[1] Excludes returns with fragmentary balance sheet data.
[2] Adjustments are made in tabulating data as follows: (a) Reserves for depreciation, depletion, amortization, and bad debts, when reported under liabilities are used to reduce corresponding asset account, and "Total assets" and "Total liabilities" are decreased by amount of such reserves; and (b) a deficit in surplus, reported under assets, is transferred to liabilities, and "Total assets" and "Total liabilities" are decreased by amount of deficit.
[3] Less reserve for bad debts. Includes loans and discounts of banks.
[4] Comprises obligations of United States or any agency or instrumentality thereof; obligations of States, Territories, and political subdivisions thereof, District of Columbia, and United States possessions.
[5] Less depreciation and depletion reserves. Includes land.
[6] Beginning 1940, includes bonds, notes, and mortgages payable, with original maturity of less than 1 year.
[7] Beginning 1940, represents "Bonded debt and mortgages" with original maturity of 1 year or more.
[8] For balance sheets in which common and preferred stock are not reported separately, combined amount is tabulated as "Common stock."
[9] Comprises sum of positive amounts of "Paid-in or capital surplus," "Earned surplus and undivided profits," and "Surplus reserves."
[10] Comprises negative amounts for "Earned surplus and undivided profits."

No. 587.—Corporation Receipts, Deductions, Profits, and Tax: 1925 to 1952

[In millions of dollars. Includes data for Alaska, District of Columbia, and Hawaii; based on income tax returns as filed, prior to audit adjustments or other changes made after the returns were filed, as the result of carry-backs, relief granted under section 722 of the Internal Revenue Code, recomputation of amortization of emergency facilities, or renegotiation of war contracts. All corporations are required to file returns except those specifically exempt, such as mutual, fraternal, civic, and charitable organizations not operating for profit. Returns of inactive corporations are excluded from these tabulations. In comparing data over a period of years, changes in law must be taken into consideration, especially discontinuance for 1934-41 of privilege of filing consolidated returns (except by railroad corporations and their related holding or leasing companies and, in 1940-41, by Pan American trade-corporations) and the restoration of this privilege in 1942. See source publications for effect of changes on statistical items. Data represent combined totals for returns reporting net income and those reporting no net income. For number of returns, see table 437, p. 372]

[1] Comprises gross sales (less returns and allowances), gross receipts from operations (where inventories are not an income-determining factor), all interest received on Government obligations (less amortizable bond premium), other interest, rents, royalties, excess of net short-term capital gain over net long-term capital loss, excess of net long-term capital gain over net short-term capital loss, net gain from sale or exchange of property other than capital assets, dividends, and other taxable income. Excludes nontaxable income other than tax-exempt interest received on certain Government obligations.

[2] Not available.

[3] Beginning 1936, "Dividends from domestic corporations" are taxable income, tabulated with "Other receipts."

[4] Beginning 1934, includes in addition to the wholly tax-exempt interest, that which is partially tax-exempt. Interest on Treasury notes issued on or after Dec. 1, 1940, and obligations issued on or after Mar. 1, 1941, by the United States or any agency or instrumentality thereof, is wholly taxable and is included in "Other receipts" for 1941-52.

[5] Beginning 1936, includes contributions or gifts (limited to 5 percent of net income before this deduction).

[6] Excludes (a) Federal income tax and Federal excess-profits taxes; (b) estate, inheritance, legacy, succession, and gift taxes; (c) income taxes paid to a foreign country or possession of United States, if any portion is claimed as a tax credit; (d) taxes assessed against local benefits; (e) Federal taxes paid on tax-free covenant bonds; and (f) taxes reported in "Cost of goods sold" and "Cost of operations." Beginning 1951, identifiable amounts of taxes included in "Cost of goods sold" and "Cost of operations" are transferred to "Taxes paid."

[7] Tabulated with "Other deductions."

[8] Beginning 1940, includes amortization of emergency facilities.

[9] Compiled receipts less compiled deductions.

[10] Net income (or deficit), in general, represents taxable income less allowable deductions, except that for 1925 and 1930, and for 1940-52, amount shown is before deduction due to net operating loss of prior years.

[11] Deducted by corporations reporting net income.

[12] In addition to income tax, includes: Declared value excess-profits tax, 1933-45; defense tax, 1940; and excess profits tax under (a) provisions of Second Revenue Act of 1940, 1940-46, and (b) Excess Profits Tax Act of 1950, beginning July 1, 1950.

No. 590.—Corporate Income Before Federal and State Income and Excess Profits Taxes, by Industry: 1940 to 1954

[In millions of dollars. Data represent earnings of corporations organized for profit which accrue to residents of the Nation, measured before Federal and State profit taxes, without deduction of depletion charges and exclusive of capital gains and losses. Profits accruing to residents are measured by eliminating intercorporate dividends from profits of domestic corporations and by adding the net receipts of dividends and branch profits from abroad. In other major respects, the definition of income is in accordance with Federal income tax regulations. The inclusion of depletion charges has an important effect on data for mining industries]

No. 591.—Corporate Profits, Taxes and Dividends: 1940 to 1955

[In billions of dollars. Data for 1953 to 1955 subject to revision; see July issue of Survey of Current Business. See headnote, table 590. Taxes refer to Federal and State taxes on corporate earnings. Disbursements of tax refunds have been deducted from tax liability in year in which tax liability was incurred. Dividends represent amount of cash dividends disbursed to residents of the Nation, and therefore are measured after elimination of intercorporate dividends. Undistributed profits comprise difference between corporate profits after taxes and net dividend payments. Quarterly data are seasonally adjusted at annual rates]

No. 601.—Net Change in Business Inventories: 1929 to 1955

[In millions of dollars. Net change in business inventories measures change in physical inventories, valued at average prices current during year. Difference between change in business inventories as thus measured and change in book value of inventories constitutes inventory valuation adjustment]

No. 602.—Industrial and Commercial Failures—Number and Liabilities: 1857 to 1955

[Excludes all railroad failures. Series revised beginning 1933 to exclude real estate and financial companies. These revisions bring "Failures" more nearly in accordance with type of concerns covered by "Total concerns in business," in which no changes were made. Beginning 1939, new series includes voluntary discontinuances with loss to creditors and small concerns forced out of business with insufficient assets to cover all claims, in addition to failures included in former series. See also headnote, table 603]

Section 18

Communications

This section presents statistics relating to the usage, finances, and operations of the various communications media (wire, wireless, and printed and written matter). The principal sources of wire and wireless data are the Federal Communications Commission's annual Statistics of the Communications Industry in the United States, and Annual Report. Data concerning the postal service are included in the Annual Report of the Postmaster General. Statistics as to revenues, volume of mail, and the distribution of expenditures by classes of mail and services are presented in the Post Office Department's annual Cost Ascertainment Report.

Since the establishment of the Federal Communications Commission in 1934, statistical coverage of wire and wireless communications has been concentrated in that agency. According to the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, only carriers engaged in interstate, or foreign, communications service by means of their own facilities (or through the facilities of another carrier under direct or indirect common control) are subject to the full jurisdiction of the Commission. The Commission requires the filing of annual and monthly reports by these carriers except from the smallest carriers. The companies controlling any but the smallest of these carriers are also required to file annual reports.

Telephone and telegraph systems.—Practically all the wire-telegraph, ocean-cable, and radiotelegraph carriers are subject to the full jurisdiction of the Federal Communications Commission. A large number of telephone carriers engaged in interstate or foreign service only by connection with the facilities of another unaffiliated carrier are not subject to the full jurisdiction of the Commission. However, it is estimated that the gross operating revenues of the telephone carriers reporting annually cover over 90 percent of the revenues of all telephone carriers in the United States.

The term "system" is used, in general, for aggregations of lines operated by the larger companies. "Bell System" as referred to here, consists of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. and its principal telephone subsidiaries.

Broadcasting.—The number of broadcast stations refers to the number licensed or holding construction permits. Total broadcast revenues are defined as total time sales of all networks and stations, less commissions to agencies and plus incidental revenues, such as sale of talent, program material, etc. Reports filed with the Federal Communications Commission by broadcast stations and networks cover substantially all units in the industry which operate in the United States and its Territories, possessions, etc.

Postal Service.—The postal statistics, unless otherwise noted, include data for outlying Territories, possessions, etc., except the Canal Zone; the Philippine Islands are excluded for all years.

"Cost ascertainment" is the term applied in the Post Office Department to describe its plan or system, partly accounting and partly statistical, for developing through the medium of a sampling procedure, data on the revenues, expenses, volumes, and average hauls fairly attributable to each of the several classes of mail handled by the Postal Service (first, second, third, fourth, foreign, penalty, franked,

Note.—This section presents data for the most recent year or period available on April 25, 1956, when the material was organized and sent to the printer.

free for the blind, and air mail) and similar revenue, expense, and volume data for each of its special services (special delivery, money order, insurance, collect-on-delivery, registry, and postal savings). Some of these types of information are also required for items classified as "unassignable" and for the several nonpostal services.

Historical statistics.—Tabular headnotes (as "See also Historical Statistics, series P 165–167") provide cross-references, where applicable, to Historical Statistics of the United States, 1789–1945. See preface.

No. 612.—Telephone Systems—Summary, Class A Carriers: 1926 to 1954

[All money figures in thousands. Includes Hawaii and Puerto Rico. Excludes intercompany duplications. Covers class A telephone carriers filing annual reports with F. C. C. Class A carriers are those whose annual operating revenues exceeded $100,000 for years prior to 1951, and $250,000 thereafter; comparability of data relatively unaffected by change in coverage. Gross operating revenues of class A carriers (excluding intercompany duplications of Bell System) reporting in 1937 represented approximately 94 percent of revenues of all telephone carriers as reported for Census of Electrical Industries for that year]

[3] In comparing figures in this table, consideration should be given to the minor effect of revisions of Uniform System of Accounts, effective Jan. 1, 1933, and Jan. 1, 1937, resulting in certain changes in and rearrangements of both balance sheet and income statement. [4] Ratio of operating expenses to operating revenues.

No. 636.—Books—New Books and New Editions Published, by Subject: 1950 to 1955

[Data based on reports from publishers, numbering 800 or more. To assure as complete a coverage as possible, reports are checked against book reviews and notices and against card index of the Library of Congress. New books are new titles; new editions are revisions of trade or textbooks, and cheaper editions of original trade books. Data exclude pamphlets, theses, reports, and reprints (containing no change whatsoever from original publication)]

FIG. XXXIII.—INSTALLED CAPACITY OF ELECTRIC UTILITY GENERATING PLANTS: 1920 TO 1955

[See table 640]

Source: Federal Power Commission.

Section 19

Power

This section presents statistics relating to the supply, production, and distribution of power and energy. The principal sources of these data are the Federal Power Commission, and the Bureau of Mines of the Department of the Interior.

The Federal Power Commission publishes annually Production of Electric Energy and Capacity of Generating Plants, which presents data on the production of electric energy classified by type of prime mover and by quantities of basic fuels used (coal, oil, natural gas, etc.), and on the capacity of all generating plants classified by type of prime mover. This report also includes statistics on water as an actual and potential source of power. The Commission's data cover both generation for public use by electric utilities and for use by the producer where generated by non-utility establishments. Data on sales, revenues, and numbers of customers by classes of service, on rates and typical bills, and related matters are also issued at regular intervals by the Commission. Monthly statistics on production, fuels used in production, sales by classes of service, salaries and wages, taxes, and other costs of production appear in the Commission's series entitled Electric Power Statistics.

The Bureau of Mines' annual Minerals Yearbook presents statistics on coal, oil, and natural gas production and utilization. Other important sources of data include the American Gas Association, which in its monthly bulletins and annual statistical issues (such as Gas Facts) presents data on natural gas utilization and the production of manufactured gas from coal, oil, and similar products; and the Statistical Bulletin of the Edison Electric Institute, issued monthly and annually, which presents data on the distribution of electric energy by public utilities.

Related materials are presented in other sections of this volume. Thus, statistics on production, value, and consumption of coal, oil, and natural gas are presented in section 28, Mining and Mineral Products; statistics compiled by the Bureau of the Census in its Censuses of Manufactures and Mineral Industries on the use of power by manufacturing, extracting, and related industries are also presented in section 28, and in section 30, Manufactures.

The Federal Power Commission has uniform systems of accounts for public utilities subject to its jurisdiction and its licensees. The Commission compiles data from the following periodic reports: Annual reports of electric utilities containing information as to assets, liabilities, revenues, generating capacity, and number of consumers; power system reports of electric utility systems presenting generating capacity, transmission facilities, and loads and load characteristics; monthly and annual reports containing such information as production of electricity for public use, fuel consumed, and stocks of fuel on hand; and reports from electric utilities and industrial corporations with respect to their electric power requirements and supply.

Data in this section relate to continental United States except as indicated.

Historical statistics.—Tabular headnotes (as "See also Historical Statistics, series G 159–170") provide cross-references, where applicable, to Historical Statistics of the United States, 1789–1945. See preface.

Note.—This section presents data for the most recent year or period available on April 25, 1956, when the material was organized and sent to the printer. In some instances, more recent data were added later.

No. 638.—Energy from Mineral Fuels and Water Power—Annual Supply, 1900 to 1954, and Consumption, 1920 to 1954, by Source

[In trillions of British thermal units. Unit heat values employed are: Anthracite, 12,700 B. t. u. per pound; bituminous coal and lignite, 13,100 B. t. u. per pound; petroleum, 5,800,000 B. t. u. per barrel; natural gas, 1,075 B. t. u. per cubic foot. Water power includes installations owned by manufacturing plants and mines, as well as Government and privately owned public utilities. Fuel equivalent of water power calculated from kilowatt-hours of power produced wherever available, as is true of all public-utility plants since 1919. Otherwise, fuel equivalent calculated from reported horsepower of installed water wheels, assuming capacity factor of 20 percent for factories and mines and of 40 percent for public utilities. See also Historical Statistics, series G 159–170]

[1] Not available.
[2] Noncentral stations distributed to other publicly owned classes on the basis of actual ownership.
[3] Comprises production and capacity of approximately 2,852 industrial electric power plants of 100 kilowatts and over in 1954, including amounts for stationary electric power plants of railroads and railways.
[4] Each prime mover type in combination plants counted separately.
[5] Based on capacity in service at end of year.

[2] Represents cooperatives only and excludes customers of all other agencies (companies and municipals) financed in whole or in part by REA.
[3] Customers served by municipal systems and various power districts not financed by REA.
[4] "Eastern farms" are those located in the area not affected by heavy irrigation pumping and their statistics are a measure of use of electricity on the average farm. "Western farms" are those where irrigation may be involved. Possibly less than one-fifth of farms in irrigation States do actual pumping, but statistics are not available to make a more accurate separation. Figures for "Western farms," therefore, are more a reflection of fluctuation in the energy used than they are of the conventional farm requirements.

[1] Net; i. e., excludes loans rescinded. For years prior to 1948, includes amounts not yet under loan contract.
[2] Organizations, mainly cooperatives, to which loans for extending central station electric service in rural areas are made.
[3] Includes data at time of repayment of loan for borrowers whose loans have been repaid in full. As of Dec. 31, 1955, there were 44 such borrowers, with 10,395 miles energized and 46,903 consumers served.
[4] Rural electric distribution, generation, and transmission systems operated by REA borrowers.
[5] Pole miles of electric distribution and transmission line in service.
[6] Through 1954, this item was headed "Consumers connected." The change was a result of a revised definition of a consumer as reported by REA borrowers, effective Jan. 1, 1955. Figures are on the former basis through 1954 and on the new basis beginning 1955. The change resulted in a downward adjustment in the national total of about 60,000 for 1955, chiefly through elimination of idle services.
[7] Includes energy sales and revenues of power sold by one REA borrower to another.

No. 650.—Gas Utility Industry—Customers and Revenues, by Class of Service: 1932 to 1955

[Covers natural, manufactured, mixed, and liquid petroleum gas. Based on questionnaire mailed to all privately owned gas utilities and municipally owned gas departments in the United States, except those with annual revenues less than $25,000, which in the aggregate account for only a negligible portion of the industry]

Section 20

Roads and Motor Vehicles

This section presents statistics relating to the mileage, control, and financing of public roads and to motor-vehicle travel and usage. The Bureau of Public Roads of the Department of Commerce is the principal compiler of data concerning public roads and motor-vehicle registrations. Since 1945, it has published such data in its annual Highway Statistics. For statistics prior to 1945, the same Bureau's Highway Statistics, Summary to 1945, presents public roads data carried back over periods ranging from 20 to 50 years. The motor-vehicle registration figures which appear in Highway Statistics are compiled from reports and records of the State highway departments. The same publication also includes statistics on motor-vehicle fuel consumption.

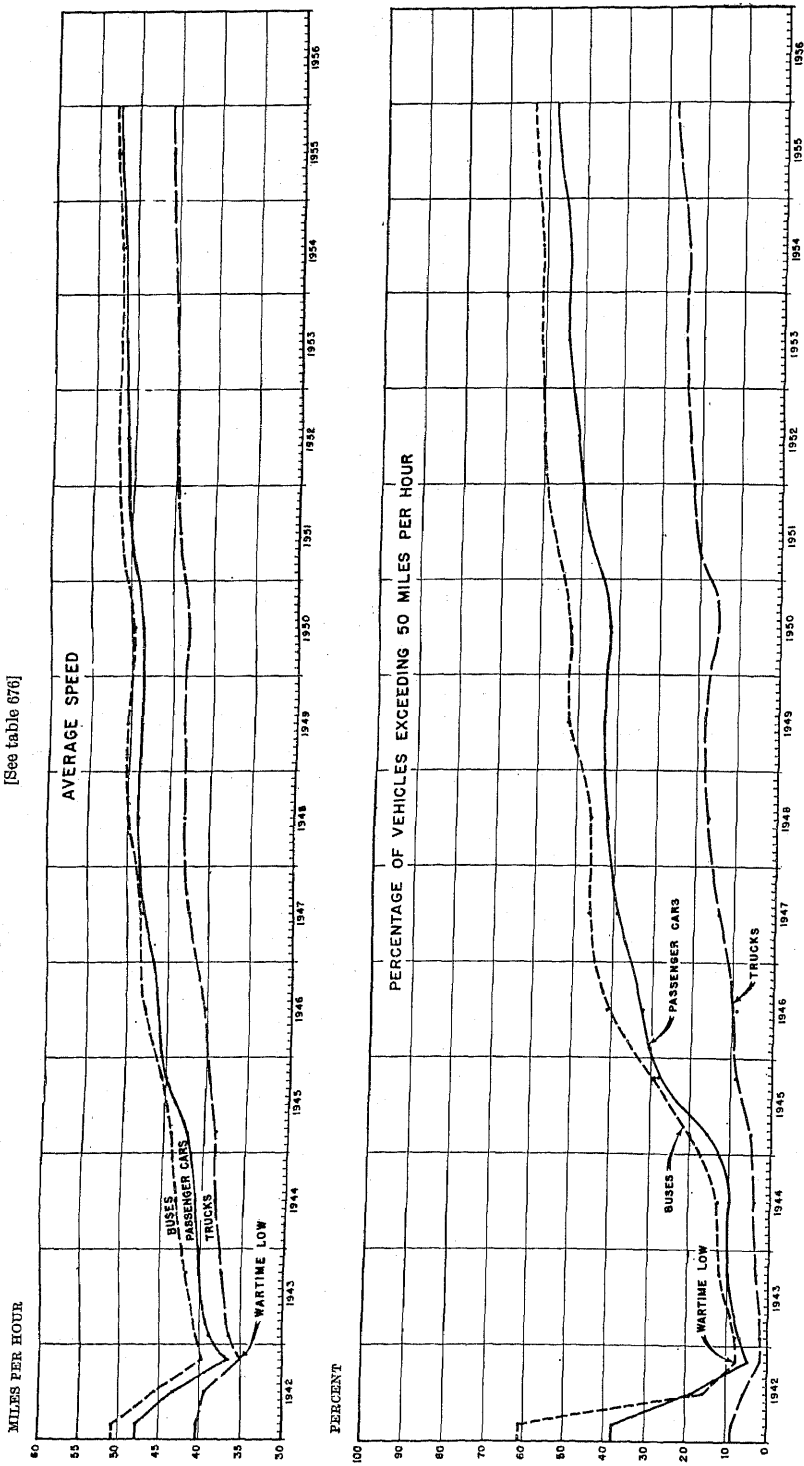
The first road milage survey was made in 1904. Data for 1904 and other road mileage surveys made in 1909, 1914, and 1921 appear in Department of Agriculture Bulletin 1279, Rural Highway Mileage, Income, and Expenditures, 1921–22.

Two useful handbooks of statistics in this field are issued annually by the Automobile Manufacturers Association of Detroit, Michigan. These are Automobile Facts and Figures and Motor Truck Facts. In addition, the Bureau of the Census compiles and publishes statistics on the motor vehicles and equipment industry which appear in the Census of Manufactures reports and in its Annual Survey of Manufactures. Data from these reports are also included in section 30, Manufactures, in this volume.

Rural and other roads.—The term "rural" as used here may be roughly defined as the area which lies outside of communities having 2,500 inhabitants or more. "Urban extensions" are continuations of designated State-system roads in or through cities or towns of 2,500 inhabitants or more. "County and other local roads" are rural roads over which the State exercises no direct control.

Highway systems.—The Federal-Aid Highway Act of 1916 provides for the sharing of highway construction costs between the States and the Federal Government with the initiative retained by each State for choosing projects and carrying them out. The planning and development of Federal-aid systems began in 1921. Federal funds share with State funds in costs of engineering, construction, and right-of-way acquisition on the designated systems while other charges, such as maintenance and policing, are borne entirely by the States and local agencies.

The Federal-aid primary system connects all of the principal cities, county seats, ports, manufacturing areas, and other traffic generating areas. In general, these are at the same time the main State trunkline roads. Certain sections of the primary system are more important than others from the viewpoint of national interest. Consequently, in 1944, the Congress authorized the creation of the national system of interstate highways, not to exceed 40,000 miles in length.



The Federal-aid secondary system, approved by Congress in 1944, commonly referred to as the farm-to-market system, consists of important feeder roads linking the farms, factories, distribution outlets, and smaller communities with the primary system.

Historical statistics.—Tabular headnotes (as "See also Historical Statistics, series K 177–181") provide cross-references, where applicable, to Historical Statistics of the United States, 1789–1945. See preface.

Note.—This section presents data for the most recent year or period available on April 25, 1956, when the material was organized and sent to the printer. In a few instances, more recent data were added later.

[1] Includes secondary State systems and some municipal street mileage in State systems. Not comparable with subsequent years, since county road mileage had not yet been taken over by State highway departments.
[2] Through 1945, low type was distinguished from high type by quality of surfacing material used; for 1950 and 1953, also by rigidity of base; and for 1954, combined thickness of surface and base was an added consideration.
[3] Not available.
[4] Beginning 1940, includes connecting streets not under State control. Beginning 1950, excludes streets of this type in Kentucky, Maryland, Mississippi, and District of Columbia. May include the municipal portion of a State route entering a city or town.
[5] Mileage of State park, forest, institutional, toll, and other roads under State control.
[6] Represents State-controlled only.
[7] Includes funds transferred to or from local units and proceeds of highway-user imposts allotted by the State treasurer for (a) county and other local roads and streets, and (b) nonhighway purposes. See also tables 664 and 665.
[8] Includes accumulated reserves.

[1] Includes buses. A substantial part of the trucks and buses reported comprises chassis without body; hence excludes the value of bodies for these chassis. Includes military trucks; total sales for the period Sept. 1, 1939, through 1946, amounted to 2,575,000, valued at $5,257,588,000. Production for the period Jan. 1, 1940, through 1946 was 2,601,000.

[2] Beginning 1937, includes value of standard equipment.

[3] Prior to 1925, buses included with passenger cars. Beginning 1950, motortrucks exclude farm trucks registered at a nominal fee in 5 States. [4] Partly estimated.

[1] Excludes vehicles owned by military services.

[2] As reported. State registration requirements differ widely.

[3] Comprises registration fees, certificates of title, transfer or registration fees, permits, fines, etc.; excludes motor-fuel and motor-carrier taxes; for California, includes $77,700,849 vehicle license fees and for Washington, $13,940,194 motor-vehicle excise taxes.

[4] Comprises fees for registration of automobiles (including taxicabs), buses, trucks and tractor trucks, trailers, and motorcycles.

[5] Commercial full trailers included with trucks.

[6] In Vermont, trucks under 1,500 pounds capacity, and in Oregon, trucks with gross weight of 6,000 pounds or less, included with automobiles; in most States, similar light trucks comprise half or more of all trucks registered.

[7] Includes 1,635 automobiles of the diplomatic corps.

[8] Represents publicly owned only. Heavy semitrailers registered with tractors (as a unit). Automobile trailers not required to register.

[1] "Families" consist of all persons living in the same dwelling and related by blood, marriage, or adoption. "Spending units" consist of all persons living in the same dwelling and related by blood, marriage, or adoption, who pooled their income for major items of expense; a spending unit may consist of only one person. Many families contain 2 or more spending units.
[2] Based on spending units that bought cars during year and still owned them at end of year.
[3] In the surveys for 1949 and later years, a question was asked specifically in regard to other borrowing. This question was not asked in previous surveys. [4] Less than 0.05 percent. [5] Not available.

Section 21

Transportation, Air and Land

This section presents statistics concerning the systems of mass transport of persons and goods by land and air. The modes of transport included are railway, trucking, bus and streetcar, and civil aviation. The principal sources of these data are Transport Statistics in the United States (formerly Statistics of Railways in the United States), published annually by the Interstate Commerce Commission; the Transit Fact Book (relating to street railways) published annually by the American Transit Association, and the Statistical Handbook of Civil Aviation published by the Civil Aeronautics Administration. Various periodic reports such as the Monthly Report on Transportation Statistics and the quarterly (also annual) Statistics of Class I Motor Carriers are issued by the Interstate Commerce Commission. In addition, the Association of American Railroads supplements official railway statistics with various releases, and the annual review and statistical number of Bus Transportation, a McGraw-Hill publication, summarizes operations of common carrier and school buses. The Interstate Commerce Commission also issues annually Selected Financial and Operating Statistics from Annual Reports of Electric Railways, an abstract of the annual reports of electric railway companies, chiefly interurban, which report to it. The Bureau of the Census published a quinquennial report on electric railways from 1902 to 1937. The report included data on affiliated trolley-bus and motor-bus operations in the latter period of its history.

Railways.—The total railroad mileage of the United States comprises: (1) Regular interstate carriers (and their nonoperating subsidiaries) reporting to the Interstate Commerce Commission; (2) switching and terminal railroads, also reporting to the Commission; and (3) private railroads (defined by the Commission as "circular" because they report on brief circulars, and as "unofficial"). Except for certain mileage data, the circular and unofficial companies are not included in any of the statistics. The switching and terminal roads were formerly included with operating railways, but are now separated, and data for them do not appear in most of the tables.

Nonoperating subsidiaries comprise proprietary companies, which are covered by the reports of operating carriers, and lessor companies which have no traffic and whose reports appear only in statistics of capitalization, dividends, and investment.

Operating railways are divided into three classes, according to the amount of their annual operating revenues: Class I, having more than $1,000,000 of such revenue; class II, from $100,000 to $1,000,000; and class III, less than $100,000. During recent years more detailed reports have been required from class I carriers than from smaller companies. The basis of the figures in each table is indicated by notes. Omission of class II and class III railroads affects very little the comparability of statistics with those of earlier years as regards most items, since the bulk of the business is done by class I.

The Interstate Commerce Commission divides railroads geographically into three districts and eight subsidiary regions. Each railroad is treated as a unit and placed wholly in some one district or region. Broadly speaking, the eastern district includes territory east of Chicago and north of the Ohio and Potomac Rivers; southern district, territory east of the Mississippi River and south of the Ohio and Potomac Rivers; and western district, the remainder of the country.

Note.—This section presents data for the most recent year or period available on April 25, 1956, when the material was organized and sent to the printer. In a few instances, more recent data were added later.

Motor carriers.—Statistics of class I for-hire carriers (those with $100,000 or more of gross annual operating revenues) are compiled by the Interstate Commerce Commission from annual and quarterly reports submitted to it by these carriers. Beginning with reports for the year 1950, the class I minimum became $200,000. This series begins with 1939 data.

Civil aeronautics.—Federal promotion and regulation of civil aviation are carried out by two bodies—the Civil Aeronautics Administration and the Civil Aeronautics Board. The Civil Aeronautics Board is an independent agency concerned primarily with the issuance of certificates of public necessity, economic regulation, the formulation of safety regulations, and the investigation of accidents to civil aircraft. The Civil Aeronautics Administration is an operating agency of the Department of Commerce. Its principal activities are the building and operation of air navigation aids, the enforcement of safety regulations, and promotion of a national airport system.

[1] Includes electric railways, express, and mail.
[2] Includes Great Lakes.
[3] Domestic service only. Includes express, mail, and excess baggage.
[4] Part of this increase resulted from coverage of waterways previously existing but not covered.
[5] Motor-vehicle ton-miles revised upward on basis of new data; not applied to previous years.

[1] Includes circular and unofficial companies. [2] Comprises lessors, proprietary, circular, and unofficial companies.
[3] For railways reporting track by class. Excludes circular and unofficial, figures for which cover road, first track only.
[4] Includes switching and terminal companies except as noted.
[5] Since 1916 represents steam locomotives and freight cars of class I railways, excluding switching and terminal companies.
[6] Increase in investment over a period of years cannot be obtained accurately by subtraction of 1 year's investment from that of another owing to reorganization, sale, or abandonment, reclassification, etc. Includes lessor companies since 1921; for 1925 and subsequent years, includes proprietary companies except those which are part of systems filing consolidated annual reports.
[7] Includes depreciation on "Miscellaneous physical property" for years prior to 1920. Amortization of defense projects included subsequent to 1940.
[8] Comprises actually outstanding, nominally issued, and nominally outstanding securities, and equipment obligations.
[9] Average for 1908–1910. [10] Average for 1899 and 1900.

No. 684.—Railways (All Reporting Companies)—Equipment in Service: 1925 to 1954

[For years ending December 31. "All reporting companies" include switching and terminal but not circular and unofficial lines. Data for tractive effort and capacity of cars exclude switching roads, also smaller roads during recent years; they would not be materially different if all carriers were included. Excludes the large number of cars owned by private car lines. See also Historical Statistics, series K 34–38]

[1] Includes proprietary companies. Increase in investment over a period of years cannot be obtained accurately by subtraction of 1 year's investment from that of another owing to reorganization, sale or abandonment, reclassification, etc.

[2] Amortization of defense projects included subsequent to 1940.

[3] Excludes returns for lessor companies.

[4] Investment originally published is increased by $170,000,000, estimated reserve for accrued depreciation, to make figures comparable with those of other years.

[5] Comparable figure not available.

[6] Excludes returns for class II and class III companies.

No. 699.—Railway Accidents—Number of Persons Killed and Injured, by Status: 1891 to 1954

[For years ending June 30 prior to 1916; December 31 thereafter. For various reasons, including fact that returns were required under different acts, statistics are not strictly comparable. Prior to 1921, train accidents were those causing damage to railway property in excess of $150 or any damage and a resulting casualty. From 1921–47 they were considered as such when damage exceeded $150 with or without a casualty; for 1948, accidents causing damages in excess of $250, with or without a casualty, were classified as train accidents; for 1949–50, train accidents were those causing damage of $275 or more; in 1951, $300 or more; in 1952, $325 or more; and beginning 1953, $350 or more. Where damage was less than the amounts specified and there was a reportable casualty it was classified as a train-service accident. Figures for years 1911–15 include industrial and other nontrain accidents to employees only, and for years 1908–10 exclude switching and terminal roads. Otherwise, data cover all reportable accidents, including those due to suicide, mental derangement, and attempting to escape custody. See also Historical Statistics, series K 84–93]

Section 22

Waterways, Water Traffic, and Shipping

This section presents statistics concerning water transportation, including inland waterways and ocean-borne commerce, the merchant marine, cargo and vessel tonnages, and shipbuilding. The principal sources of these data are two annual reports issued by the Corps of Engineers of the Department of the Army entitled Water-Borne Commerce of the United States and the Annual Report of the Chief of Engineers; the Bureau of the Census monthly and annual U. S. Water-Borne Foreign Trade; and the Bureau of Customs annual Merchant Marine Statistics. Data in this field are also presented in the Annual Report of Commission of Navigation, issued by the Maritime Administration of the Department of Commerce; The Bulletin issued annually by the American Bureau of Shipping; and the Annual Summary of Merchant Ships Launched in the World and the Register Book published by Lloyd's Register of Shipping of London, England. A basic source for historical data is the Bureau of the Census, Foreign Commerce and Navigation of the United States, which was issued annually through 1946.

Data relating to merchandise exports and imports, their classification, dollar values, and countries of origin and destination may be found in section 32, Foreign Commerce.

Units of measurement.—Cargo tonnage represents weight of cargo. Other tonnage figures generally refer to stowing capacity of vessels, 100 cubic feet being called 1 ton. Gross tonnage comprises the space within the frames and the ceiling of the hull, together with those closed-in spaces above deck available for cargo, stores, passengers, or crew, with certain minor exceptions. Net or registered tonnage is the gross tonnage less the spaces occupied by the propelling machinery, fuel, crew quarters, master's cabin, and navigation spaces. It represents substantially space available for cargo and passengers. The net tonnage capacity of a ship may bear little relation to weight of cargo. Dead-weight tonnage is the weight in long tons required to depress a vessel from light water line (that is, with only the machinery and equipment on board) to load line. It is therefore the weight of the cargo, fuel, etc., which a vessel is designed to carry with safety. Shipping weight represents the gross weight of the shipments including the weight of containers, wrappings, crates, etc.

Vessel shipments, entrances, and clearances.—Shipments by dry cargo vessels comprise shipments on all types of watercraft except tanker vessels, and shipments by tanker vessels comprise all types of cargo both liquid and dry carried by tanker vessels.

A vessel is reported as entered at the first port in the United States at which entry is made, regardless of whether any cargo is unladen at that port. A vessel is reported as cleared from the last port where outward cargo is completed or where the vessel cleared in ballast. Army and Navy vessels entering or clearing without commercial cargo and vessels touching at a United States port in distress, or for other temporary causes without discharging cargo, are not included in the figures.

Historical statistics.—Tabular headnotes (as "See also Historical Statistics, series K 132–145") provide cross-references, where applicable, to Historical Statistics of the United States, 1789–1945. See preface.

Note.—This section presents data for the most recent year or period available on April 25, 1956, when the material was organized and sent to the printer. In a few instances, more recent data were added later.

No. 718.—United States Receipts and Payments for International Transportation: 1946 to 1955

[In millions of dollars. Data are international transportation transactions recorded for balance of payments purposes (see table 1106). Receipts include freight on exports carried by U. S. operated carriers and foreign carrier expenditures in U. S. ports. Payments include freight on imports carried by foreign carriers and U. S. carrier port expenditures abroad. Freight on exports carried by foreign carriers is excluded since such payments are directly or indirectly for foreign account. Similarly, freight on U. S. imports carried by U. S. carriers is a domestic rather than an international transaction]

No. 722.—Water-Borne Exports—Shipping Weight on Dry Cargo and Tanker Vessels, by Trade Area: 1952 to 1954

[In millions of pounds. Covers domestic and foreign merchandise. Effective in July 1953, shipping weight of export shipments valued at $100 to $499 is estimated by sampling. The effect of the sampling procedure upon the rounded figures shown in this table amounts to less than 5 percent (2 chances out of 3). See 1951 Abstract, table 641, for latest data available by countries]

[1] Canal boats and barges included with sailing prior to 1868.
[2] Comprises iron, steel, composite, concrete, bronze, and aluminum.
[3] Comprises whale fisheries and cod and mackerel fisheries. Beginning 1939, figures exclude mackerel.
[4] Decrease of tonnage arises principally from registered tonnage having been corrected in 1818, 1829, and 1830 by omitting all vessels with registers granted prior to 1815, which were presumed to have been lost at sea, captured, etc. [5] Not available. [6] Includes Puerto Rico and Virgin Islands. [7] Includes Hawaii and Alaska.

Section 23

Irrigation, Drainage, and Soil Conservation

This section presents statistics concerning agricultural land development, in particular, measures of the activities of irrigation and drainage enterprises, and reclamation and land conservation projects. The primary sources for these data are the Bureau of the Census which conducts decennially a Census of Drainage and a Census of Irrigation (as part of the Census of Agriculture), and a mid-decade Census of Agriculture which covers fewer items in these fields; the Report of Administrator of Soil Conservation Service, issued by the Soil Conservation Service of the Department of Agriculture; and the Annual Report of the Secretary of the Bureau of Reclamation, Department of the Interior. In addition, the Bureau of Reclamation issues annually Crop Summary and Related Data, Federal Reclamation Projects.

Irrigation.—Irrigated land as defined by the Bureau of the Census is the net acreage of farm land to which irrigation water is applied. It does not include land that could be irrigated, or usually is irrigated, but was not irrigated during the census year. Excluded also is uncultivated land (roads, farmsteads) in irrigated farms and irrigated nonfarm land (cemeteries, parks, golf courses, etc.).

Most of the irrigated land is located in the 17 Western States and Arkansas, Louisiana, and Florida. In these States the Bureau of the Census collects information on acres irrigated, irrigation works, capital investment, and a number of other items from irrigation companies, districts, and other organizations, and from farms that operate their own irrigation supply works. Information for the other States, excepting special surveys, is limited to that reported in the regular farm census.

The development of irrigation projects rests primarily on the Bureau of Reclamation. By Congressional directive its activities are confined to the 17 Western States and Alaska. The operation of irrigation works, upon complete development, is transferred to capable private water user organizations.

Drainage.—Most farm land drainage works serve to reclaim and improve the land. Other purposes are to protect the land against overflow, and to rid the land of seepage from irrigation ditches or for control of alkali formation.

The farm lands of the Eastern States need drainage to remove surplus rainfall. Most of this is gravity drainage, although pumps are sometimes used. In the Western States drainage serves to remove seepage water from irrigated lands and to carry off alkali salts.

The Bureau of the Census in 1950 enumerated, in general, only those organized enterprises with 500 acres or more of drained farm land. A few irrigation enterprises of smaller size which had their own drainage works were also included. In previous Censuses (1910 to 1940) all organized enterprises draining farm lands were included in the enumeration regardless of size. Privately drained lands of less than 500 acres have not been enumerated in any of the four drainage censuses. The change in Census procedure for 1950 materially reduced the number of enterprises enumerated, but affected very little the amount of drained land enumerated.

In taking the 1950 Census, differences in form of organization and management of drainage enterprises made it necessary to divide arbitrarily the 40 States with drainage enterprises into two groups: The 10 "county-drain" States and the 30 "drainage-district" States. The 8 States with no drainage enterprises are the 6 New England States, Pennsylvania, and West Virginia. In the 10 "county-drain" States (Delaware, Indiana, Iowa, Kentucky, Michigan, Minnesota, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, South Dakota), statistics were gathered for the county as a unit, rather than for each separate enterprise as for the 30 "drainage-district" States. Generally, the maintenance work on existing ditches has been done by reorganizing the land of an earlier enterprise into a new project. Since the number of enterprises for "county-drain" States would be meaningless, the number was not obtained for these 10 States.

In the Western States most of the drained land is located in irrigation enterprises which were chartered to do both irrigation and drainage work under one organization. The cost of construction, operation, and maintenance of the irrigation works is usually far greater than that for drainage. Separate records are seldom kept of expenditures for drainage and irrigation. Data were not included in the 1950 Census for cost, collections, and indebtedness of irrigation enterprises having their own drainage. Therefore, the data for 1950 are not fully comparable with those for earlier years.

Soil conservation.—Basic soil conservation district legislation has now been enacted in all of the 48 States and 4 of the Territories and possessions. Each of these laws contains an effective date after which soil conservation districts could be organized by local farmers and operators. A soil conservation district is a political subdivision of a State which is determined by petition and referendum of farmers residing in the area, and approved by the State Soil Conservation Committee. Districts, in most cases, have authority to solicit Federal, State, county, and private assistance in carrying on their soil and water conservation program within the area. On request of the local governing body of each soil conservation district, the Department of Agriculture provides technical and other assistance to districts, through its several agencies. "Memorandums of understanding" form the basis on which any departmental assistance is provided to a district for use on the farms and ranches within the district. After the basic memorandum with the Department has been signed, the Soil Conservation Service signs a supplemental memorandum with each district governing body requesting assistance, to cover activities which the Soil Conservation Service will help each district to carry out.

No. 748.—Irrigation Enterprises—Summary: 1910 to 1950

[Data are for the 17 Western States, Arkansas, Louisiana, and, for 1940 and 1950, Florida. Tables 748 and 750 relate to irrigation enterprises of all types, including those operated by individual farmers. They are based on reports of management of enterprises. An enterprise is defined as "an independent irrigation establishment owning or operating works for supplying water to agricultural land." See also Historical Statistics, series F 56–59]

[1] Warren Act contracts are those which provide for sale of excess water to irrigation districts, i. e., water over and above project requirements. Lands served are usually located outside project proper. The act also provides for joint construction and financing of irrigation works by Federal Government and irrigation districts.

No. 751.—Irrigated Land in Farms, by States: 1939 to 1954

[1954 figures are preliminary. In 1940, the schedule called for land from which irrigated crops were harvested in 1939, and for land irrigated in 1939 and used for grazing or pasture; in 1945 and 1950, for total land in farms irrigated in 1944 and 1949; in 1954, irrigated cropland harvested plus irrigated pasture]

[1] Including irrigation enterprises having their own drainage. An interstate enterprise is counted in each State in which a part is located, but is counted only once in the total.
[2] Data for irrigation enterprises not included in 1950.
[3] Not available.
[4] Largely States with organized drainage districts and other corporate and private enterprises.
[5] Largely county-drain States. See text, p. 601.

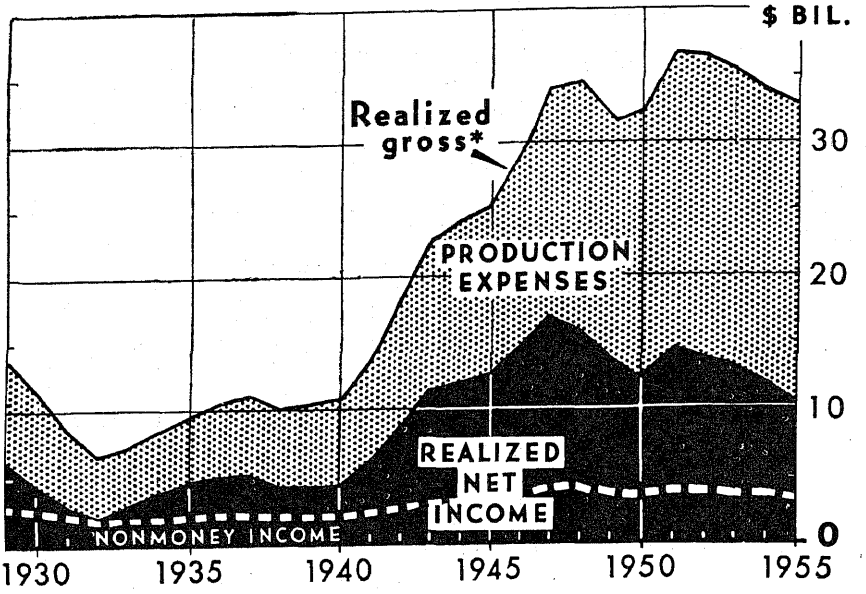
[1] For specific procedure on organization of soil conservation districts, see respective State soil conservation district law. By provision of most State district laws, State soil conservation committee has responsibility for organization of districts. Local district governing bodies administer affairs of each individual district.

[2] Soil Conservation Service furnishes technical and other assistance to practically all districts that have entered into Memorandums of understanding with Department of Agriculture.

[3] Comprises all farmer-district cooperative agreements for initial, advanced and basic conservation plans (formerly shown as active conservation plans only, not including initial and advanced agreements). Cancellations caused by death, change in ownership, or mutual consent have been deducted. Data on plans and treated areas included only work done through farmer-district cooperative agreements since Aug. 1937 with assistance of Soil Conservation Service.

[4] Includes Imperial Irrigation District.



[5] Includes 19 State cooperative grazing districts.

[6] Includes 1 wind-erosion district.

Section 24

Agriculture—General Statistics

This section presents measures of the broader aspects of our farm economy: The number, value, acreage, and ownership of farms; agricultural balance sheet, and national product; and farm prices, income, expenditures, and debt.

The principal sources of these data are the U. S. Census of Agriculture, conducted by the Bureau of the Census, and the many current and annual publications of the Department of Agriculture, among which are: The Balance Sheet of Agriculture, Current Developments in the Farm Real Estate Market, Agricultural Finance Review, The Farm Income Situation, Agricultural Statistics, Agricultural Prices, Crops and Markets, and Statistics of Farmers' Marketing, Purchasing, and Service Cooperatives.

Data on farm output and productivity, on specific crops, acreage, and production, and on livestock and poultry may be found in section 25, Agriculture—Production and Related Subjects.

Starting in 1840 a Census of Agriculture has been conducted every 10 years. In 1925, 1935, 1945, and 1954 a mid-decade census has also been taken. The data have been obtained by personal enumeration of individual farms. The first Census of Agriculture, limited in scope, included such items as an inventory of the principal classes of domestic animals, the production of wool, the value of poultry and products of the dairy, and the production of principal crops. Data concerning the number, acreage, and value of farms were first introduced in the Census of 1850. In 1880, information was first secured as to the tenure under which farms were operated. A detailed classification of farm land according to use was first obtained in 1925.

Farms and farmland.—In the course of its history, the Bureau of the Census has employed several definitions of a farm. According to the latest definition (used in the 1950 and 1954 Censuses) a farm is all the land on which some agricultural operations are performed by a person, either by the operator or with the assistance of household or hired labor. Places of 3 acres or more are considered farms if their production is valued at a minimum of $150, exclusive of that from a home garden. Places of less than 3 acres must have sold a minimum of $150 of their production to be classified as a farm.

According to the definition used from 1925 to 1945, places of 3 acres or more were counted as farms if any agricultural products, other than from a home garden, were produced, while places of less than 3 acres were classified as farms if the agricultural production was valued at a minimum of $250. For the definitions used in earlier censuses, see U. S. Census of Agriculture: 1950, Vol. II, Introduction.

Agricultural operations consist of the production of crops or plants, vines, or trees (excluding forestry operations), or of the keeping, grazing, or feeding of livestock for animal products, animal increase, or value enhancement. Included as farms are such agricultural enterprises as nurseries, greenhouses, hothouses, fur farms, mushroom houses, apiaries, and cranberry bogs. Excluded are fish farms, fish hatcheries, oyster farms, frog farms, kennels, game preserves, parks, and the like. When a landowner has one or more tenants, renters, croppers, or managers, the land operated by each is considered a farm for census purposes. Thus, for a plantation, each cropper and tenant operation is considered a separate farm even though the entire plantation may be handled essentially as a single farm enterprise.

The land in farms includes considerable areas of land not actually under cultivation or used for pasture or grazing, but all such land must have been under the control of the operator and considered a part of his farm. Land used for grazing or pasture that was neither owned nor leased by the farm operator generally was not included under land in farms. Rent-free lands were included in an operator's farm only if he had sole use of such lands. Thus vast acreages of land used for grazing, such as national forests, Taylor grazing land, State lands, or other public lands, and some railroad and other privately owned lands, are not included as land in farms even though used for agricultural purposes.

Note.—This section presents data for the most recent year or period available on May 8, 1956, when the material was organized and sent to the printer. In some instances, more recent data were added later.

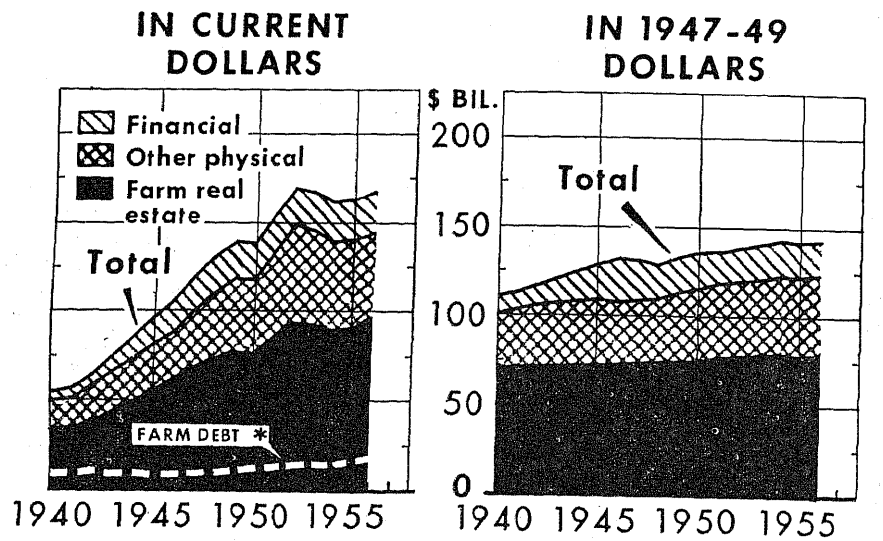
Farm prices and income.—Information on prices received by farmers for products they sell and prices paid for articles they buy for production and family living are obtained by the Agricultural Marketing Service from about 33,000 voluntary reporters, which include farmers, local merchants, and handlers of agricultural products. Season average prices received by farmers are calculated by weighting midmonth prices by monthly sales during the crop marketing season, beginning with the first month in which a particular crop harvest begins.



The index numbers of prices received and of prices paid by farmers are based on current midmonth prices for these commodities. For information concerning methods of construction of the indexes, see Supplement No. 1 to the January 1950 issue of Agricultural Prices, issued by the Agricultural Marketing Service. The ratio of the index of prices received to the index of prices paid by farmers measures the monthly variation in the average per unit exchange value of farm products in terms of commodities and services bought by farmers.

Cash income is the cash receipts from farm marketings and represents the quantities of crops, livestock, and livestock products sold by farmers multiplied by the prices received per unit of production at the local market. Gross farm income includes Government payments, value of farm products consumed on the farm, and rental value of farm homes, as well as cash receipts from farm marketings.

[In millions of 1947–49 dollars. Farm gross national product represents the portion of gross national product originating on the farm. It is a value-added concept obtained by subtracting from the total value of farm output the value of (intermediate) materials used up in the production process, such as fertilizer, purchased feed, and motor fuel. It measures production occurring on farms, without duplication and is "gross" only in the sense that depreciation and other capital consumption allowances are not deducted]

[1] Comprised largely of Indian land and State land.
[2] Includes cropland used only for pasture.
[3] Cropland used for pasture only. Not comparable to previous estimates of plowable pasture.
[4] Includes idle grassland in first decades and arid woodland (piñon, juniper, chaparral).
[5] Includes about 70 to 80 million acres of arid woodland and other brushland grazed.
[6] Excludes several million acres of forest land in parks, wildlife refuges, and military areas; and considerable acreages of arid woodland and brushland included in pasture and grazing land areas.
[7] Includes some arid woodland and brushland.
[8] Largely commercial forest land.
[9] Estimated.

No. 770.—Farms—Number and Percent Distribution, by Type: 1950 and 1954

[Based on reports for a sample of farms. Type of farm determined on basis of relationship of value of sales from a particular source to total value of products sold for each farm. In general, value of sales from a particular source was 50% or more of total sales when a farm was classified as that type. Part-time farms include those with a value of products sold of $250–$1,199 and with operator either reporting 100 days or more of off-farm work or other income exceeding value of farm products sold. Residential farms include those with a value of farm products sold of less than $250. Abnormal farms include public and private institutional farms, experiment stations, community projects, etc.]

[1] Represents value at the first level at which cooperatives transact business for farmers. Excludes wholesale business of farm supply cooperatives with other cooperatives or terminal market sales performed for local associations. [2] Preliminary.

[3] Because many associations are engaged in more than one type of business, these totals are less than the number that would be obtained by adding the number of associations handling individual items or performing individual services. [4] Charges for services in which no duplication occurs.

Section 25

Agriculture—Production and Related Subjects

This section presents statistics concerning farm output and productivity, farm imports and exports, and data relative to specific crops, livestock, dairy products, and poultry.

The principal sources of these data are the reports of the decennial and quinquennial Censuses of Agriculture conducted by the Bureau of the Census and three annual reports issued by the Agricultural Marketing Service of the Department of Agriculture entitled Crop Production, Crop Values, and Agricultural Statistics. Other important sources of these data published by the Agricultural Marketing Service include Production of Manufactured Dairy Products; Livestock on Farms, January 1; U. S. Livestock Reports; The National Food Situation; Cotton and Cottonseed Production; and The Wheat Situation. Data sources concerned with agricultural exports and imports include Foreign Agricultural Trade published by the Foreign Agricultural Service of the Department of Agriculture and Foreign Commerce and Navigation of the United States which was issued annually through 1946 by the Bureau of the Census. Statistics on other aspects of agriculture may be found in section 24, Agriculture—General Statistics.

Crop reporting.—Annual agricultural statistics of a wide variety have been issued currently by the Department of Agriculture for 90 years—the first being as of May 1, 1863. The 41 field offices design the samples and collect data from voluntary reporters. State estimates and other information are sent to the Crop Reporting Board of the Agricultural Marketing Service, where, after review, reports are issued containing State, regional, and United States data.

Statistics compiled by the Agricultural Marketing Service on crops, livestock and livestock products, agricultural prices, farm employment, and other related subjects are based mainly on data obtained through mail questionnaires. The basic information is obtained from nearly three-fourths of a million reporters, mostly farmers, who report for their own and nearby farms on some 80 crops and scores of other items pertaining to agricultural production and farm family living. The most extensive of the current survey data are gathered by the Agricultural Marketing Service from questionnaires handled in cooperation with the Post Office Department through its rural mail carriers. These surveys obtain livestock data in June and December and crop acreage data in October.

In the data prepared by the Agricultural Marketing Service, estimates of crop acreage and production for the census years are set up currently from available information. Later, if necessary, these data are revised to a level based largely on the Census enumerations. The estimates for intercensal years are based on sample data obtained each year from individual reporters. This information is supplemented by other data, such as State assessors' enumerations of agricultural information, crop meter frontage measurements, reports of carlot shipments, warehouse receipts, local surveys, personal observations by field statisticians as well as reports from other sources having a knowledge of farming, agricultural production, and processing. Cotton acreage and production are also based on sample data and, in large measure, on ginning information gathered by the Bureau of the Census.

Note.—This section presents data for the most recent year or period available on May 8, 1956, when the material was organized and sent to the printer. In some instances, more recent data were added later.

Livestock.—For each decade from 1840 through 1900, the Census of Agriculture was taken as of June 1. The five decennial censuses since then have been taken as of April 15, 1910; January 1, 1920; and April 1, 1930, 1940, and 1950. The 1925, 1935, and 1945 quinquennial Censuses of Agriculture were taken as of January 1. The 1954 Census of Agriculture was taken in the fall of that year. Comparison of inventory numbers of livestock from census to census is seriously affected by changes in the date of enumeration. From January to April, there are material changes in numbers on hand in most parts of the country, due to births, marketings, farm slaughter, etc. In an effort to obtain as much comparability as possible, the censuses taken in April either excluded recently born animals from the enumeration or provided for their enumeration in a separate age group. Volume II of U. S. Census of Agriculture: 1950 shows a complete history of the enumeration of livestock and presents a discussion of the comparability from census to census. For most kinds of domestic livestock, there are comparatively short, cyclic fluctuations in numbers, even though the trend over a long period of time may be definitely in one direction.

Annual inventory numbers of livestock on farms, together with estimates of livestock, dairy, and poultry production prepared by the Department of Agriculture, are based on information furnished by individual farmers, supplemented by State assessors' data in a number of States, and by such records as brand inspections, rail and truck shipments, and inspected slaughter. The level for these inventories is based in large part on Census enumerations for years when Census data are available.

[1] Measures annual volume of farm production available for eventual human use.
[2] Measures gross production of meat animals, dairy products, poultry and eggs, and some miscellaneous livestock products not shown separately, excluding horses and mules. Livestock production is made up of three components: Constant-dollar value of pasture consumed, other feed consumed, and product-added in converting feed and pasture into livestock and products for human use. In combining production of livestock and crops into total farm output, value of feed other than pasture consumed is excluded to avoid double counting of production of feed crops included in crop production.
[3] Total constant dollar value of all crop production including some miscellaneous crop production not shown, regardless of its final disposition. In calculating farm output the value of production of hay seeds, pasture seeds, and cover-crop seeds is excluded.
[4] Hay and concentrates. Constant dollar value of hay and concentrates fed to horses and mules is subtracted when combining livestock and crops into total farm output.
[5] 52 crops for 1929 and 1930.

[1] Based on sum of the estimated acreage from which one or more crops were harvested plus acreages of crop failure and summer fallow.

[2] Average farm prices were used as weights in combining annual total production of each crop into an index of total crop production. Average 1935–39 prices were used for 1939 and prior years, and average 1947–49 prices for the period beginning in 1940. Index series for the two subperiods were spliced together in 1940 through use of overlapped calculations for that year. Index of crop production was divided by the index of cropland used to derive the index of crop production per acre.

[3] Numbers of various types of breeding units were combined into a total by weighting by constant-dollar value weights based on contribution of each unit to gross livestock production. Average 1935–39 weights were used for 1939 and prior years, and 1947–49 weights for the period beginning in 1940. Index series for the two subperiods were spliced together in 1940 through use of overlapped calculations for that year.

[4] An index of livestock production was built up by using 1935–39 and 1947–49 farm prices as weights and splicing as outlined for crop production in footnote 2. Index of livestock production was divided by the index of animal units of breeding livestock to obtain production per unit.

[1] For Census of 1920, cropland harvested was obtained by adding the acres of individual crops harvested. See footnote 6.
[2] Not available.
[3] Total acreage of crops harvested for which figures are available. Includes any acreage of alfalfa seed and clover and grass seeds enumerated, some of which was harvested from land also cut for hay.
[4] Total for specified crops.
[5] Irish and sweet potatoes included with "Field crops," not with "Vegetables."
[6] Excludes corn cut for fodder (acreage, 14,503,000; value, $206,935,000) probably duplicated in acreage of corn harvested for grain.
[7] Only strawberries included in small fruits; other small fruits included in field crops.
[8] Acreage represents vegetables harvested for sale only; acreage in farm gardens not available. Value comprises both vegetables for home use and for sale, except as noted.
[9] Vegetables harvested for sale.
[10] Available data not comparable.
[11] Farm garden vegetables for home use only.
[12] Acreage in fruit orchards, vineyards, and planted nut trees not secured prior to 1930 Census.
[13] Acreage of horticultural specialties not included.
[14] Excludes acreage on farms reporting less than one-half acre in orchards, vineyards, and planted nut trees.

[1] Total acreage of crops harvested for which figures are available. Includes any acreage of alfalfa seed and clover and grass seeds enumerated, some of which was harvested from land also cut for hay.
[2] Not available.
[3] Irish and sweetpotatoes included with Field crops, not with Vegetables.
[4] Excludes sweet corn, popcorn, Egyptian corn, kafir, and milo maize.
[5] Totals are for States for which data are available.
[6] Oats cut for feeding unthreshed included with Small grains cut for hay.
[7] Totals are for 8 States having separate inquiry on questionnaire in 1949.
[8] Reported as a vegetable in 1954.
[9] Individual hay crops may include some duplication of acreage due to cutting of more than one crop during year.
[10] Includes grass silage converted to dry weight basis. See footnote 13.
[11] Includes wild hay and lespedeza in those States where separate inquiries were not on the questionnaire.
[12] Silage crops other than corn and sorghums.
[13] Green weight.
[14] Excludes acreage for farms with less than 15 bushels harvested in 1949, and less than 20 in 1954.
[15] Excludes acreage on farms with less than ½ acre of fruit orchards, groves, vineyards, and planted nut trees.

No. 811.—Principal Crops—Acreage, Production, and Value: 1866 to 1955

[For weights of units of measurement for principal products, see Appendix II. Approximate weights of units of measurement for other products are as follows: Number of pounds to a bushel—sweetpotatoes, 55; sorghums for grain, 56; clover seed, 60. Number of pounds to a bag of rice, 100. Prices and yields for periods are weighted averages except for cotton and cottonseed, which are simple averages of prices and yields for individual years. Acreage, production, and yield of all crops revised to Census data. See also Historical Statistics, series E 181–230, for acreage harvested, production, and price data for corn, wheat, oats, barley, flaxseed, potatoes, sweetpotatoes, cotton, cottonseed, soybeans, and hay]

[1] Values are based on season average or Dec. 1 prices. See notes on "Price" column.

[4] Received by farmers. Beginning with 1908 for potatoes and cotton, 1909 for sweetpotatoes, and cottonseed, prices are season average prices. Figures for prior years are Dec. 1 prices. Prices for certain years for cotton and cottonseed include an allowance for unredeemed loans and purchase agreement deliveries.

[5] 8-year average. [6] 6-year average. [7] 7-year average. [8] 4-year average.

[9] Includes following quantities of commercial early potatoes not marketed and excluded in computing value (1,000 bushels): 1928, 7,462; 1931, 66; 1932, 2,175; 1939, 1,240; 1943, 440; 1950, 1,235; 1951, 1,093; 1953, 5,115.

[10] Includes 1,504,000 bushels unharvested but purchased by the Government under price-support program.

[11] State production figures, which conform with Census annual ginning enumeration with allowance for cross State ginnings, rounded to thousands and added for United States totals. Cotton grown in Baja, California, ginned in California from 1913 to 1924, has been excluded.

[12] Production is in running bales prior to 1899; 500-pound gross weight bales thereafter.

[13] 2-year average.

[1] Values are based on season average or Dec. 1 prices. See notes on "Price" column.
[13] 2-year average.
[14] Received by farmers. Prices for certain years for grain sorghums, dry edible beans, soybeans, and red clover seed include an allowance for unredeemed loans and purchase agreement deliveries. See also notes on prices for each crop.
[15] Based on reported price of grain sorghums.
[16] Equivalent solid acreage.
[17] Season average price for cleaned beans.
[18] Bags of 100 pounds (uncleaned).
[19] Equals the price of cleaned beans applied to the production of cleaned beans rather than to the total production.
[20] Beginning 1939, clean seed; prior years, thresher-run seed.
[21] Dec. 1 prices, 1916 to 1931; beginning 1932, season average prices.
[22] Includes 5,436,000 pounds in 1935, 4,365,000 pounds in 1937, 3,140,000 pounds in 1938, 2,813,000 pounds in 1939, not available for marketing because of economic conditions and the marketing agreement allotments. Salable allotments under marketing agreement were 39,000,000 pounds in 1949, 50,000,000 pounds in 1950, 46,500,000 pounds in 1951, and 39,200,000 pounds in 1952. Prices and values are computed on the marketed crop. Marketing agreement terminated June 30, 1953.

[1] Value based on season average or Dec. 1 prices. See notes on "Price" column. [13] 2-year average.
[23] Received by farmers. Prices as of Dec. 1 except as noted. [24] Tame hay only, prior to 1909.
[25] Season average price beginning 1909; Dec. 1 prices theretofore. Beginning 1939, prices are for hay sold baled; prior years, for hay sold loose.
[26] Season average price beginning 1919; Dec. 1 prices theretofore.
[27] Prior to 1942, data are for 7 States. Production figures comprise fruit consumed on farms, sold locally, and used for manufacturing, as well as that shipped; they exclude fruit which ripened on trees but was destroyed prior to picking. Figures relate to crop produced from bloom of year shown. In California, picking season usually extends from about Oct. 1 to Dec. 31 of following year. In other States, season begins about Oct. 1 and ends in early summer.
[28] Prior to 1942, price of sweet sorghums for forage and hay. Dec. 1 price.
[29] Net content of boxes varies. In California and Arizona, approximate average is 77 lbs.; in other States, 90 lbs. Production includes following quantities donated to charity, unharvested, and/or eliminated on account of economic conditions (1,000 boxes): 1933, 977; 1934, 1,395; 1935, 614; 1936, 1,023; 1937, 1,204; 1938, 2,949; 1939, 1,236; 1940, 1,322; 1941, 762; 1942, 654; 1943, 830; 1944, 1,771; 1945, 731; 1946, 2,639; 1947, 1,563; 1948, 881; 1949, 894; 1950, 799; 1951, 1,063; 1952, 443; 1953, 1,000. Price and value are computed on remaining crop.
[30] Season average returns to growers. Price and value apply to entire crop exclusive of that portion donated to charity, unharvested, and/or eliminated on account of market conditions. (See footnote 29.) Prices are equivalent packing-house-door returns for all methods of sale and are weighted by production to obtain U. S. averages.

No. 830.—Vegetable Crops, Commercial—Acreage, Production, and Value, by Kind, 1954 and 1955, and Leading States, 1955

[Production in equivalent tons of 2,000 pounds. Estimates relate to commercial production for fresh market and processing combined and include production in market-garden areas. Production for home use in farm and nonfarm gardens is not included. Value based on season-average prices received by growers. Value is for season or crop year and should not be confused with calendar year income]

[1] Acreage of crops for harvest for fresh market, including any partially harvested or not harvested because of low prices or other economic factors, plus acreage harvested for processing.

[2] Includes some quantities not marketed and excluded in computing value.

[3] Processing production shelled basis plus fresh market production in the shell. Equivalent shelled production: 1954, 114,000 tons; 1955, 97,800 tons.

[4] Processing production shelled basis plus fresh market production in the shell. Equivalent shelled basis: 1954, 408,620 tons; 1955, 462,960 tons.

[1] Excludes Cuba. Includes Puerto Rico, Hawaii, Philippine Islands, and beginning 1910, Virgin Islands not shown separately.
[2] Beet sugar not converted to raw prior to 1909. Refined reduced to raw basis by multiplying by 1.07.
[3] Louisiana and Texas 1909 to 1923; Louisiana only 1924 to 1927; Louisiana and Florida beginning 1928.
[4] For 1900 to 1906, shipments to United States. Sugar 96° basis as computed by Puerto Rican mills.
[5] Normal grinding season begins Oct. 1. In 1933, production was from grindings of Oct. 1, 1933, to Dec. 31, 1934; beginning 1934, from grindings of the next calendar year.
[6] Exports 1900 to 1911, production 1912 and subsequently. Includes production of muscovado and panocha, low grades of sugar mostly for domestic consumption.
[7] Production for 1940; not available for 1941–44.

[1] Growth of 9 months in Louisiana and 12 months in Florida. Sugar season usually ends by December or early January in Louisiana and in Florida by March following season of growth.
[2] Season average price received by farmers. Prices exclude Government payments under the Sugar Act. Price support payments for 1943–45 included.
[3] Raw value equals 96° raw sugar as defined in Sugar Act of 1948; prior to 1929, calculated by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration Method. (S. R. Series 1, No. 1.)
[4] Calculated on basis that 100 pounds of raw sugar required to produce 93.46 pounds of refined sugar.
[5] Converted to 80° Brix beginning with 1934. Data for previous years as reported.
[6] Sirup production excluded. See table 836. [7] Not available.

No. 851.—Meats and Lard—Production, Foreign Trade, and Consumption by Kind: 1945 to 1954

[All quantities, except per capita, in millions of pounds of carcass weight equivalent. Edible byproducts are excluded. Production of pork excluding lard comprises weight of dressed hog carcass less head bones and less all carcass fat rendered into lard. Lard production represents rendered weight of lard, and lard exports represent rendered lard, including neutral lard. Federally inspected production omits production in Hawaii and Virgin Islands. Uninspected production is made up of farm and retail slaughter and all wholesale slaughter that is not Federally inspected. Commercial exports include commercial shipments to territories; they do not include USDA exports and shipments for Lend-Lease, UNRRA or other claimants, nor do they include shipments for military civilian feeding or voluntary relief feeding. Civilian consumption is calculated from production and foreign trade, with an allowance for changes in stocks, and with deduction of military takings, and of deliveries to USDA through 1947. See also Historical Statistics, series E 138, 142, 146, and 150 for total production of beef, veal, lamb and mutton, and pork]

[1] Price received by farmers. Weighted season average 1946 to date, weighted calendar average earlier years. Season April–March.

[2] Actual weight. Imports for consumption beginning 1934, general imports prior thereto. For 1941 and earlier years, carpet wool includes only Donskoi, Smyrna, East Indian, Chinese, and similar wools without merino or English blood, and through 1933, includes camel hair; apparel wool includes all other wools. For 1942 and thereafter, carpet wool includes all duty-free wool and apparel wool includes all dutiable wool.

[3] For 1942–1946, excludes a total of 506 million pounds of duty-free wool imported and stored in this country largely for the British Government, and later re-exported; not available to domestic mills.

[4] Includes hair of angora goat, alpaca, and other like animals. Includes a small amount of carpet wool beginning 1943.

[5] Production, minus exports, plus imports; stocks not taken into consideration. [6] Scoured basis.

[7] Includes an allowance for wool under loan.

[8] Weighted average price for wool sold April 1955–January 1956.

[1] Wool regarded as more or less suitable for apparel purposes; formerly "Combing and clothing."

[2] Beginning 1946, includes raw wool consumed on woolen and worsted systems only. Raw wool consumed on cotton and other systems and by felt and batting manufactures amounted to about 10 million pounds in 1946

Section 26

Forests and Forest Products

This section presents measures of national and commercial forests, including annual growth and cut of timber; the utilization and receipts of national forests for commercial and recreational purposes; forest fires; and forest industries and products such as lumber, paper, pulp, millwork, and turpentine.

The principal sources of these data are the Timber Resource Review reports issued in 1955; the annual report National Forest Areas, and Forest Fire Statistics published by the Forest Service of the Department of Agriculture; the annual reports of the Bureau of the Census entitled Lumber Production and Mill Stocks and Pulp, Paper, and Board Mills, and other reports in the Bureau of the Census Facts for Industry series issued quarterly on plywood and monthly on pulp, paper, and board. Additional information in this field is published in the annual report of the National Forest Reservation Commission, the Annual Naval Stores Report of the Agricultural Marketing Service, the monthly Survey of Current Business of the Office of Business Economics, the National Survey of Lumber Demand and Supply of the National Lumber Manufacturers Association, and releases of the Fish and Wildlife Service of the Department of the Interior.

The Bureau of the Census also collects statistics of foreign trade of forest products. The Bureau of Labor Statistics publishes monthly and annual statistics of wholesale lumber prices. Information on the domestic movement of forest products is collected by the Interstate Commerce Commission and the Association of American Railways.

The completeness and reliability of statistics of forests and forest products vary considerably. The data for forest land area and stand are, of course, much more reliable for areas which have been surveyed than for those areas which have not been covered. Forest fire statistics for Federal lands are considered much better than for private lands, though too much reliance should not be placed on estimates of fire damage or causes of fires.

In the field of forest products, data for lumber production and other manufactured products such as veneer and plywood, pulp and paper, cooperage, naval stores, etc., are much more complete than for the primary forest products such as poles and piling, fuelwood, and fence posts. The data for lumber production are subject to certain limitations because of incomplete coverage. Information for pulp and paper, and plywood, on the other hand, is believed to have practically complete coverage. Statistics relating to average value of lumber sawed may be subject to some limitations due to incomplete representation of small mills.

For an historical summation of raw materials production, imports, exports, and consumption, which includes figures for forest products, see table 906.

Historical statistics.—Tabular headnotes (as "See also Historical Statistics, series F 69–73") provide cross-references, where applicable, to Historical Statistics of the United States, 1789–1945. See preface.

Note.—This section presents data for the most recent year or period available on May 15, 1956, when the material was organized and sent to the printer.

[1] Comprises all land which is (a) producing, or physically capable of producing, usable crops of wood (usually sawtimber), (b) economically available now or prospectively, and (c) not withdrawn from timber utilization.
[2] Included with "Other" to avoid possible disclosure of area owned by individual "wood-using" industries. Where these combinations have been made, State figures for "Wood-using" industries and "Other" do not add to totals because national, regional, and sectional totals show correct ownership distribution.
[3] Less than 500 acres.

No. 879.—Lumber Production, by Kind of Wood, and Average Mill Value: 1869 to 1953

[Data not strictly comparable because of incomplete coverage of numerous small mills in the East prior to 1942 and exclusion of mills cutting less than 50 M.ft. b. m. for all years prior to 1942 except 1869–1909 and 1919. Exclusion of under 50 M class of mills would affect totals less than 1 percent as reflected by 1942 survey. Data for 1943–46 and for 1949–53 are based on sample surveys; see source for sampling reliability. See also Historical Statistics, series F 109–111 and F 120–122, for similar but not identical figures from Dept. of Agri. Forest Service]

[1] Prior to 1950 cubic volume for crossties, poles, piling, fence posts, wood blocks, and cross arms was based on number of units reported and an estimated average cubic volume per unit. For 1950 and subsequent years, cubic volume is based on volume reported by treating plants, and data are therefore not completely comparable with earlier years.

[1] Figures for turpentine and rosin from crude gum, beginning 1929-30, and from wood beginning 1933-34, relate to crop year ending Mar. 31; earlier figures relate to calendar years.
[2] Figures compiled from data reported by establishments in turpentine and rosin industry.
[3] Figures compiled from data reported by establishments in Wood-Distillation industry.
[4] Not reported.
[5] Includes, for 1909 and 1914, 366 barrels and 1,848 barrels respectively, of turpentine and, for 1914, 3,596 drums of rosin, reported by establishments engaged in manufacture of lumber and timber products.
[6] Estimated by J. E. Lockwood; complete data not available. Figures include estimates of rosin produced from reclaimed gum, as follows: 1932-33, 26,720 drums; 1933-34, 28,048; 1934-35, 27,200.
[7] Includes estimates by J. E. Lockwood for production of turpentine from steam-distilled wood.
[8] Includes data for rosin produced from reclaimed gum: For 1935-36, 43,350 drums; 1936-37, 34,155; 1937-38, 21,017; 1938-39, 31,983; 1939-40, 31,414; 1940-41, 20,181; 1941-42, 19,765; 1942-43, 11,297; 1943-44, 9,824; 1944-45, 8,066; 1945-46, 8,538; 1946-47, 8,449; 1947-48, 4,345; 1948-49, 4,230; 1949-50, 2,230; 1950-51, 560.

Section 27

Fisheries

This section presents statistics relating to quantity, value, species, and disposition of fish caught for commercial purposes, and of fishery products. The principal sources of these data are the annual report Fishery Statistics of the United States, and the monthly and annual Current Fishery Statistics bulletins, both published by the Fish and Wildlife Service of the Department of the Interior.

The Fish and Wildlife Service conducts annual surveys for various statistical information on the fishery industries. Results from the surveys include data on the volume of the catch of individual species of fish and shellfish and their value, employment in the fisheries, quantity of gear operated, the number of fishing and transporting craft employed in the capture and transporting of fishery products, employment in wholesale and manufacturing establishments, and volume and value of the production of manufactured fishery products. In addition to the basic statistics on employment, yield, and production, the reports include data on imports and exports of fishery commodities; landings by fishing craft at Boston, Gloucester, New Bedford, and on Cape Cod, Mass.; at Maine ports; and at Seattle, Wash. Information is also collected covering shad fisheries of the Hudson and Potomac Rivers; alewife fisheries of the Potomac; seed oyster fisheries; Pacific Coast halibut fisheries; whaling operations by United States firms; and sponge fisheries.

The first comprehensive statistical survey of the fisheries and fishery industries of the United States was made for the year 1880, although it did not include data for the Mississippi River and its tributaries. Periodic general surveys of a limited number of States or limited areas of the United States were made for various years between 1880 and 1908, and from 1909 to 1928. A survey of the entire United States was made for 1908. The next general survey of the entire United States was not made until 1931, although complete data for all sections, excluding the Mississippi River and its tributaries, were collected for 1929 and 1930. Various sections were surveyed during the years from 1933 to 1949, inclusive. A complete survey of all sections of the country, including the manufacturing and wholesaling operations, was made for 1950.

Historical statistics.—Tabular headnotes (as "See also Historical Statistics, series F 155") provide cross-references, where applicable, to Historical Statistics of the United States, 1789–1945. See preface.

Note.—This section presents data for the most recent year or period available on May 15, 1956, when the material was organized and sent to the printer.

No. 894.—Fisheries—Disposition of Domestic Catch: 1947 to 1955

[Round weight of catch in millions of pounds. Includes Alaska. A large portion of waste derived from canning, filleting, and dressing fish and shellfish is utilized in production of fish meal and oil in addition to whole fish used in manufacture of these products. From 600,000,000 to 1,000,000,000 pounds of waste were used in production of meal and oil each year shown. See also Historical Statistics, series F 155–159]

Section 28

Mining and Mineral Products

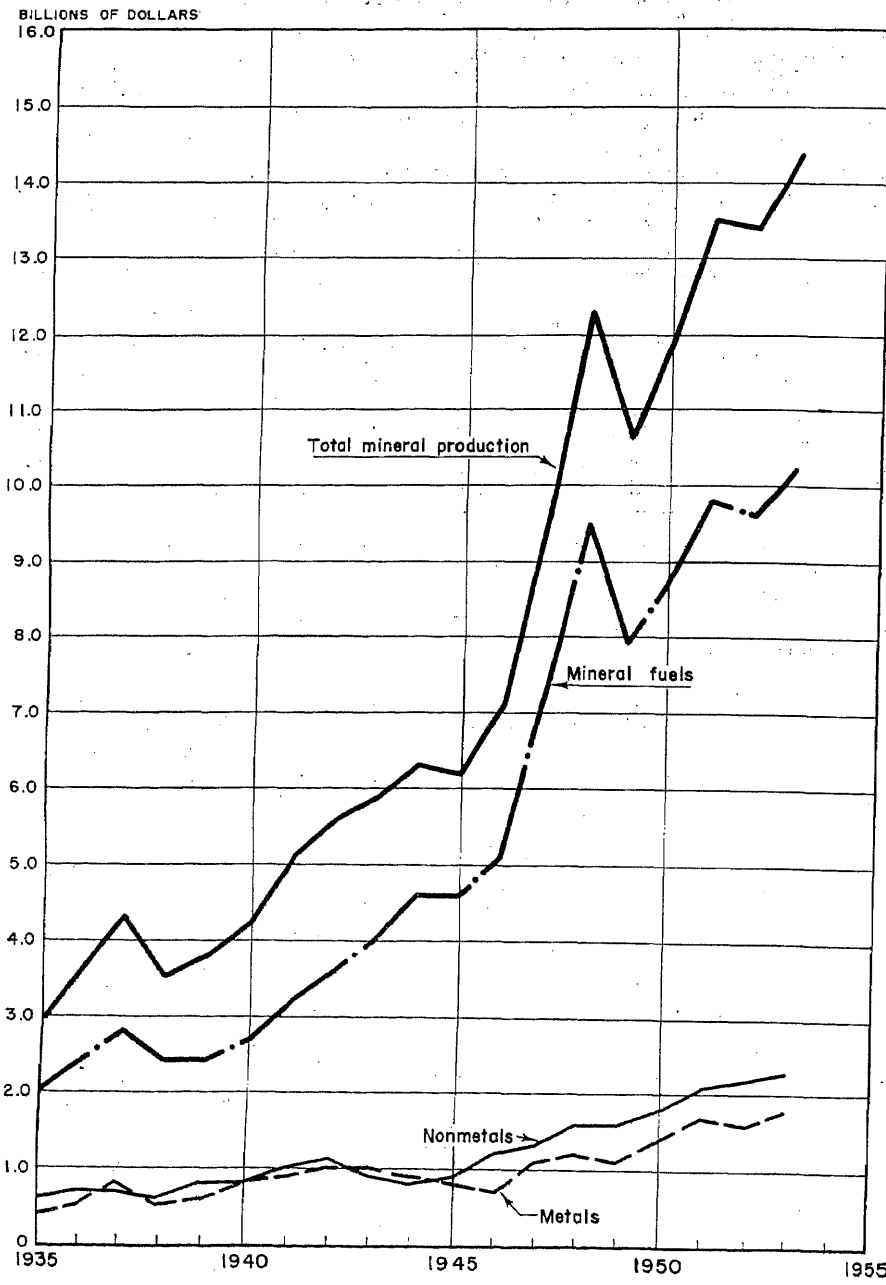
This section presents statistics relating to the mineral industries and mineral products. The data are arranged in four broad groupings: General summary statistics, fuels, nonmetals other than fuels, and metals. Summary measures of production and employment are presented for mining and its products. More detailed data on value and quantity of production, prices, imports and exports, consumption, and distribution are shown for specific mineral industries and products. The latter include not only crude minerals (coal, iron ore, etc.), but minerals which have passed through certain stages of processing (refined copper, cement, etc.), and minerals such as magnesium whose extraction does not involve mining in the conventional sense.

The principal source of these data is the Minerals Yearbook, published by the Bureau of Mines of the Department of the Interior. Other government sources are the Censuses of Mineral Industries conducted by the Bureau of the Census; Statistics of Oil Pipe Line Companies, an annual report of the Interstate Commerce Commission; and the Bureau of the Mint's Annual Report of the Director, which presents data on gold and silver. Nongovernment sources include the Engineering and Mining Journal issued monthly by the McGraw-Hill Publishing Co.; Iron Age, a weekly Chilton Co. publication; the annual Metal Statistics of the American Metal Market; and the annual Petroleum Facts and Figures of the American Petroleum Institute.

Mineral statistics, with principal emphasis on commodity detail, have been collected annually or at more frequent intervals by the United States Geological Survey or by the Bureau of Mines since 1880. Current data available from Bureau of Mines publications include quantities and values of minerals produced, sold or used by producers, or shipped; quantities of minerals stocked; crude materials treated and prepared minerals recovered; and consumption of mineral raw materials. The Bureau of Mines also collects and publishes separate data on man-hours, active days, length of shift, and accidents.

Censuses of mineral industries have been conducted by the Bureau of the Census approximately every 10 years since 1840. However, the most recent census for which complete figures are available is for 1939. A census covering the year 1954 is presently in process; the complete results will be available during late 1956 and 1957. Summary data from this census for selected mineral industries are included here. Commodity statistics on many of the manufactured mineral products are also collected by the Bureau of the Census at monthly, quarterly, or annual intervals and issued in its Facts for Industry series.

Data on mining and mineral products may also be found in other sections of this Abstract. For example, data on iron and steel, aluminum and magnesium, copper products, clay products, and other mineral products appear in section 30, Manufactures; and summary data for U. S. Territories and possessions appear in section 33.



In general, figures shown in the individual commodity tables include data for Territories and possessions, and may therefore not agree with summary table 904.

Historical statistics.—Tabular headnotes (as "See also Historical Statistics, series G 1–5") provide cross-references, where applicable, to Historical Statistics of the United States, 1789–1945. See preface.

Note.—This section presents data for the most recent year or period available on May 15, 1956, when the material was organized and sent to the printer. In a few instances, more recent data were added later.

No. 901.—Value of Mineral Production in the United States: 1881 to 1953

[In millions of dollars. Principal differences between old basis and new basis are as follows: (1) Totals on the new basis represent continental U. S. only; on the old basis, production in Alaska, Hawaii, Philippine Islands, and Puerto Rico was included, but no data were collected for other U. S. possessions now shown in table 1150; (2) U. S. totals on the new basis are a better representation than formerly of the production of primary minerals from domestic mines (or concentrating mills); on the old basis, totals include secondary products and mineral products made from foreign materials. However, value on new basis still includes some advanced products, like cement, lime, and natural gas liquids; also, mine value of nonferrous metals is based not on ore, but on value after refining of the recoverable metal content. Revised data for years prior to 1925 on new basis are not available. See also Historical Statistics, series G 1–5]

[1] Includes small quantity of anthracite mined in States other than Pennsylvania.
[2] Excludes sharpening stones, included with "Nonmetallic minerals, undistributed."
[3] Weight not recorded.
[4] Value included with "Nonmetallic minerals, undistributed."
[5] Includes clays sold or used for cement.
[6] Excludes abrasive stone, bituminous limestone, bituminous sandstone, and soapstone, all included elsewhere in table. Also excludes limestone for cement and lime.
[7] Sold or used by producers. Quantity and value of ground material included.
[8] Mine production of crude material.
[9] Comprises aplite, brucite, diatomite, iodine, Kyanite, quartz crystal (1950), sharpening stones, and minerals indicated by footnote reference 4.
[10] Value included with "Metals, undistributed."
[11] Comprises magnesium chloride for magnesium metal, platinum-group metals (crude), vanadium, and minerals indicated by footnote reference 10.

[1] Represents value of shipments of primary and secondary products of the industry and amount received for contract services performed for other establishments. Figures for 1939 represent value of production.
[2] Represents an average of monthly or quarterly figures.
[3] For 1954, includes the value of minerals received from other establishments for preparation. Such figures are excluded for 1939.
[4] Represents the horsepower of all prime movers plus the horsepower of electric motors driven by purchased energy.
[5] Excludes data for dressing plants operated in connection with stone quarries.
[6] Includes data for quarries and dressing plants operated as a unit and classified in the manufacturing industries for 1954.
[7] Includes data for mines operated as part of manufacturing plants. "Value of shipments" includes estimated value of gypsum produced and consumed at such establishments. Employment at such establishments was estimated from reported man-hours. [8] Not available.

[1] Data relate to mines having output of 1,000 tons a year or more, including lignite and small output of anthracite produced outside Pennsylvania. Includes Alaska. [2] Average number of men working daily.
[3] Capacity of active mines with existing labor force, derived on basis of average output per day.
[4] Not available.
[5] Beginning 1945, production data include some bootleg coal purchased by anthracite industry for preparation and shipment to market. Data on employment, however, exclude such purchased coal, as complete employment data on "bootleg" holes are not available. [6] Less than 500 tons. [7] For 1911.

[1] Federal Power Commission. Represents consumption by public-utility power plants in power generation including a small quantity of coke amounting to approximately 100,000 tons annually.

[2] Bureau of the Census.

[3] Association of American Railroads. Represents consumption by class I railways for all uses, including locomotive, powerhouse, shop, and station fuel. The ICC reports that in 1954 consumption for all uses by class I line-haul railways, plus purchases for class II and class III railways, plus purchases by all switching terminal companies combined, was 17,337,755 tons of bituminous coal and lignite.

[4] Includes small amount of anthracite.

[1] Assuming past losses equal production. [2] Assuming 50-percent recovery.
[3] Includes subbituminous (373,806,000 tons), lignite (463,616,000 tons), and anthracite and semianthracite (24,132,000 tons). [4] Somewhat less than total recorded production (31,405 million tons). See footnote 6.
[5] Remaining reserves, January 1, 1950. [6] Production, 1950 through 1952.
[7] Estimate excluded because standards used not in accord with those employed elsewhere.
[8] Past losses assumed to be 40 percent of coal originally in the ground. [9] Production, 1860 through 1949.
[10] Includes Arizona, California, Idaho, and Oregon.

[1] Wages and hours were important issues also in some of these disputes.
[2] Workers counted more than once if involved in more than 1 stoppage during the year.
[3] Beginning 1945, those strikes in which information on the major issues was not available are included in the totals and the miscellaneous group.

[1] Excludes bonus payments of Office of Metal Reserve.
[2] Data are for "general imports," i. e., include copper imported for immediate consumption plus material entering country under bond. Comprises copper in ingots, plates, and bars, ores and concentrates, regulus, blister, and scrap.
[3] Not separately recorded.
[4] Total exports of copper, exclusive of ore, concentrate, composition metal, and unrefined copper. Exclusive also of "other manufactures of copper," for which quantity figures are not recorded. Beginning 1952, data not strictly comparable with earlier years, due to changes in classification.
[5] Includes unrefined copper.
[6] Beginning 1945, excludes rods.
[7] Includes small exports of unrefined black blister and converter copper (bars, pigs, etc.).
[8] Beginning 1945, new copper and old scrap only.

No. 944.—Copper—Exports and Imports: 1891 to 1955

[Quantities in short tons; values in thousands of dollars. Exports are those classed as "domestic" in foreign trade statistics but include copper smelted or refined in United States from imported ore or unrefined metal. Prior to 1952, values include all forms of copper; quantities represent all copper except some "Other copper manufactures" for which quantity data were not reported. For 1952 and subsequent years, export data exclude certain copper manufactures not reported separately. Copper content of exports of ore for years 1891–1915 and of imports for years 1894–1903 was estimated]

Section 29

Construction and Housing

This section presents various measures of construction activity and costs, dwelling units, housing values, facilities, and structural characteristics, and residential financing.

The principal sources of these data are the monthly Construction Review, a joint publication of the Business and Defense Services Administration and the Bureau of Labor Statistics, which assembles data on numerous aspects of this field; and the U. S. Census of Housing: 1950, the reports of the decennial Census of Housing conducted by the Bureau of the Census. Other sources which specialize in particular types of construction or housing statistics are: The monthly Dodge Statistical Research Service of F. W. Dodge Corporation, which presents State data on construction contracts awarded; the Engineering News-Record issued weekly by McGraw-Hill Publishing Company, Inc., which contains figures on contract awards and construction costs; the Annual Report of the Housing and Home Finance Agency which offers public housing statistics from its Public Housing Administration; and the Annual Report of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board which presents home mortgage data. The Bureau of Labor Statistics also issues a number of monthly and annual publications covering permits, housing starts, cost and price indexes, and employment, wages, and hours in this field. Monthly data on the characteristics of vacant dwelling units are collected by the Bureau of the Census and are presented quarterly in its Housing and Construction Reports.

Construction.—Monthly estimates of the value of work put-in-place are prepared jointly by the Business and Defense Services Administration and the Bureau of Labor Statistics and appear in the Construction Review. Estimates of privately financed nonresidential construction are primarily the responsibility of the Business and Defense Services Administration. Construction estimates for buildings such as stores, warehouses, and factories are based on F. W. Dodge Corporation reports of construction contracts awarded, supplemented by building permit data and information from secondary sources for States which the Dodge Corporation does not cover. Public utility construction estimates are derived from data reported by the Interstate Commerce Commission and other Federal regulatory agencies, and by private associations such as the American Gas Association and the American Transit Association.

Estimates of publicly financed construction of all types and housing construction activity are primarily the responsibility of the Bureau of Labor Statistics. Certain of the Federal agencies administer federally aided construction programs; other agencies administer the construction of federally owned facilities. Construction activity data of this type are derived by the Bureau of Labor Statistics from the reports of the respective Federal agencies; data on State and local governmental construction activity are derived from Dodge Corporation and Engineering News-Record reports. Estimates of residential construction activity, including number of housing units started by type of structure and source of funds, and average construction costs are based primarily upon reports of building permits granted which are received from nearly 7,000 permit-granting authorities. Field surveys on a sample basis are used to obtain data on housing activity in nonpermit areas.

Note.—This section presents data for the most recent year or period available on May 15, 1956, when the material was organized and sent to the printer. In a few instances, more recent data were added later.

Housing.—The first Census of Housing was taken in 1940, although some housing data were collected by the Bureau of the Census in earlier years in conjunction with Censuses of Population and Agriculture. Housing data were collected in sample surveys by the Bureau of the Census in October 1944, November 1945, April 1947, and May 1948 as part of the Current Population Survey (see page 2 for discussion of Survey). A second Census of Housing was taken in 1950. Data on home ownership were collected in the Current Population Survey of February 1956.

Dwelling unit.—In general, a dwelling unit is a group of rooms or a single room occupied, or intended for occupancy, as separate living quarters by a family or other group of persons living together or by a person living alone. Living quarters of the following types are not included in the dwelling-unit inventory: Rooming houses with five lodgers or more, transient accommodations (tourist courts, hotels, etc.), and barracks for workers (railroad, construction, etc.).

The count of dwelling units in the 1950 Census may be considered comparable with the count in the 1940 Census. Counts of total vacant units in 1950 are considered more inclusive than in 1940. In 1940, vacant units were enumerated only if they were habitable; vacant units which were uninhabitable and beyond repair were omitted. In 1950, all vacant units, whether or not dilapidated, were included if they were intended for occupancy as living quarters.

Residential financing.—Statistics on residential financing were collected on a sample basis as part of the 1950 Census of Housing. The survey covered nonfarm residential mortgaged properties, both owner and rental. The data are expressed in terms of mortgaged properties, number of mortgages, and outstanding mortgage debt. Construction mortgages were excluded.

Data on home mortgages and foreclosures, based largely on reports from major holders, are provided by the Federal Home Loan Bank Board. The Federal Housing Administration compiles from its records data on its real estate financial operations, such as volume of mortgages insured, type of lending institution, etc. The Veterans Administration also compiles from its records data on amounts and types of loans. For explanation of the relationship between the data obtained in the 1950 Census of Housing and those compiled from other sources, see Department of Commerce, Bureau of the Census, 1950 Census of Housing, Volume IV, Residential Financing.

Historical statistics.—Tabular headnotes (as "See also Historical Statistics, series H 1–26") provide cross-references, where applicable, to Historical Statistics of the United States, 1789–1945. See preface.

No. 952.—Value of Private and Public Construction: 1915 to 1955

[In millions of dollars. Represents value of work put-in-place during year; consequently differs from building permit and construction contract data which measure value of work started. In addition, coverage generally broader than permit and contract data. Includes value and cost of installation of equipment which is integral part of structure, but not that of machinery, shipbuilding, or land costs. See also Historical Statistics, series H 1-26]

No. 954.—Building Permit Activity—Value by Class of Construction and Ownership: 1954 and 1955

[In thousands of dollars. Covers building activity in all urban and rural-nonfarm localities having building-permit systems. Such localities (approximately 7,000) include about 80 percent of the nonfarm population of the country, according to the 1950 Census. Compiled from estimates of construction costs made by prospective builders when applying for permits to build, and value of contracts awarded by the Federal Government. State and local government construction is reported by local officials]

[1] Represents combination of indexes of wholesale prices of building materials (weighted 61.4 percent) and average of hourly earnings in building construction (weighted 38.6 percent).

[2] Covers materials either (a) physically incorporated as integral part of a building or (b) normally installed during construction and not removable without seriously impairing building. Excludes consumer durables, as kitchen ranges, refrigerators, etc.

[3] Covers both full- and part-time construction workers through working foreman level, engaged on-site or off-site in actual construction work (including preassembly and precutting operations) who are employed by general contractors and by subcontractors engaged in special trades, such as plumbing, painting, etc. Excludes all non-construction workers employed by these firms.

[4] Based on minimum wage rates agreed upon through collective bargaining; excludes overtime. As of May 15 through 1935; June 1 for 1940; July 1, thereafter.

[5] For 1915 and 1920, based on weighted average of Interstate Commerce Commission indexes; 1925–1955, based on average contract unit bid prices for composite mile (involving specific average amounts of excavation, paving, reinforced steel, structural steel, and structural concrete).

[6] Covers both building and nonbuilding construction. Represents a composite of the indexes prepared by private and governmental organizations shown in this table plus those of the Interstate Commerce Commission (railroad, telephone, and telegraph) and the Bureau of Agricultural Economics (farm buildings).

[7] Represents composite of 36 major cost items in construction of 5 types (3 4-story and 2 1-story) of industrial buildings in New England. Confined to labor, materials, and other costs actually required (including insurance, taxes other than Federal and State income, and contributions to union health and welfare fund) for construction of the building. Excludes home-office overhead, profit on the job, and architectural and engineering fees.

[8] Not available.

[9] Average for 30 cities (prior to 1925, 24 cities) of 4 types of buildings: Wood-frame, brick-wood frame, brick-steel frame, and reinforced concrete. Covers materials and labor costs in structural portion of buildings but excludes materials and labor prices for plumbing, heating, lighting, sprinklers, and elevators. Reflects employee-benefit costs, and allows for contractors' overhead and profit.

[10] Covers both building and nonbuilding construction. Wages and materials for 12 cities combined in 40–60 ratio. Wages are for hod carriers and common laborers only. Materials weighted: Sand, gravel, crushed stone, cement, common brick, and lumber, 1 each; hollow tile, ½; and structural and reinforcing steel (together) ½. Excludes taxes and employee-benefit costs.

[11] Average of 20 cities for types shown. Weights based on surveys of actual building costs and vary with different types of structures. Wage rates used for both common and skilled labor. Reflects payment of sales taxes and social security payroll taxes.

[12] Unweighted averages from Boeckh series prepared by Department of Commerce, Business and Defense Services Administration.

[13] Building construction index computed on basis of hypothetical unit of construction requiring 6 bbls. of portland cement, 1.088 M bd. ft. measures of 2" x 4" lumber, 2,500 lbs. of structural steel, and 68.38 hours of skilled labor. General construction index based on same materials components combined with 200 hours of common labor. Not adjusted for changes in materials availability, competitive conditions, efficiency of plant and management, productivity, or related factors.

[14] Composite of 36 major cost elements in 3 commercial-type buildings including structural elements and elevators, wiring, plumbing, heating, and ventilating. Job costs include both skilled and unskilled labor, and series reflects employee-benefit costs.

[15] Eastern cities. Based on firm's cost experience with respect to labor rates, materials prices, competitive conditions, efficiency of plant and management, and productivity. Reflects payment of sales taxes and employee-benefit costs.

[16] Based on data covering public utility construction costs (building construction, gas plant construction, and electric light and power construction) for 95 items in 6 geographical regions of the U.S. Job costs include both skilled and common labor. Indexes do not reflect tax payments nor employee-benefit costs. Department of Commerce has converted these series to a 1947–49 base, and combined the various items into a single index.

[17] As derived by Department of Commerce; covers steam production plants only; excludes hydraulic plants.

No. 957.—Value of Contract Awards for New Public Construction, by Ownership and Type of Construction: 1953 to 1955

[In millions of dollars. Includes force-account work which is done, not through a contractor but directly by a government agency, using separate work force to perform nonmaintenance construction on the agency's own properties. Federal: Includes major additions and alterations; excludes classified military projects, but includes projects for Atomic Energy Commission. State and local: Represents value of work accomplished by State, county, municipal or other governmental units; and includes projects under Federal-aid programs]

No. 959.—Construction Contracts Awarded in 37 States—Value of Construction and Floor Space of Buildings, by Class of Construction: 1925 to 1955

[Values in millions of dollars; floor space in thousands of square feet. Public works and public utilities cover some projects not measurable in terms of floor space, such as highways, pipe lines, subways, etc. Statistics for the 37 States were not compiled for years prior to 1925, but available figures covering a varying number of States for earlier years have been published in the 1932 and previous issues of the Statistical Abstract. Figures for individual States and districts in table 960 represent value of construction contracts awarded in States and districts where work was actually done. No. 961.—Construction Contracts Awarded—Indexes of Value: 1920 to 1956

[1947–49=100. Indexes are derived from monthly figures of construction contracts awarded reported by F. W. Dodge Corporation. Reports covered 37 States beginning with May 1924 and a varying number for earlier years. In order to obtain comparable figures from 1919 to date, total value of construction contracts awarded in 37 States was estimated for January 1919 through April 1924. Seasonal adjustments computed separately for "residential" and "all other" types of construction and the two series combined. Indexes based on a 3-month moving average, centered at middle month. More detailed description of indexes obtainable from the Division of Research and Statistics, Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System]

No. 962.—Engineering Construction Contracts Awarded and Backlog of Proposed Construction—Volume, by Type: 1930 to 1955

[In millions of dollars. Covers continental U. S. construction projects of following minimum costs: For 1935, waterworks, excavation, drainage, and irrigation, $10,500; other public works, $17,500; industrial buildings, $28,500; other buildings, $105,000. For 1930 and 1940–45, minimums used were $15,000, $25,000, $40,000, and $150,000. For 1946–47, these minimums were raised to $22,500, $40,000, $55,000, and $205,000, respectively, to account for rise in construction costs. For 1948–50, minimums used were: $28,000, $50,000, $68,000, and $250,000. For 1951–54, minimums used were: $34,000, $60,000, $82,000, and $300,000. For 1955, minimums used were: $44,000, $73,000, $93,000, and $344,000]

No. 964.—Building Construction in Cities of 50,000 Inhabitants or More—Value of All Construction and Number of New Dwelling Units: 1950 to 1955

[Valuation figures are derived from estimates of construction costs made by prospective builders when applying for permits to build and value of contracts awarded by Federal Government. No land costs are included. For type of building covered, see table 954. Cities shown had a population of 50,000 or more in 1950]

No. 968.—New Permanent Dwelling Units Started in Nonfarm Areas, by Type: 1920 to 1955

[Figures are estimates covering construction of all new permanent family dwelling units in nonfarm area of United States, based upon building-permit reports, and from 1946, on building-permit information, supplemented by data from field surveys in non-permit-issuing places. This area consists of all urban and rural-nonfarm places. See also Historical Statistics, series H 40–45; data for 1941–1945 in historical volume include temporary units]

No. 969.—Number and Average Construction Cost of New Permanent Privately Owned One-Family Dwelling Units Started: 1940 to 1955

[Average cost of all such dwelling units started nationally. Data do not represent construction cost of a typical house. These averages are affected by changes in cost of materials and labor, variations in size and design of the houses, type of projects started, differences in construction methods, and other variables. Construction costs cover only labor, materials, and subcontracted work, and that part of the builders' overhead and profit chargeable directly to the construction projects. Cost data based primarily on builders' estimates of construction cost made at the start of construction, and from 1946, also on reports of construction cost by individual construction contractors in a representative group of localities not issuing permits]

[1] "Occupied dwelling units" for 1940 and 1950 is not exactly same as "Families" for earlier years, but differences are so small as to be negligible. Count of families for 1900 and 1930 represents private families only; that for 1890, 1910, and 1920, includes small number of quasi-family groups which were counted as families in those years.

[2] Since population in private families was not tabulated separately for all years, population per occupied dwelling unit (or family) is based on total population (including population in quasi-households). See table 8, pp. 11, 12.

[3] Not available.

[4] For 1890 to 1920, "Farm" contains a small proportion of urban-farm families in addition to the rural-farm families. For changes in definition of "Farm," see "Farm and nonfarm residence," p. 2.

No. 985.—Dwelling Units—Contract and Gross Monthly Rent of Nonfarm Renter-Occupied Units: 1940 and 1950

[In thousands of dwelling units. Contract monthly rent is rent contracted for, regardless of whether it includes furniture, heating fuel, electricity, cooking fuel, water, or other services sometimes supplied. Gross monthly rent is contract monthly rent plus reported average monthly cost of utilities (water, electricity, gas) and fuels such as wood, coal, and oil; if furniture was included in contract rent, reported estimated rent of dwelling unit without furniture was used in computation rather than contract rent]

No. 987.—Dwelling Units—Mortgage Status of Nonfarm Owner-Occupied Units: 1890 to 1950

[For 1940 and 1950, mortgage statistics are for owner-occupied dwelling units in 1- to 4-dwelling unit structures without business. An owner-occupied dwelling unit was reported as mortgaged if property on which it was located had an indebtedness in form of a mortgage or deed of trust, or if occupants had contract to purchase property. For 1920 and earlier, mortgage data are for owner-occupied units in all types of structures. Although types of units for which mortgage data were reported are not the same for all censuses, differences are not large enough to invalidate comparisons]

Section 30

Manufactures

This section presents measures of the manufacturing segment of the economy and its component inputs and outputs. The input data include figures for establishments; employment and wages; raw materials, fuels, and energy consumed; plant and equipment expenditures; and water use. The output data include figures for value and quantity of production and shipments; and value added by manufacture. Both types of data are shown for manufacturing as a whole, for major product groups, and for specific selected products.

The principal sources of these data are the reports of the Census of Manufactures conducted periodically by the Bureau of the Census; the same agency's Annual Survey of Manufactures; and its Facts for Industry series which presents monthly, quarterly, or annual data on production, shipments, and stocks for particular commodities. Indexes of industrial production are presented monthly in the Federal Reserve Board's Federal Reserve Bulletin. Reports on current activities of industries, or current movements of individual commodities, are also compiled by such government agencies as Bureau of Labor Statistics, Agricultural Marketing Service, Business and Defense Services Administration, Fish and Wildlife Service, Tariff Commission, and Internal Revenue Service, and by private research or trade associations such as the American Iron and Steel Institute, the National Canners Association, and the National Association of Hosiery Manufacturers.

Data on financial operations and intercorporate relations of manufacturing corporations are collected from time to time by the Securities and Exchange Commission, the Tariff Commission, and the Federal Trade Commission. Financial statistics for certain manufacturing industries in the form of balance sheets, profit and loss statements, analyses of sales and expenses, lists of subsidiaries, and types and amounts of security issues are summarized and published for the leading corporations that are registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission. The Tariff Commission publishes commodity surveys which cover economic and competitive aspects of production, distribution, and international trade in selected important industries. Each survey deals with several products which are related because of the raw materials consumed, or competitive uses. The Federal Trade Commission has made several comprehensive studies of individual industries.

Censuses and annual surveys.—The first Census of Manufactures covered the year 1809 and a census was taken at 10-year intervals to 1899, with the exception of 1829. It was conducted at 5-year intervals from 1904 through 1919, and every second year from 1921 through 1939, but was suspended during the war period until the 1947 Census. Present legislation provides for a quinquennial Census of Manufactures. A census covering the year 1954 is presently in process; preliminary results are now available for all industries and for all States.

The Annual Survey of Manufactures was conducted for the first time in 1949 and carries forward, for the intercensal years, measures of manufacturing activity covered in detail by the quinquennial Census of Manufactures. It is designed to yield estimates of general statistics (employment, payrolls, value added by manufacture, inventories, and capital expenditures) for industry groups, important individual industries, geographic divisions, States, and important cross-tabulations of major industry groups by division and by State.

Note.—This section presents data for the most recent year or period available on May 24, 1956, when the material was organized and sent to the printer. In a few instances, more recent data were added after that date.

The annual survey is based on a sample of about 55,000 of an approximate total of 288,000 manufacturing establishments. It comprises all large plants and a representative selection of the more numerous small plants. The large plants in the survey account for approximately two-thirds of total manufacturing employment in the United States. (Government-owned and -operated establishments are excluded.)

Establishments and classification.—The 1947 and 1954 Censuses of Manufactures covered operating manufacturing establishments as defined in the Standard Industrial Classification Manual issued by the Bureau of the Budget. Reports were required from all establishments employing one or more persons at any time during the census year. Each of the establishments tabulated was classified in one of the 458 manufacturing industries as defined by the Standard Industrial Classification system. This system defines an industry as a number of establishments producing a single product or a closely related group of products. An establishment is classified in a particular industry if its production of this product or product group exceeds in value its production of any other product group. In a few instances, the industry classification of an establishment is determined not only by its product group but also by the processes employed in making those products.

While some establishments produce only the products of the industry in which they are classified, it rarely happens that all the establishments in an industry specialize to that extent. The statistics on employment, payrolls, value added, inventories, and expenditures, therefore, reflect not only the primary activities of the establishments in that industry but also their activities of a secondary nature. For this reason the industry statistics usually cannot be directly related to statistics on the total shipments of products primary to that industry.

The 1947 and 1954 Censuses were conducted on an establishment basis. The term "establishment" signifies a single physical plant site or factory and is not necessarily identical with the business unit or company which consists of one or more establishments. A company operating establishments at more than one location is required to submit a separate report for each location. An establishment engaged in distinctly different lines of activity and maintaining separate payroll and inventory records is also required to submit separate reports.

In earlier Censuses of Manufactures, establishments having less than $5,000 value of products were designated as outside the scope of the census. The change in the minimum size limit in 1947 (employment of one person) as compared with 1939 has not appreciably affected the comparability for these two years, except for data on number of establishments for a few industries.

The basic statistical measures of manufacturing activity, such as employment, payrolls, value added, etc., are defined in essentially the same way for the annual surveys as for the census of manufactures. Consequently, similar series may be considered to be comparable. However, beginning with 1949, average employment was calculated from the figures reported for the pay periods ending nearest the fifteenth of March, May, August, and November, whereas for 1947 such averages were based on 12 monthly employment figures. The 1954 figures are an average of reported employment totals for the four specified months, except for highly seasonal industries, where a 12-month average was obtained. Further, 1947 figures exclude data for central administrative offices and auxiliary establishments of manufacturing concerns, which are included in the statistics for later years. Employment data shown for administrative and auxiliary units were obtained from employer reports for mid-March to the Bureau of Old-Age and Survivors Insurance for the years 1949 to 1953; for 1954 such data were obtained during the census directly from each manufacturing firm.

Material in other sections.—In addition to the statistics presented in this section, statistics on the output and activities of manufacturers will be found in various other sections of this volume. For example, an historical summation of production and consumption of raw materials appears in section 28, Mining and Mineral Products (see table 906); data on wages and hours appear in section 8, Labor Force, Employment, and Earnings; and abbreviated balance sheet and income account data on all manufacturing corporations appear in section 14, Federal Government Finances and Employment, and in section 17, Business Enterprise.

Geographic coverage.—Statistics in this section relate to continental United States, except as noted.

Historical statistics.—Tabular headnotes (as "See also Historical Statistics, series J 1–12") provide cross-references, where applicable, to Historical Statistics of the United States, 1789–1945. See preface.

Technical Note—Annual Survey of Manufactures

The annual survey estimates vary from the totals that would have been obtained from a complete canvass of all manufacturing establishments. The relative magnitude of this sampling variation is given in the table column captioned "Standard error." The standard error should be interpreted to mean that the sample estimates will differ from complete canvass totals by less than: (1) The percentage shown in approximately 2 cases out of 3; (2) twice the percentage shown in approximately 19 cases out of 20; and (3) three times the percentage shown in almost every case. It should be noted that standard errors are shown only for selected items. The standard errors of other measures are shown in the source report cited.

In making any study of the trend since 1947, it is important to take account of the effect of the sampling variation on the apparent increase or decrease shown between years. In addition to sampling errors, individual figures may be subject to biases arising from undetected response or procedural errors which are not reflected in the "standard errors." Figures are normally withheld from publication in the original source volumes if (1) the standard error of the estimate exceeds 15 percent, or (2) survey estimates are inconsistent with other Census series and related data. Any estimate which can be derived by subtraction of one published figure from another may have a standard error considerably in excess of 15 percent.

[1] Beginning 1939 includes data for employees of manufacturing establishments engaged in distribution and construction work. Extent to which data for such employees were included in figures for earlier years is not known.
[2] Data for 1949–53 based on pay periods ending nearest 15th of Mar., May, Aug., and Nov. For 1947, data represent average of 12 monthly figures; for earlier years, sum of average number of production workers for year and number of nonproduction workers reported for 1 payroll period (usually in October).
[3] Value of products less cost of materials, supplies, fuel, electricity, and contract work. For 1849–1933, cost of contract work was not subtracted from value of products in calculating value added by manufacture.
[4] Not available. [5] Reduced to gold basis. [6] Excludes data for salaried officers of corporations.
[7] Revised on basis of retabulation of returns to exclude data for establishments classified as nonmanufacturing in 1947. Value added by manufacture on a basis comparable with 1937 and previous years was $24.7 billion.
[8] Number of proprietors and firm members not revised. Figures for "All employees" revised on basis of estimates rather than by retabulation of 1939 reports. (See footnote 7.)
[9] Estimates based on sample survey; see text, p. 787. For standard errors of estimates, see subsequent tables.
[10] Includes data for plants idle throughout year, administrative offices, and units auxiliary to manufacturing.

[1] Value of shipments less cost of materials, supplies, fuels, electric energy, and contract work.

[2] See text, p. 789, for explanation of standard error. Refers to columns "All employees"; standard errors for "Value added by manufacture" usually of same magnitude.

[3] Data for 1954 include plants processing and distributing fluid milk; not included for prior years.

[4] Data for 1950 to 1954 include logging camps and contractors, and sawmills producing less than 200,000 board feet of lumber; excluded for 1947.

[5] Includes privately owned and/or operated establishments classified in "Ordnance and accessories."

[6] Manufacturing concerns often reported separately for central offices or auxiliaries which serve the manufacturing establishments of a company, rather than the general public. Separate reports were obtained in 1954 from such units if at a different location or if they serviced more than one establishment. The 1950 and 1953 data were obtained from BOASI records.

[7] Not available.

[8] Excludes hours paid for vacations, holidays, or sick leave. Includes actual overtime hours, not straight-time equivalent hours.

[9] Comprises, for plants in operation during 1954, expenditures for new structures and additions and new machinery and equipment. Excludes expenditures for "used" plant and equipment acquired from others and for land. In addition, approximately $300 million was spent by manufacturing firms in 1954 for plants under construction.

[Value added figures in thousands of dollars. See text, p. 787. Figures are based on sample and subject to sampling variation (see standard error columns). Figures for value added by manufacture derived by subtracting from total value of products the cost of materials, supplies, containers, fuel, purchased electric energy and contract work. Each manufacturing establishment is classified in this table according to its employment size, irrespective of size of company owning it. Where a single physical location comprises 2 or more units engaged in separate industrial activities (and for which separate reports can be prepared), each unit is usually reported as a separate establishment]

[1] See Technical Note, p. 789, for explanation of standard error. Standard errors for column D are: 5 percent or less for food and kindred products, textile mill products, apparel and related products, chemicals and allied products, primary metal industries, fabricated metal products, machinery (except electrical); and from 5 to 15 percent for furniture and fixtures, leather and leather products, instruments and related products, miscellaneous manufactures. Other estimates in columns D, E, and F, unless otherwise indicated, are based on reports from all establishments known to be in appropriate size classification.

[2] Standard error 1 percent.

[3] Standard error 3 percent for "Number of establishments" and "Value added," and 2 percent for "All employees."

[4] Withheld because estimate did not meet publication standards.

[5] Data cannot be shown without disclosing information for individual companies; therefore combined with figures for adjacent size class.

[6] Standard error 4 percent for "Number of establishments" and "All employees," and 5 percent for "Value added."

[7] Standard error 20 percent for "Number of establishments," 15 percent for "All employees," and 30 percent for "Value added."

[8] Standard error 6 percent for "Number of establishments," 5 percent for "All employees," and 4 percent for "Value added."

[9] Standard error 2 percent for "Number of establishments" and 1 percent for "All employees," and "Value added."

[10] Includes privately owned and/or operated establishments engaged primarily in manufacture of ordnance and accessories.

[1] Value of shipments less cost of materials, supplies, fuels, electric energy, and contract work.
[2] See text, p. 789, for explanation of standard error. Refers to columns "All employees"; standard errors for "Value added by manufacture" usually of same magnitude.
[3] Excludes hours paid for vacations, holidays, or sick leave. Includes actual overtime hours, not straight-time equivalent hours.
[4] Comprises, for plants in operation during 1954, expenditures for new structures and additions and new machinery and equipment. Excludes expenditures for "used" plant and equipment acquired from others and for land. In addition, approximately $300 million was spent by manufacturing firms in 1954 for plants under construction.
[5] Data for 1954 include plants processing and distributing fluid milk; not included for prior years.
[6] Withheld since not strictly comparable with other years shown.
[7] Withheld because estimates did not meet publication standards; such estimates, when derived by subtraction, are generally unreliable.

[8] 1950 and 1953 totals include industries not shown separately.
[9] Withheld from publication in order to permit further checking of data; figures included in totals.
[10] Data for 1950 to 1954 include logging camps and contractors, and sawmills producing less than 200,000 board feet of lumber; excluded for 1947.
[11] Not available.
[12] Includes privately owned and/or operated establishments classified in "Ordnance and accessories."
[13] Manufacturing concerns often reported separately for central offices or auxiliaries which serve the manufacturing establishments of a company, rather than the general public. Separate reports were obtained in 1954 from such units if at a different location or if they serviced more than one establishment. The 1950 and 1953 data were obtained from BOASI records.

[1] Value of products shipped less cost of materials, supplies, fuel, electric energy, and contract work.
[2] See Technical Note, p. 789, for explanation of standard error. Refers to columns "Value added by manufacture"; standard errors for other columns usually of same magnitude.
[3] For 1950, data combined because of high standard errors associated with each State.

[1] Smaller establishments submitting "short" form reports were not requested to include data on capital expenditures. Resulting understatement is negligible (see Ch. VI of Vol. I, "General Summary," Census of Manufactures, 1947).

[2] See Technical Note, p. 789, for explanation of standard error. Refers to total expenditures columns. Standard errors for new machinery columns approximately same as those for total expenditures; for new structures columns, they vary usually between 1 and 3 times the standard errors shown for total expenditures, up to a maximum of 20 percent.

[3] Not fully represented in sample; capital expenditures understated by approximately 1 to 10 percent; corresponding understatement of "All industries" total is less than 0.5 percent.

[4] Withheld because estimate did not meet publication standards.

[5] Includes privately owned and/or operated establishments classified in "Ordnance and accessories."

[1] See Technical Note, p. 789, for explanation of standard error. Refers to total expenditures column. For 1952, standard errors for new machinery column approximately same as those for total expenditures; for new structures column, they vary usually between 1 and 3 times the standard errors shown for total expenditures, up to a maximum of 30 percent. For 1953, specific standard errors of division and State estimates are not available. For estimates of $100,000,000 or more, the standard errors tend to be 5 percent or less; for estimates of $20,000,000 to $100,000,000, they tend to lie between 3 and 10 percent; for estimates of $10,000,000 to $20,000,000, they tend to lie between 5 and 20 percent; while for estimates of less than $10,000,000, they are apt to range between 5 and 30 percent. These ranges are only general guides. For any particular estimates in the table, the actual standard error may vary considerably from the modal ranges.

No. 1005.—Proportion of Employment Concentrated in Largest Manufacturing Companies, by Industry: 1950 and 1951

[Represents industries having employment of 60,000 or more in 1951; ranked in order of 1951 employment. Figures are based on sample and subject to sampling variation (see standard error columns). Tabulations from which data were taken were limited to those companies considered large in terms of employment as shown by 1947 Census of Manufactures. Where evidence indicated that the sample did not include companies which, in 1947, were among the largest 4 or largest 8 in an industry, the concentration ratio has been noted as not available. Moreover, there were certain companies which subsequently (1948 to 1951) qualified as large and may rank among the first 8 companies, which may have been omitted from the sample]

[1] Represents only the "4-digit" (Standard Industrial Classification) industries appearing in the 1950 and 1951 Annual Survey of Manufactures; excludes "residual" (usually referred to as "not elsewhere classified") industries.
[2] Employment of 4 largest companies (or 8 largest companies) divided by total employment of the industry.
[3] Employment data originally collected on the basis of "establishments" have been summarized into company totals. Company affiliations of the "establishments" are based on Census records. Largest company ranking is determined by each company's total number of employees in the specified industry.

[1] Value added by manufacture; value of shipments not used for concentration ratios because of excessive duplication in these industries owing to the fact that the products of some establishments of this industry are used as materials by other establishments also classified in this industry. Rank determined by value of shipments, however.

[1] Separate accounts for alcohol produced at industrial alcohol plants required commencing May 1, 1920.
[2] Through 1940, represents withdrawals of all products for denaturation, that is, domestic ethyl alcohol, spirits produced by registered distilleries (redesignated upon receipt at denaturing plants as alcohol), and rum. Beginning 1944, represents all products (except rum) used for denaturation, that is, domestic ethyl alcohol, imported ethyl alcohol, and spirits. Rum is included for 1935 and 1940 because denatured rum is included with specially denatured alcohol for those years.
[3] Prior to 1944 includes denatured rum.
[4] Represents gross production. Net production (gross production minus products used in redistillation) for 1945, 650,089,874.

[1] Barrels of 31 wine gallons.
[2] Excludes ethyl alcohol.
[3] A tax gallon for spirits of 100 proof or over is equivalent to the proof gallon. For spirits of less than 100 proof the tax gallon is equivalent to the wine gallon.
[4] Excludes high-proof spirits and unfinished spirits produced at registered distilleries for industrial purposes.
[5] Includes ethyl alcohol.
[6] Production represents total amount removed from fermenters, including distilling material (substandard wines produced with excessive water or residue materials). In 1955, 249,537,281 gallons of distilling materials were produced.
[7] Standard United States gallon.
[8] Includes vermouth and other special natural wines.
[9] Excludes distilling materials.
[10] Includes champagne, other effervescent wines, and artificially carbonated wines.

No. 1013.—Tobacco Products—Production and Amount of Leaf Tobacco Consumed in Manufacture: 1901 to 1954

[Data relate to products manufactured in continental U. S. and exclude tobacco used in bonded manufacturing warehouses. Leaf tobacco figures represent the equivalent in unstemmed leaf tobacco of stemmed leaf or scraps, cuttings, and clippings. Tobacco used in the manufacture of cigars and cigarettes was converted on the basis of 3 pounds of stemmed leaf or scraps, etc., to 4 pounds of unstemmed beginning 1915. For other conversion ratios, see source. See also Historical Statistics, series J 171 and J 174]

No. 1017.—Cotton-System Spindles, Cotton Consumption, and Stocks: 1840 to 1955

[Statistics for 1915 to 1955 relate to 12 months ending July 31 and those for prior years to 12 months ending Aug. 31. For 1946–55, spindles in place include all cotton-system spindles in place regardless of fiber spun. Prior to 1946, "in place" figure represents all spindles in place used exclusively for spinning cotton. Consumption and stocks are expressed in running bales, counting round as half bales, except that all figures, 1840 to 1870, inclusive, and foreign cotton for all years are in equivalent 500-pound bales. See also Historical Statistics, series J 179–180, for data on active cotton-system spindles in the U. S. and total cotton consumed including linters]

[1] For 1945 and earlier years data represent sum of greatest number of cotton spindles reported by each mill as active at any time during year, regardless of length of time operated. Beginning with 1947, active figure includes all cotton-system spindles active last day of year, regardless of type of fiber spun. On July 31, 1955, there were 19,132,000 spindles active on cotton, 1,390,000 on synthetics, 195,000 on other fibers and blends, and 1,557,000 idle.

[2] Includes linters for 1840 to 1908. Figures for all years include foreign and domestic cotton.

[3] Not available. [4] Cotton mills only.

[5] Includes stocks held in public storage and at compresses beginning 1938.

[6] Includes linters for 1906 to 1908. [7] Average, 1909 and 1910.

[8] "Upland" includes "American-Egyptian" beginning 1912 (first year produced).

[1] Preliminary.
[2] Excludes byproduct coke-oven production. Data for 1950 to 1955 include synthetic ammonium sulfate produced in coke plants.
[3] Includes data for deodorizing, decolorizing, and water purification grades. Data for gas-mask and solvent recovery grades excluded.
[4] Liquid and gas excludes quantities produced and consumed in the same plants manufacturing soda ash and urea.
[5] Total production including quantities liquefied for use, storage, or shipment.
[6] Excludes quantities produced and consumed in manufacture of methanol and ammonia but includes an unspecified amount of hydrogen produced for sale or interplant transfer to plants consuming this gas in production of ammonia.
[7] Includes quantities diverted to manufacture of caustic soda and sodium bicarbonate and quantities processed to finished light and finished dense soda ash.
[8] Excludes quantities converted to finished dense soda ash.
[9] Collected in cooperation with Bureau of Mines.
[10] Liquid production figures represent total production for electrolytic and lime soda processes, including quantities later evaporated to solid caustic and reported as such.
[11] Not shown separately to avoid disclosure of individual company data.
[12] Represents quantities produced only for sale or interplant transfer.
[13] Includes sulfuric acid of oleum grades.

[1] Value of products less cost of materials, supplies, fuel, electric energy, and contract work. For 1889–1933, cost of contract work was not deducted. [2] Not available.
[3] Includes data for 2 establishments engaged in production of sintered ore and flue dust and operated independently of blast furnaces.

Section 31

Distribution and Services

This section presents statistics relating to retail, wholesale, and service trades. The data are shown for the distribution trades classified by kind of business and for the different categories of services (personal, business, repair, amusement, hotel, etc.) and cover sales or receipts, establishments, employees, payrolls, proprietors, and other items. A number of tables are also included on advertising expenditures.

The principal sources of these data are the reports of the Census of Business conducted periodically by the Bureau of the Census and the same agency's reports resulting from its annual and monthly surveys. Other important government sources devoted to particular aspects of the distribution and service trades are the monthly Federal Reserve Bulletin (department store data) issued by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, and the monthly Survey of Current Business (retail sales, sales and inventories of wholesalers, consumer expenditures for services, etc.) issued by the Office of Business Economics. Financial data for tax-filing and securities-listed corporations engaged in retail, wholesale, or service trades appear in the annual Statistics of Income published by the Internal Revenue Service and are also available from the Securities and Exchange Commission. The Federal Trade Commission, in the course of its investigations, also collects operating statistics on firms and chains in various kinds of business.

In addition to the above, private agencies provide a number of helpful reports which include statistics in this field. Among these are: Dun and Bradstreet's monthly Dun's Statistical Review; the monthly Horwath Hotel Accountant of Horwath and Horwath; and the weekly Advertising Age of Advertising Publications, Inc.

Censuses and current surveys.—The first Census of Business was taken for 1929. Although the next census was scheduled by law to cover 1939, two special censuses covering 1933 and 1935 were taken before the census for 1939. The next census was not taken until 1949 covering the year 1948. Present legislation provides for a quinquennial Census of Business. A census covering the year 1954 is presently in process and nearing completion; preliminary results are now available and final data will appear throughout 1956.

Current sample surveys of the Bureau of the Census are conducted with varying scope for the retail, wholesale, and service trades. The Bureau compiles monthly reports of the dollar volume of retail sales by kinds of business, showing national and regional estimates, and trends in selected large metropolitan areas. These appear in the Monthly Retail Trade Report. Annual figures on sales, inventories, and receivables, classified by kind of business, are presented in the Annual Retail Trade Report. The Advance Retail Sales Report issued jointly by the Bureau of the Census and the Office of Business Economics within 10 days after the end of each report month also presents preliminary estimates of the previous month's retail sales classified by major kind-of-business groups.

Note.—This section presents data for the most recent year or period available on May 24, 1956, when the material was organized and sent to the printer.

Statistics from the Bureau's wholesale trade survey which is conducted monthly present trends in volume of sales and inventories of merchant wholesalers, by kind of business and by geographic divisions. These data appear in the Monthly Wholesale Trade Report and are based on reports submitted by a sample of firms representing merchant wholesalers in all kinds of business. A more comprehensive survey was made covering 1953 which provided figures on sales, inventories, receivables, bad debt losses, and operating expenses. Monthly estimates of aggregate sales and inventories of all wholesalers are prepared by the Office of Business Economics and published in the Survey of Current Business.

The Bureau of the Census also compiles and issues current information on distributor stocks of various canned foods and on inventories of green coffee held and green coffee roasted by roasters, importers, and dealers.

Establishments and coverage.—The business establishments covered in the fields included in the Census of Business may be generally described as follows:

Retail trade.—Places of business primarily engaged in selling merchandise for personal, household, or farm consumption;

Wholesale trade.—Establishments primarily engaged in selling goods to dealers and distributors for resale or to purchasers who buy for business uses; and Service.—Establishments engaged primarily in the sale of services as contrasted with the sale of merchandise.

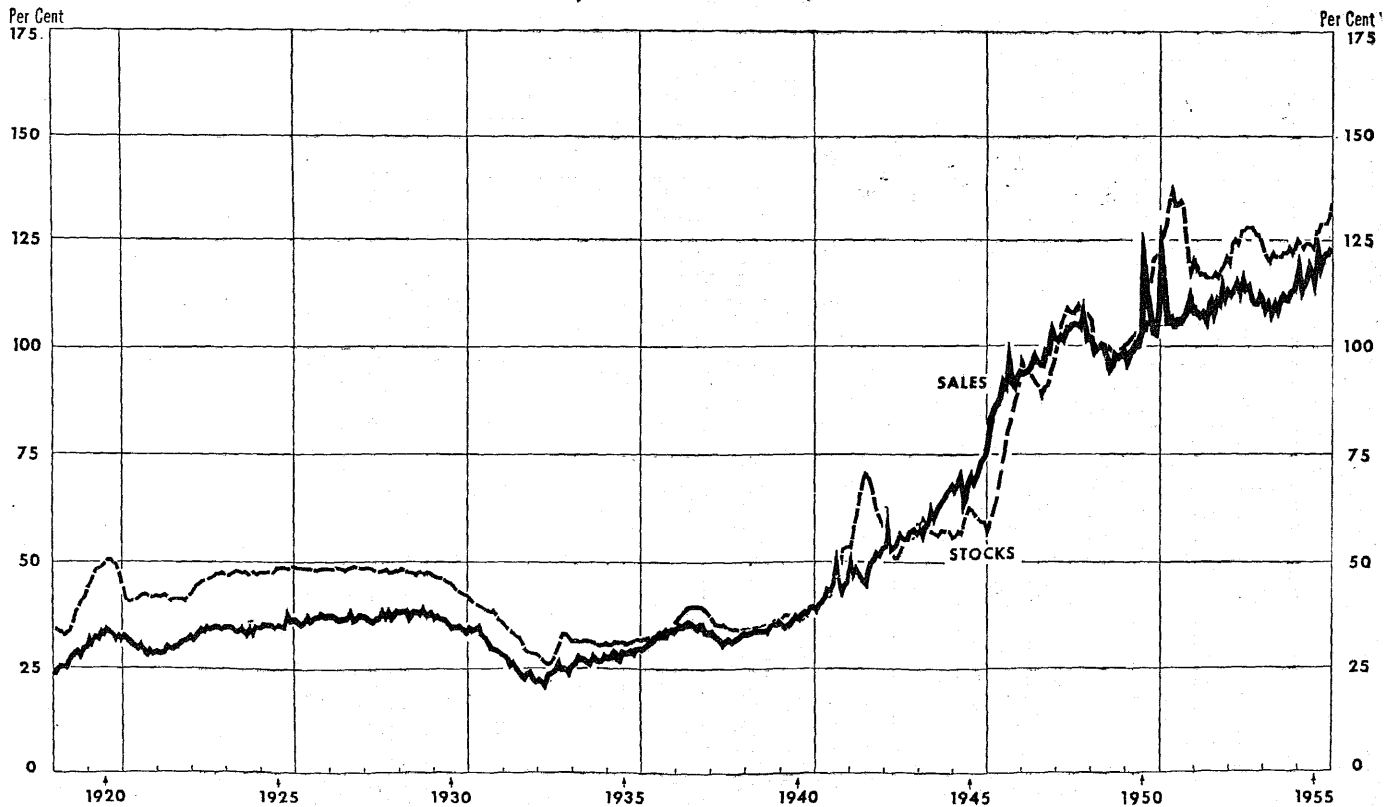
Certain types of businesses, broadly defined, generally are not included in the Census of Business. Outstanding in this group are the business activities of doctors, lawyers, dentists, and others performing a professional or scientific service, educational institutions, religious or charitable institutions, hospitals and infirmaries, public utilities, and government-operated enterprises.



Data on retail and service trades from the 1948 Census excluded all establishments which had receipts of less than $500; 1954 data exclude establishments with no paid employment which had receipts of less than $2,500 and $1,000 for retail trade and service trades, respectively. This change does not significantly affect sales comparisons but makes considerable difference in some kinds of establishment counts.

Wholesale trade establishments with no paid employment, included in 1948, were excluded from the 1954 Census. Service trades coverage for 1954 was expanded beyond that for 1948 to include data on golf and country clubs; motion picture production, distribution, etc.; trailer parks, and sporting and recreational camps. Different enumerating techniques adopted for the 1954 Census also increased coverage of business service and amusement establishments.

Advertising.—Statistics shown here on advertising expenditures are compiled by private organizations. McCann-Erickson, Inc., which compiles certain of the data shown on advertising expenditures, defines national advertising as that advertising done for companies whose products are distributed nationally, and for which national media rates are paid. Local advertising is defined as advertising done for companies which market their products locally and may pay special "local" media rates. Monthly figures are published regularly in Printers' Ink, in Tide Magazine, and also by the Department of Commerce in Survey of Current Business.

[2] Sales of other durable goods stores, other food stores, and other nondurable goods stores not shown separately but included in totals.

[3] Includes sales of certain milk dealers in the amount of $130,000,000, not included in tables 1068 and 1069.

[4] Not available.

[5] Much of increase in sales from 1929 to 1939 results from change in classification. Garages primarily selling gasoline and oil were classified separately as garages in 1929 Census of Retail Trade and included in filling station category in 1939 Census of Retail Trade.

No. 1095.—Power Laundries, Cleaning and Dyeing Establishments, and Rug Cleaning Establishments—Summary: 1919 to 1948

[All money figures in thousands of dollars. Statistics for 1948 cover establishments reporting receipts of $500 or more; statistics for 1939 cover establishments reporting receipts of $100 or more; for preceding specified census years statistics cover establishments reporting receipts of $5,000 or more. The Business Censuses of 1948 and 1939 classified establishments shown in this table as service establishments. Statistics for 1935 and earlier years were compiled in connection with the Census of Manufactures. Rug cleaning was treated, in general, as an activity of the power laundry industry for 1929 and earlier years]

Section 32

Foreign Commerce

Including International Accounts and Aid

This section presents measures of the flow of goods, precious metals, services, and funds between the United States and other countries. These measures appear in summary in the balance of payments and in detail as dollar values of imports and exports of merchandise or commodities classified by countries (or larger geographic areas) of their origin or destination. Also shown are statistics on international investments, on the foreign aid and mutual security programs, and on import duties.

The principal sources of import and export data are publications of the Bureau of the Census. The Quarterly Summary of Foreign Commerce of the United States presents cumulative quarterly data in each issue (annual data in the issue for the last quarter of each year). For a complete list of this Bureau's monthly, quarterly, and annual reports in this field, consult its Catalog of United States Foreign Trade Publications. In addition, the Treasury Department's Annual Report of the Secretary is a helpful source for information concerning import duties.

The agencies primarily responsible for the compilation of foreign assistance data and international accounts are the Office of Business Economics and the International Cooperation Administration (successor to the Foreign Operations Administration). Current data on Federal Government grants to and credits utilized by foreign countries are presented in the former agency's quarterly Foreign Grants and Credits by the United States Government. Data with respect to mutual security programs appear in the latter agency's Operations Report, issued quarterly. The Office of Business Economics also presents current statistics on the balance of payments in the monthly Survey of Current Business; earlier data on this subject appear in Balance of Payments of the United States, 1919–53, published as a supplement to the Survey of Current Business in 1954.

International accounts.—The international accounts of the United States comprise the international balance of payments and the international investment position. The balance of payments shows for given time periods, e. g., one year, the transfers of assets and the form of compensation for these transfers between this country and the rest of the world; the international investment position indicates for specific dates the value of United States investments abroad and of foreign investments in the United States. The two types of accounts, however, are not strictly comparable; the transfers of assets between countries as shown in the balance of payments is only one of the factors affecting the value of foreign investments. Other factors not shown in the balance of payments are changes in security values and revaluation of assets, and reinvested earnings.

Foreign aid and mutual security programs.—Foreign aid is defined to comprise two categories—grants and credits. Grants are outright gifts for which no repayment is expected, or which at most involve an obligation on the part of the receiver to extend aid to the United States or other countries to achieve a common objective. Credits are loans or other agreements which give rise to specific obligations to repay or return, over a period of years, usually with interest. In some instances assistance has been given with the understanding that a decision as to repayment will be made at a later date; such assistance is included in grants. At such time as an agreement is reached for repayment a credit is established. Such credits cannot, as a rule, be deducted from specific grants recorded in previous periods; an adjustment for grants converted into credits is made at the time of the agreement. All known returns to the United States Government stemming from grants and credits are also taken into account in net grants and net credits.

United States mutual security programs since World War II have passed through a number of phases. The "emergency relief" phase was carried on through such means as United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration; the Interim Aid Program for France, Italy, and Austria; the British Loan; and the Greece-Turkey Aid Program. This phase was followed by the Economic Cooperation Act of 1948 which authorized funds for a European Recovery Program (Marshall Plan) and for economic aid to the Republic of China. Separate legislation added Korea to the aid program in January 1949; beginning in June 1950 (when the Nationalist Government of China moved to Formosa) aid was extended to other countries in the "general area of China."

The Marshall Plan came to an end in 1951, and the major purpose of foreign aid shifted from economic recovery to defense support, although economic-type goods from the United States continued to flow to Europe (in smaller quantities). The basic instrument for extending military aid to friendly nations has been the Mutual Defense Assistance Program authorized by the Congress in 1949.

The U. S. Technical Cooperation Program ("Point Four") represents another phase of mutual security. This program, initiated in a limited form in Latin America during World War II, was authorized by the Congress in the 1950 Act for International Development to help raise standards of living in less developed areas through the extension of technical knowledge and skills. In 1952 most economic, technical, and military assistance programs were combined under the Mutual Security Act.

Sale of United States agricultural commodities for foreign currencies is a recent development. The funds thereby obtained by the United States are used in the purchasing countries or other countries to finance military or other grants and credits, or to pay United States obligations abroad, to purchase strategic materials, etc. Since the foreign countries do not have to use their dollar or other exchange resources for the agricultural commodities from the United States, they therefore receive temporary assistance which can be measured by the extent that the U. S. Government increases its holdings of foreign currencies or receivables.

Foreign trade.—Import data are compiled by the Bureau of the Census from import entries (various Customs forms) which importers are required to file with Collectors of Customs for each shipment arriving. Import values are, in general, based on market or selling price and are f. o. b. the exporting country. Values do not include import duties. The country of origin for imports is defined as the country in which the merchandise was grown, mined, or manufactured. In the event the importer cannot readily obtain information as to the country of origin of a shipment, it is credited (for statistical purposes) to the country of shipment.

Imports are classified either as general imports or imports for consumption. General imports represent total arrivals of imported goods (except for in-transit shipments), that is, merchandise released from Customs custody immediately upon arrival plus merchandise entered into a bonded storage warehouse, bonded manufacturing warehouse, and bonded refining warehouse immediately upon arrival. Imports for consumption comprise merchandise entered into United States consumption channels, that is, merchandise released from Customs custody immediately upon arrival, merchandise entered into a bonded manufacturing warehouse (other than smelting or refining warehouse), merchandise withdrawn from a bonded storage warehouse for release into domestic consumption channels, and imported ores and crude metals which have been processed in a bonded smelting warehouse, withdrawn for consumption or for export.

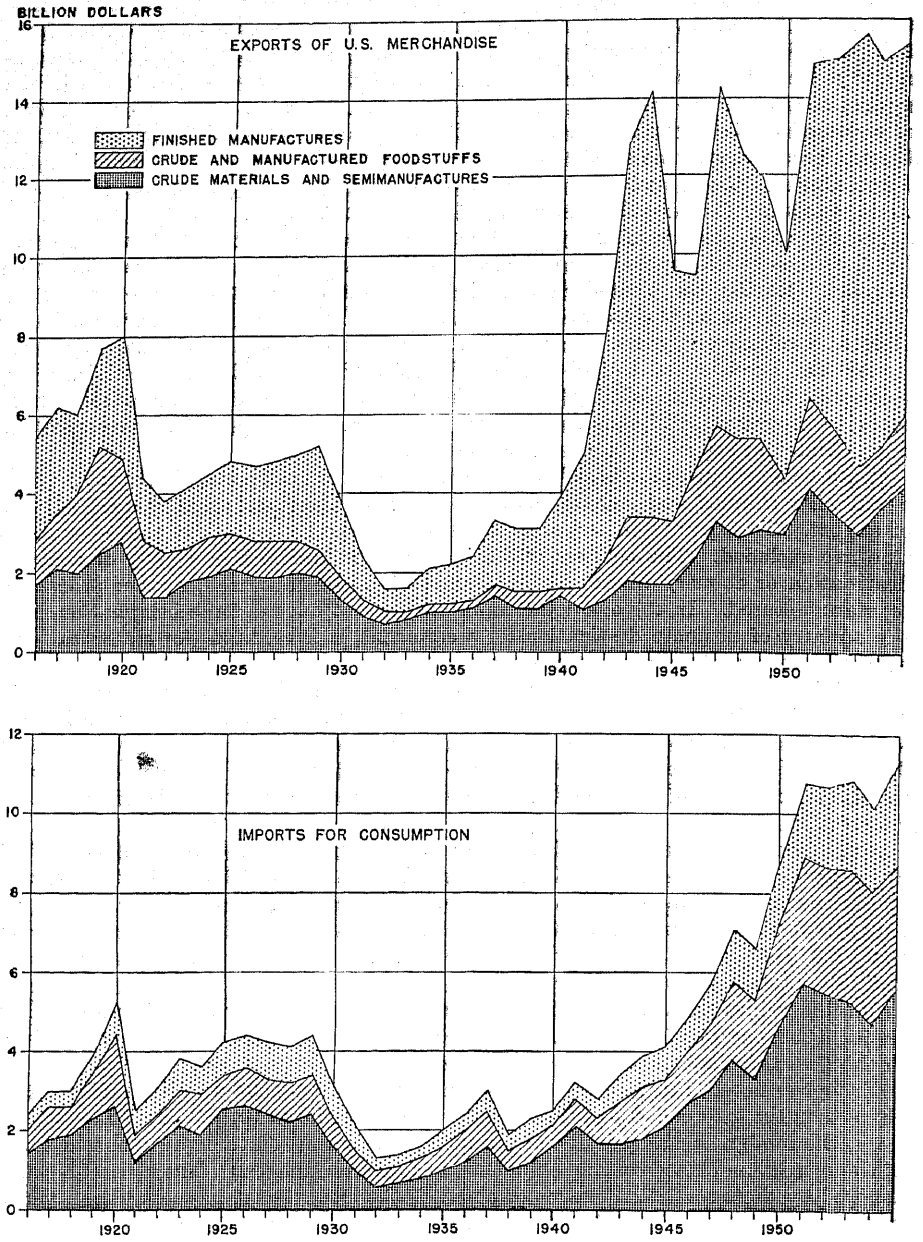
Effective January 1954, imports valued at $250 or less reported on formal consumption and informal entries (about 1 percent of total import value) are estimated from a 5-percent sample. The estimated import values are excluded from detailed commodity statistics but are included in the over-all totals and are distributed in the appropriate country, district, and economic class totals and in the totals for groupings of commodity classifications (i. e., commodity group or subgroup). Some indication of the undercounting in the detailed commodity statistics for imports is presented in the Appendixes to the calendar year issues of Report FT 110, United States Imports of Merchandise for Consumption, beginning with the issue for 1954.

Export data are compiled by the Bureau of the Census from Shippers' Export Declarations which exporters are required to file with Collectors of Customs for each shipment leaving the United States. Export data include shipments made after World War II under the Department of the Army Civilian Supply Program only for 1948 and subsequent years. In addition, export data include United States exports under the Lend-Lease, United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration, Economic Cooperation Administration, Mutual Defense Assistance, and other mutual security programs. Shipments to United States Armed Forces for their own use are not included in export statistics for any period.

Export value figures are based on the selling price (or on the cost, if not sold) of the commodity shipped and include inland freight, insurance, and other charges to place of export. Transportation and other costs beyond the United States port of exportation are excluded. The country of destination is defined as the country of ultimate destination or country where the merchandise is to be consumed, further processed, or manufactured. In the event the exporter does not have definite information as to the country of ultimate destination for a shipment, it is credited (for statistical purposes) to the country to which it is consigned.

Certain export commodity classifications were grouped for security reasons into special categories beginning with May 1949, with periodic amendments to include additional commodities. With the adoption of new security regulations, effective July 1950, the publication of the country of destination and Customs District detail for the special category commodities and groups was discontinued. Data for special category commodities are included, however, in all total export statistics.



Shipments individually valued less than $100 are not classified by commodity, but are reported in a single separate category. Effective July 1953, values for export shipments individually valued from $100 to $499 (about 4 to 6 percent of the total export value) are estimated on the basis of a 10-percent sample. The variability in the 1953, 1954, and 1955 export totals due to sampling is less than 5 percent of the individual totals, or less than $3,300 except where noted; for import totals which include estimated values the variability is less than 5 percent of the individual totals, or less than $2,000, except where noted. Explanations of the sampling procedures are given in the Quarterly Summary of Foreign Commerce of the United States.

Except as noted, the values stated are in United States dollars without reference to changes in the gold content of the dollar. (Between March 10, 1933, and January 31, 1934, the foreign exchange value of the dollar was permitted to depreciate as a result of the restriction placed on gold shipments to foreign countries.) The geographic area covered by these statistics, except as noted, is the United States customs area, which includes Alaska, Hawaii, and Puerto Rico, and from January 1, 1935, through December 31, 1939, the Virgin Islands.

Historical statistics.—Tabular headnotes (as "See also Historical Statistics, series M 1–13") provide cross-references, where applicable, to Historical Statistics of the United States, 1789–1945. See preface.

[1] July 1, 1945, through Dec. 31, 1955. All lend-lease and conversions of prior grants to credits are from V–J Day (Sept. 2, 1945). [2] Negative entry of less than $500,000 results from refunds of cash aid. [3] Less than $500,000.

[4] These "loans" are essentially transfers on an indeterminate basis, generally requiring only the return of the identical item, if available. In essence, this was the requirement pertaining to wartime lend-lease transfers of watercraft, which were included as grant transfers in these data.

[5] Outstanding credits on Dec. 31, 1955, totaled $11,677,000,000, representing net credits extended since organization of Export-Import Bank, Feb. 12, 1934, and excluding World War I debts and U. S. Government investment in International Bank for Reconstruction and Development and International Monetary Fund.

[6] Negative entry results from excess of Bank repurchases from agent banks over agent-bank disbursements.

[1] July 1, 1945, through Dec. 31, 1955. All lend-lease and conversions of prior grants to credits are from V–J Day (Sept. 2, 1945). [2] Less than $500,000. [3] Net minus (−) of less than $500,000.
[4] Includes dependencies. Because of this inclusion of dependencies in the grouping "Western Europe," data shown for other groupings, particularly "Near East and Africa," are correspondingly understated.
[5] Comprises Switzerland, European Coal and Steel Community, European Payments Union, and European Productivity Agency. [6] Comprises Albania, East Germany, and Hungary.
[7] Comprises Bahrein, Ethiopia-Eritrea, Iraq, Syria, and United Nations Relief and Works Agency for Palestine Refugees. [8] Comprises Ceylon and Nepal. [9] Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands.

[1] Funds not appropriated by region for 1955 and 1956.
[2] Cumulative total, less funds returned to the Treasury.
[3] Unobligated funds which were returned to the Treasury; not identifiable by years.
[4] Fifteen months, Apr. 3, 1948, through June 30, 1949. [5] As appropriated; does not reflect transfers.
[6] In accordance with Executive Order 10610, dated May 9, 1955, the direct forces support part of military mutual security, administered by ICA and predecessor agencies, was transferred to the Secretary of Defense and the Department of Defense. This program, therefore, is included in military assistance rather than nonmilitary assistance, in the fiscal year 1956. [7] Less than $500,000. [8] Not available.

No. 1119.—Exports and Imports of Merchandise, Per Capita: 1791 to 1955

[Export figures for 1791 to 1820 are based on total exports including reexports (the latter were then relatively large) and for 1821 to date, on exports of United States merchandise only. Import figures for 1791 to 1820 are based on general imports; for 1821 to 1870, total imports less reexports; and for 1871 to date, imports for consumption. Beginning 1940, based on estimated population including Armed Forces overseas. (See tables 1120 and 1134.)]

No. 1129.—Exports of U. S. Merchandise and Imports—Indexes of Quantity, Unit Value (Price), and Total Value: 1913 to 1955

[1923–25 average=100. Quantity and unit value indexes were constructed on a preceding year base and chained into the series shown below. (Indexes for 1919 and 1913, however, were derived by direct comparisons of data for those 2 years, since 1914 to 1918 were omitted from the series.) The calculations were made in accordance with Fisher's "ideal formula," using both the weights of the given year and those of the preceding (or base) year. Commodities not directly entering the calculations were taken into account in the weighting, within the several economic classes of merchandise, on the basis of certain assumptions regarding similarity of their price movements to price changes of selected commodities specifically covered]

[1] Effective January 1950, exports of Special Category commodities are not reported by country of destination, for security reasons. Therefore, totals in this table do not represent total exports to the respective countries and areas, but total exports less Special Category commodities. See July 1955 issue of Foreign Trade Statistics Notes for further explanation and lists of Special Category commodities.

[2] Sampling error is not greater than 15 to 20 percent.

[3] Sampling error is not greater than 5 to 10 percent.

[4] Sampling error is not greater than $11,000 to $15,000.

[5] Less than $500.

[6] Country designations established January 1952; data for prior years represent combined trade with East and West Germany.

No. 1133.—Exports (Including Reexports) and Imports of Merchandise, by Principal Customs Districts: 1860 to 1955

[In thousands of dollars. For basis of dollar values, except export figures for 1870–78, see text, p. 885. Export figures for those years represent mixed gold and currency values. Figures cover fiscal years to and including 1915; thereafter, calendar years. Import data are "general imports" through 1933; "imports for consumption" thereafter. Areas of districts were rearranged July 1, 1913. Prior to that date some of the districts were more restricted. However, in most cases this change only slightly affects the comparability of the figures. Prior to 1914 the statistics given in the table for Buffalo include the (former) districts of Buffalo Creek and Niagara; those for Michigan include the (former) districts of Superior, Huron, and Detroit; and those for Massachusetts and Maryland were the former districts of Boston and Baltimore, respectively]

No. 1136.—Imports of Merchandise, Free and Dutiable, and Percent Free, by Economic Classes: 1821 to 1955

[In thousands of dollars. For basis of dollar values, see text, p. 885. For years ending Sept. 30, 1821 to 1840, and June 30, 1850 to 1915; calendar years thereafter, except as noted. Data are "general imports" through 1933; "imports for consumption" beginning 1934. Percentage free in general imports is normally slightly lower than in imports for consumption because relatively more of dutiable general imports are reported as reexported than imports for consumption. Moreover, in the period 1922–1933, there is an understatement of free goods in general imports because for 1922 to 1933, carpet wool used for making carpets, and for 1922 to 1928, wheat imported for milling in bond for exports were reported as dutiable when entered, although no duty was ultimately paid on these products. See also Historical Statistics, series M 75-86]

Section 33

Territories, Possessions, and Other Areas Under the Jurisdiction of the United States

This section presents summary statistics on the industrial, social, and agricultural organization of the United States Territories, Alaska and Hawaii; the principal possessions, Virgin Islands, Guam, and American Samoa; the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico; and the Canal Zone. Primary sources of these data are the decennial censuses of population, housing, and agriculture, and the quinquennial censuses of business and manufactures conducted by the Bureau of the Census; the annual Vital Statistics of the United States issued by the National Office of Vital Statistics; the Biennial Survey of Education published by the Office of Education; and the Quarterly Summary of Foreign Commerce of the United States and United States Trade with Puerto Rico and with United States Territories and Possessions (except Alaska and Hawaii) issued by the Bureau of the Census. Additional information also appears in the Minerals Yearbook of the Bureau of Mines, Income of Hawaii issued by the Office of Business Economics, and the Statistical Yearbook published by the Bureau of Economics and Statistics of the Puerto Rico Planning Board.

Jurisdiction.—The circumstances under which the United States gained jurisdiction over its Territories, and those possessions and other areas for which statistics are included in this section, are as follows:

Alaska was acquired by purchase from Russia in 1867 and was organized as a Territory in 1912.

Hawaii, by voluntary action, ceded its sovereignty to the United States in 1898 and was organized as a Territory on June 14, 1900.

The islands of Puerto Rico and Guam were surrendered by Spain to the United States in October 1898, and were ceded to the United States by the Treaty of Paris, signed December 10, 1898, and ratified in the following year. Puerto Rico acquired the status of a commonwealth on July 25, 1952.

The Virgin Islands, formerly known as the Danish West Indies, were acquired by the United States by purchase from Denmark in 1917.

American Samoa was acquired by the United States in accordance with a convention between the United States, Great Britain, and Germany, signed December 2, 1899, and ratified February 16, 1900.

The use, occupation, and control of the Canal Zone were granted to the United States under the terms of a treaty with the Republic of Panama, signed November 18, 1903, and ratified in the following year.

For a brief summary of the territorial development of the United States, see tables 4 and 188 in sections 1 and 6, respectively.

Population, housing, agriculture, and economic censuses.—As a result of the differences in the population and housing characteristics and the varieties of agricultural products among the Territories, possessions, etc., the presentation of census data varies among areas. The tables in this section give, as nearly as possible, comparable data for the areas. The 1950 Census of Population covered all areas; the 1950 Census of Agriculture covered all areas listed above, except the Canal Zone; the 1950 Census of Housing covered only Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands. The 1954 Censuses of Business, Manufactures, and Mineral Industries covered establishments operated in Alaska and Hawaii. Separate Censuses of Business and Manufactures were also conducted in Puerto Rico for 1954.

Note.—This section presents data for the most recent year or period available on June 6, 1956, when the material was organized and sent to the printer.

For definition and explanation of terms used, see section 1, Population; section 24, Agriculture—General Statistics; section 25, Agriculture—Production and Related Subjects; section 29, Construction and Housing; section 30, Manufactures; and section 31, Distribution and Services.

Commerce.—Data on foreign commerce presented here show the total foreign trade of Puerto Rico and each of the United States Territories and possessions; figures on trade with the United States separately are also presented for Puerto Rico and for certain of the possessions. The trade with foreign countries represents exports and imports through the respective customs districts and does not necessarily represent exports of commodities originating within the designated territory, commonwealth, or possession, nor imports for direct consumption within the territory, commonwealth, or possession.

Information in other sections.—In addition to the statistics presented in this section there are a number of tables on Territories and possessions appearing in other sections of this volume. Thus, statistics on the Alaska Railroad are presented in section 21, Transportation, Air and Land; statistics on cane sugar production in Hawaii and Puerto Rico are given in section 25, Agriculture—Production and Related Subjects; and data on the Panama Canal are presented in section 22, Waterways, Water Traffic, and Shipping. In addition, other data are included as integral parts of several tables showing distribution by States in various sections of the Abstract.

Section 34

Comparative International Statistics

This section presents summary statistics on the industrial, social, and agricultural organization of the various individual nations.

The principal source for the data presented in this section is the United Nations Statistical Yearbook, 1955. Statistics of the individual nations may be found primarily in the official publications or compendia, generally in the form of yearbooks, issued by most of the nations at various intervals in their own national languages, expressed in their own or customary units of measure. For handier reference, especially for international comparisons, the Statistical Office of the United Nations compiles and issues a number of international summary publications, generally in English and French. Among these are the Statistical Yearbook, the Demographic Yearbook, and the Monthly Bulletin of Statistics. The Statistical Office of the United Nations also publishes a Yearbook of International Trade Statistics and the Statistics of National Income and Expenditure. For foreign agricultural and labor statistics, the outstanding sources are the Yearbook of Food and Agricultural Statistics issued by the Food and Agriculture Organization, and the Yearbook of Labour Statistics, issued by the International Labour Office; both are affiliated agencies of the United Nations. These publications usually present data covering an extensive period of time, frequently up to 20 years.

Statistical coverage.—Problems of space and availability of data limit the number of countries and the extent of statistical coverage shown here. The list of countries included is based on the membership rosters of the United Nations and of the larger specialized agencies affiliated with the United Nations (see table 1176). In a few instances, such member countries were omitted because of an almost complete lack of data. For the most part, only a small amount of official data for the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics has been released since the prewar period.

Statistics are shown for a standardized list of countries. No attempt was made to alter the list according to the relative standing or significance of each country with respect to each specific subject item shown. In consequence, there may be instances, with respect to certain items shown, in which one or more of the countries omitted from the list are more important, statistically, than some of the countries included. Cases of this kind are believed to be infrequent.

The items selected for presentation here are believed to be among those most significant. However, certain important materials, such as those on national income, are omitted because of the inability to convert the available statistics, stated in terms of the national currencies, to meaningful consistency in United States measures. Finally, items for which figures are available for a large number of countries were favored over items for which information is scanty, in order to broaden the scope of comparison as much as possible.

Note.—This section presents data for the most recent year or period available on June 6, 1956, when the material was organized and sent to the printer. In a few instances more recent data were added later.

Quality and comparability of the data.—The quality and the comparability of the data presented here are affected by a number of factors:

(1) The year for which data are presented may not be the same for various subjects for a particular country, or for a given subject for different countries, though the data shown are the most recent available. All such variations have been noted (see table headnotes). In most instances, the data shown are for calendar years. In a number of cases, however, the 12-month totals shown do not correspond with the calendar year. Space limitations made it impracticable to present the data for a series of years except for the figures on population, agriculture, and gold and foreign exchange holdings.

(2) The bases, methods of estimating, methods of data collection, extent of coverage, precision of definition, scope of territory, and margins of error may vary for different items within a particular country, and for like items for different countries. Footnotes and headnotes to the tables give some of the qualifications attached to the figures. Limits of space made necessary some condensation and editing of the more detailed notes appearing in the source. Therefore, careful analysis is required, since, at best, many of the measures shown are merely rough indicators of magnitude.

(3) Figures shown in this section for the United States may not always agree with figures shown in the preceding sections. Such differences may be attributable to the use of differing original sources, a difference in the definition of geographic limits (continental United States only, or including certain Territories and possessions), or to possible adjustments made in the United States figures by the United Nations in order to improve their comparability with figures from other countries.

Conversion factors.—To facilitate comparison in terms of familiar units, items shown in metric units in the source have been converted to U. S. equivalents by means of the conversion factors given in the Statistical Yearbook and shown below. Further conversion factors are presented in Appendix II, Weights and Measures, p. 973.

CONVERSION FACTORS

Metric units	U. S. equivalents
1 km	0.621370 mile
1 sq. km	0.386101 sq. mile
1 kg	2.204622 pounds
1 metric ton (1,000 kg.)	1.102311 short tons
1 metric ton-km	0.684943 short ton-mile

No. 1163.—Area and Population

[For many countries, figures are provisional. Basis and level of reliability of population estimates range from use of a continuous population register (Scandinavian countries) and census enumerations for a recent date (most countries) to non-censal counts or partial censuses (Indonesia, Iran, Lebanon, Syria, U.S.S.R.), and conjectural estimates derived by other means than counting (Afghanistan). Data, in general, refer to present-in-area population of the present territory. Area generally includes inland waters. See text, p. 946 for general comments concerning quality of the data]

No. 1164.—Vital Statistics and Net Food Supply

[Crude birth rates, infant mortality rates, and death rates derived from data having complete or virtually complete coverage for many countries and incomplete coverage for others. For many countries, data are known to be by year of registration rather than by year of occurrence. Crude birth rate: Number of live births per 1,000 persons. Crude death rate: Number of deaths, exclusive of stillbirths, per 1,000 persons. Infant mortality rate: Deaths of infants under 1 year of age per 1,000 live births. Data exclude stillbirths. Expectation of life: Average future lifetime (in years) of persons at birth, if subject to mortality conditions of period indicated. Net food supply: Net supply of foodstuffs, other than alcoholic beverages, at retail level (except for meat), available within the country for human consumption. See text, p 946, for general comments concerning quality of the data. Years for which data are shown may vary from column to column and from country to country. Figures which are not for the year shown in the "year" column are prefixed by a letter to indicate the year represented as follows: a represents 1953; b, 1952; c, 1951; d, 1950; e, 1949; f, 1948; g, 1947; h, 1946; i, 1945; j, 1944; k, 1943; l, 1942; m, 1941; n, 1940]

Refers to crop year, beginning in year indicated, except as noted. All commodities index comprises food, fibres, tobacco, industrial oilseeds, and rubber. Food index relates to production of crops and livestock products for human consumption.

[2] Refers, in general, to wage earners in manufacturing (excluding public utilities, building, and other construction).

[3] In many instances, represents index only for principal city (or cities) of particular country.

[4] General wholesale price index numbers usually weighted by gross value of sales on wholesale markets.

[5] Indexes based primarily on common shares traded on leading exchange or exchanges of each country, intended to cover representative sample of companies in manufacturing, mining, and construction fields, excluding wherever possible companies in public utilities, transportation, distribution, and finance fields.

[6] Average of quotations for same day each week.

[7] 1948=100.

[8] Calendar year.

[9] Includes mining and public utilities.

[10] Average of daily quotations; Argentina, Colombia, Italy, Japan, Portugal, and Spain—general index.

[11] Includes salaried employees.

[12] Includes public utilities.

[13] Home consumption of food, farm products, and industrial raw materials.

[14] Magnesite mining included with manufacturing industries.

[15] Excludes rent.

[16] Average of quotations for same day each month; Ireland, Lebanon, and Sweden—general index.

[17] Luxembourg included with Belgium.

[18] June.

[19] Less than 12 months.

[20] Farm products.

[21] Includes manufactured gas.

[22] Home consumed goods.

[23] January–September.

[24] Index of total man-hours worked per day.

[25] Includes direct taxes.

[26] Average of highest and lowest quotations each month.

[27] Average of end-of-month quotations.

[28] Nonmetallic mining included with manufacturing.

[29] Sales of all cooperative societies representing about 33 percent of total retail trade in 1953.

[30] Groceries. Sales of the Fédération Nationale des Coopératives de Consommation.

[31] Producers prices of industrial products.

[32] General industrial index; includes manufacturing, electricity, and manufactured gas.

[33] January–June.

[34] General industrial index; includes manufacturing and coal mining.

[35] Establishments employing 20 or more workers or 10 or more workers and using power.

[36] Food only; free market prices.

[37] Unweighted index of 44 imported items.

[38] General industrial index; includes mining and manufacturing.

[39] Includes working proprietors. September data.

[40] Base: August 1953=100.

[41] Includes mining and public utilities.

[42] Department stores only.

[43] Base: August–December 1953=100.

[44] Includes nonferrous metallurgy.

[45] Food, clothing, coal, and soap.

[46] Food, coal, firewood, and soap.

[47] Textiles.

[48] Includes mining.

[49] July–December.

[50] Food, beverages, and tobacco. Sales of cooperatives excluded.

[51] Food, soap, kerosene, and cigarettes.

[52] Raw materials only.

[53] General industrial index; includes building, manufacturing, electricity, and manufactured gas.

[54] Europeans only.

[55] Excludes open-cast coal mining.

[56] Excludes Northern Ireland.

[57] Weights relate to 1953.

[58] General industrial index; includes mining, manufacturing, electricity, and manufactured gas.

No. 1166.—Industrial Origin of Net Domestic Product (Percent Distribution)

[Data relate to net domestic product at factor cost, unless otherwise specified. Excludes factor income received from and includes factor income paid to the rest of the world. Estimates are not fully uniform from country to country in items of income covered and industrial classifications used. Some of the major differences are indicated in footnotes below. In general, "Trade" covers wholesale and retail distribution; "Transport and communications" includes utilities; "Public administration and defense" includes administration, defense, justice, and police, but not public enterprises nor other services which are classified under relevant industry; category "All others" comprises finance, insurance, ownership of dwellings, and personal and other services. See text, p. 946, for general comments concerning quality of the data]

[1] Excludes lignite and brown coal.
[2] Source presents data in metric tons. Conversion of data to barrels allows for differences in specific gravity of petroleum. Figures refer to crude petroleum including shale oil, but excluding natural gasoline.
[3] Covers, as far as possible, all hydraulic cements used for construction (portland, metallurgic, aluminous, natural, etc.).
[4] Data generally refer to iron content of marketable ores mined, including manganiferous iron ores but excluding pyrites. Data are sometimes only rough estimates obtained by applying a fixed percentage to figures for production of crude ores.
[5] Data expressed in terms of pure (monohydrate) sulfuric acid and include sulfuric acid equivalent of oleum or "fuming" sulfuric acid.
[6] Total production of crude steel, both ingots and steel for castings. Excludes wrought (puddled) iron.
[7] Data represent apparent consumption (i.e., production plus imports minus exports) and do not take into account changes in stocks.
[8] Excludes manganiferous iron ores.
[9] Ingots only.
[10] Luxembourg included with Belgium.
[11] Excludes alloy steels.
[12] Shipments. Includes Newfoundland.
[13] Includes lignite.
[14] Strength of acid not reported.
[15] China. Represents estimated iron content of iron ore imports into Japan from China and of small production of mines under Chinese control. Excludes Manchuria.
[16] China Mainland and Taiwan.
[17] Includes natural gasoline.
[18] Includes wrought (puddled) iron.
[19] Ingots and finished castings.
[20] Excludes the Saar (coal, 18,539,000 tons; cement, 303,000 tons; steel, 3,092,000 tons).
[21] Includes Saar.
[22] Low-grade coal has been included at its hard-coal equivalent.
[23] Excludes issues to miners.
[24] Represents production of the National Iranian Oil Co.
[25] Represents about 90–93 percent of total production.
[26] Svalbard; Norwegian-operated mines only.
[27] Includes ferro-titanium.
[28] Entirely shale oil.
[29] Great Britain only; excludes coal produced at quarries but includes open-cast coal.
[30] Production in Guárico and Táchira.
[31] Excludes U. S. S. R. and China Mainland.
[32] Excludes U. S. S. R. and some small producers.

[1] Figures relate to merchant fleets on June 30. They are given in gross registered tons (see text, p. 581). Only vessels of 100 gross tons and over are included. Excludes vessels without mechanical means of propulsion, but includes sailing vessels with auxiliary power. Excludes the following classes of ships, not entered in Lloyd's Register: Ships trading on Caspian Sea; wooden or composite ships trading on Great Lakes of North America.

[2] In general, represents sum of net registered tonnages (see text, p. 581) of seagoing foreign and domestic merchant vessels (power and sailing) entered with cargo from a foreign port and refer to only one entrance for each foreign voyage. Excludes, if possible, "in ballast," i. e. entering without unloading goods.

[3] Represents weight of all goods (including their packing) in external trade loaded to and unloaded from seagoing vessels of all flags at ports of country in question. Excludes bunkers, ships' stores, ballast, and transshipment (goods transshipped from an importing vessel to an exporting vessel). Includes goods unloaded into or loaded from bonded warehouse.

[4] Relates to domestic and international traffic on all railway lines within each country shown except railways entirely within an urban unit, and plantation, industrial, mining, funicular and cable railways. Passenger miles include all passengers except military, government, and railway personnel when carried without revenue; ton miles relate to freight net ton miles and include all goods whether carried by fast or ordinary trains except service traffic, mail, baggage and nonrevenue government stores.

[5] Covers both domestic and international scheduled services operated by companies registered in each country. Includes supplementary services occasioned by overflow traffic on regularly scheduled trips and preparatory flights for new scheduled services.

[6] For years in which a census or registration took place, census or registration figure is shown; for other years officially estimated number of vehicles in use is shown. Includes passenger cars and commercial vehicles. Excludes trams, trolley-buses, special and government service vehicles, motorcycles, trailers, farm and road tractors. [7] Includes Great Lakes.

[8] U. S. customs area. Includes Great Lakes international traffic; includes Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico.

[1] Comprises public and private telephones (including extension instruments) connected to a central exchange.
[2] Comprises generally all types of telegrams including cablegrams and radiograms, but excludes messages in transit.
[3] Letters mailed for distribution within national territories. Comprises letters (airmail, ordinary mail and registered), postcards, printed matter, business papers, small merchandise samples, small packets, phonopost packets, and mail carried without charge, but excludes ordinary packages, and letters and packages with a declared value.
[4] Publications containing general news and appearing at least four times a week; may range in size from a single sheet to 50 or more pages.
[5] Comprises copies sold both inside and outside the country.
[6] No adjustment made for copies sold outside the country.
[7] Comprises stations broadcasting to the public; excludes television and service stations (e. g., aeronautical and naval stations). Data are believed to represent the number of stations but in some instances may refer to number of transmitters or of frequencies (wave lengths).
[8] Comprises for most countries number of licenses issued for receiving sets; figures which are estimates of number of sets in use are footnoted. In general, figures should be used with considerable caution as number of licenses fails, in varying degree from country to country, to represent full number in use. Data apply to all types of receivers for radio broadcasts to the public, including loud speakers connected to a "radio redistribution system" but excluding television sets. Total number of sets in use in the world in 1954 estimated to be 260,000,000.
[9] Figures which are estimates of number of sets in use are footnoted; all others relate to number of licenses, issued for receiving sets.
[10] Includes messages to Canada, Mexico, St. Pierre, and Miquelon.
[11] Domestic and foreign, including ordinary packages, and letters and packages with a declared value.
[12] Includes Alaska, Guam, Hawaii, and Puerto Rico.
[13] Estimated number of receivers in use.
[14] Of these, about 25 million are in motor cars.
[15] Includes stations of Allied Forces.
[16] All telegrams sent and received by land are counted as domestic.
[17] Includes foreign letters sent and received.
[18] May exclude some dailies with circulations below 15,000.
[19] Taiwan only.
[20] Includes Faeroe Islands and Greenland.
[21] Ethiopia and Eritrea.
[22] Includes Algeria, Guadeloupe, Martinique, French Guiana, and Reunion.
[23] Includes Algeria.
[24] Includes telegrams sent to or received from Eastern Germany and Berlin.
[25] Excludes West Berlin.
[26] Excludes 1 English language daily.
[27] Revenue telegrams only.
[28] Includes Canal Zone.
[29] Includes the Azores and Madeira.
[30] Revenue telegrams, excludes those transmitted exclusively over railway telegraph lines.
[31] Includes 4,624,000 combined sound-television licenses.

No. 1174.—Education and Health

[Education: Figures usually refer to both official (public) and independent (private) schools, to school year beginning in year stated, and generally exclude adult education, apprenticeship courses and correspondence schools; intercountry comparisons are subject to caution owing to variations in definitions employed and in scope of data; usually excludes (unless otherwise stated) nursery schools, kindergarten and other preschool education. Health: Data do not allow of a close comparison between countries which present a similar standard, whether high or low, in respect of strength and character of their medical facilities. However, they may be used to judge approximate difference in standard between advanced and less developed countries. See text, p. 946, for general comments concerning quality of the data. Years for which data are shown may vary from column to column and from country to country. Figures which are not for the year shown in the "year" column are prefixed by a letter to indicate the year represented, as follows: a represents 1953; b, 1952; c, 1951; d, 1950; e, 1949; f, 1948; g, 1947]

APPENDIX I

HISTORICAL APPENDIX—INDEX TO TABLES IN WHICH HISTORICAL STATISTICS SERIES APPEAR

[Comprises statistical time series (identified by number) shown in the historical supplement entitled Historical Statistics of the United States, 1789–1945 and in Continuation to 1952 of Historical Statistics of the United States, 1789–1945. Historical series are listed only: (1) Where comparable data are available for a year or years later than 1945; (2) where data are included in a table in this Abstract. In a number of instances, the listing includes series which do not appear in Historical Statistics but do appear in the Continuation to 1952 of Historical Statistics. These series, identified by an alphabetical suffix after the series number (as C 27a), are new series (indexes computed on a new base, figures significantly revised to include new elements, etc.) which replace discontinued series appearing in Historical Statistics. For a complete listing of Historical Statistics series for which data are available for the years 1946 to 1952, see the Continuation to 1952 of Historical Statistics]

APPROXIMATE WEIGHT OF PETROLEUM AND PRODUCTS

In the United States petroleum and its products are measured by bulk, not weight. Whether handled in containers or without them the quantities are customarily reduced to the equivalent of barrels of 42 United States gallons (barrel thus equals 158.984 liters). In many foreign countries these commodities are measured by weight. The specific gravity of the different grades of crude petroleum and of the finished products varies materially. On the basis of approximate averages the Department of Commerce in converting foreign weight statistics to gallons or barrels of 42 gallons uses the factors shown in the following table:

ITEM	WEIGHT OF UNITED STATES GALLON		WEIGHT OF BARREL OF 42 GALLONS
	Pounds	Kilograms	Pounds	Kilograms
Crude petroleum	7.3	3.311	306.6	139.07
Lubricating oils	7.0	3.175	294.0	133.36
Illuminating oils (kerosene)	6.6	2.994	277.2	125.74
Gasoline and related products (motor spirit, benzine, etc.)	6.1	2.767	256.2	116.21
Fuel and gas oils	7.7	3.493	323.4	146.69

BIBLIOGRAPHY OF SOURCES OF STATISTICS

Alphabetically arranged by subject, this bibliography contains references to the important primary sources of statistical information for the United States. Secondary sources have been included if the information contained therein is presented in a particularly convenient form or if primary sources are not readily available. Nonrecurrent publications presenting compilations or estimates for several years or new types of data not available in regular series are also included.

Much valuable information may also be found in State reports and in reports for particular commodities, industries, or similar segments of our economic and social structure. However, because of the large number of such references, they are not included here.

Section references on the right-hand side of each page indicate where data from the report cited appear in the Statistical Abstract. Where current reports and a summary volume are both cited in the bibliography the section reference will often appear opposite the summary volume only. Reference to the sections indicated will enable the user to ascertain the type of information presented in the original source. It should not be assumed that all of the subjects from the original source are summarized in the Abstract.

Publications listed under each subject are divided into two groups in the main: "United States Government" and "Other." The location of the publisher of each report is given except for Federal governmental agencies located in Washington.

Major reports, such as the Census of Population, which consist of many volumes, are listed by their general, all-inclusive titles. However, specific volume numbers and subtitles of the major census publications are listed at the end of the bibliography.

PUBLICATIONS OF MAJOR CENSUSES

The final reports of the 1950 Censuses which include those on the Censuses of Agriculture, Population, and Housing are listed below, together with the final reports of the 1948 Census of Business and the 1947 Census of Manufactures. Each part of a volume in this list is a separate book or pamphlet. Preliminary bulletins, which were issued in advance of final reports, are not included in the list.

Detailed final results of the 1954 Censuses of Agriculture, Business, Manufactures, and Mineral Industries are being published in various series of paper-covered bulletins, with separate area, industry, and subject series for each census. As soon as all bulletins for a particular series have been completed, they will be integrated into a bound volume. These volumes are scheduled for release during 1957.

The Catalog of United States Census Publications is published quarterly and cumulated to the annual issue. A sample copy is available from the Bureau of the Census on request. The subscription price for 4 consecutive issues of the Catalog and 12 issues of its Monthly Supplement is $1.00.
