finances.

Vol. VI. Topical Studies.
No. 1. Employee-Retirement Systems of State and Local Governments.
No. 2. State Payments to Local Governments.
No. 3. State Reports on State and Local Government Finances.
No. 4. Historical Statistics on Governmental Finances and Employment (scheduled to be issued September 1964).
No. 5. Graphic Summary of the 1962 Census of Governments (scheduled to be issued September 1964).

Vol. VII. State Reports (scheduled to be issued in 1964). 52 reports; one for each State plus one for the District of Columbia and the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico. Data on governmental structure, employment, and finances.

1960 CENSUS OF POPULATION

Vol. I. Characteristics of the Population. Separate reports for the United States, each State, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, Guam, Virgin Islands, American Samoa, and Canal Zone. First issued in four separate, paperbound chapters, designated as A, B, C, and D, for each area. The four chapters for each area were then assembled and issued in buckram as numbered parts of Vol. I. In addition, all of the 57 chapters A have been assembled and issued in buckram as Part A, of Vol. I.

Chapter A. Number of Inhabitants. Final population counts for States and counties and their urban and rural parts, and for standard metropolitan statistical areas, urbanized areas, all incorporated places, unincorporated places of 1,000 or more inhabitants, and minor civil divisions.

Chapter B. General Population Characteristics. Sex, age, marital status, color or race, and relationship to head of household.

Chapter C. General Social and Economic Characteristics. Statistics on nativity and parentage, State of birth, mobility, education, families and their composition, employment status, occupation, income, and other subjects.

Chapter D. Detailed Characteristics. These reports present most of the subjects covered in chapter C, above, cross-classified by age, color, and other characteristics, with additional information on families, single years of age, occupation, and industry.

Vol. II. Subject Reports. 30 reports planned (20 issued as of June 1964; remainder in preparation) devoted essentially to detailed cross-relationships for the United States and regions and, in some cases, standard metropolitan statistical areas, for such subjects as national origin and race, fertility, families, marital status, migration, education, employment, unemployment, occupation, industry, income, and other subjects.

Vol. III. Selected Area Reports. Five reports showing selected characteristics of the population (1) for State economic areas, (2) according to size of place, (3) for Americans overseas, (4) for standard metropolitan statistical areas, and (5) according to type of place.

Census Tract Reports. One report for each of 180 tracted areas in the United States and Puerto Rico. Information on population and housing subjects.

1960 CENSUS OF HOUSING

Vol. I. States and Small Areas. Separate reports for the United States, each State, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, Guam, and Virgin Islands. Information on tenure, color, vacancy status, population per occupied housing unit, number of persons per room, number of rooms, type of structure, condition and plumbing facilities, equipment and facilities, financial characteristics and other subjects, for the State, counties, urbanized areas, standard metropolitan statistical areas, and places of 1,000 inhabitants or more.

Vol. II. Metropolitan Housing. 202 reports; one for the United States, one for each geographic division, one for each standard metropolitan statistical area with 100,000 or more inhabitants, and separate reports for the San Juan and Ponce SMSA's in Puerto Rico.

Vol. III. City Blocks. 420 reports; one for each city with 50,000 inhabitants or more in the 1950 Census or in subsequent special censuses, and reports covering about 200 places that requested inclusion in the block statistics program.

Vol. IV. Components of Inventory Change.

Part 1A. 1950 to 1959 Components, United States and selected metropolitan areas. 18 reports, one for the United States (and one each for 15 standard metropolitan statistical areas and 2 standard consolidated areas; issued December 1961–May 1962), on the source of the 1959 inventory and the disposition of the 1950 inventory in terms of such changes as new construction, conversion, merger, and demolition, and of units which remained the same. Characteristics shown for all units.

Part 1B. Inventory Characteristics, United States and selected metropolitan areas. 18 reports (same as part 1A) on characteristics of the inventory and of households involved in moves in 1958–1959.

Part 2. 1957 to 1959, United States and selected metropolitan areas. 10 reports, one each for the United States and for 9 of the selected areas (those covered in the 1956 National Housing Inventory). Measurements and characteristics of the components of change since 1956.

Vol. V. Residential Finance.

Part 1. Homeowner Properties, United States and selected metropolitan areas. Data on financing and characteristics, for the United States by region and for each of 17 large metropolitan areas.

Part 1. Supplement, Homeowner Properties—Nonwhite Properties.

Part 2. Rental and Vacant Properties, United States. Data similar to those in Part 1, for the United States.

Vol. VI. Rural Housing. Analytical tables for 121 subregions and the United States, showing interrelationships between selected housing and household characteristics of occupied units.

Vol. VII. Housing of Senior Citizens. Cross tabulations of housing and household characteristics of units occupied by persons 60 years old and over, for the United States, each State, the District of Columbia, and selected standard metropolitan statistical areas.
